Appropriations Bill Approved

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday handed final approval to a $194.0 million operating budget bill for education, welfare and public institutions, and Gov. Frank Morrison signed the measure into law.

The 1965-67 appropriations represent a $32.3 million boost nearly 20% above spending in the 1963-65 biennium.

Appropriations from the tax-supported general fund were increased by $16.1 million, or nearly 18%.

The bill, LB889, appropriates operating funds for the University of Nebraska, the four state colleges, the Department of Education, the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of Public Institutions.

On the Final Day

Enactment of the bill came on the final day of the 1963-65 biennium.

LB889 contains an estimated 75% of the general fund appropriations which will be required to operate state government during the next two fiscal years. Other appropriations will be contained in a second budget bill due to be delivered to the lawmakers later this month.

Vote on the multi-million dollar measure was 39-9, with seven of the 10 Douglas County senators dissenting and only Speaker Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud abstaining.

Voting nay were Sens. Clifton Batchelder, Sam Klaver, Eugene Mahoney, Harold Moylan, Henry Pedersen Jr.,, William Skarda and George Syas, all of Omaha, and S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk and Chet Paxton of Thedford.

Total operating budget appropriations of $194,000,300 compared with $161,701,802 for the current biennium.

General fund appropriations of $106,865,065 compared with $90,740,744 during fiscal 1963-65.

$51.9 In U.S. Funds

LB889 provides $51.9 million in federal funds and $35.2 million in cash funs for the operating budgets for education, welfare and institutions.

Also written into the bill are $21,612,253 in capital construction money, $5 million for the Game, Forestation and Parks Commission, $2,-210,725 for educational television, and $1.5 million for access roads to recreation areas. Most of the earmarked funds resulted from allocation of revenue raised through a two-cent increase in the cigarette tax.

The operating funds comparison:

—University of Nebraska: $57.8 million compared to $49.4 million in 1963-65.

—State colleges: $15 million, compared to $10.9 million.

—Department of Education: $21.2 million, compared to $15.9 million.

—Department of Public Welfare: $57 million, compared to $47.4 million.

—Department of Public Institutions: $43.0 million, compared to $38 million.

The capital construction funds represent an increase of nearly $9 million in spending over the curent biennium. Their appropriation was authorized in LB890.

3-Mill Increase

All told, LB889 could produce a property tax levy increase of about three mills.

The total operating budget appropriation of $194.0 million was only $1,996,070 below the governor's budget recommendations.

Administrative Assistant Gene Budig credited the proximity of the two figures to "close liaison between the governor's office and the Legislature's budget staff."

One Nebraskan Not Boosting State's Tourism This Year

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Octavia—There's at least one Nebraskan who won't be promoting the state's tourism this year.

Not unless the travelers are willing to take a side trip —to Nicaragua.

Nebraska native Jim Costello will soon be in the transportation business in that Latin American country.

Moving Trucks

Now residing—sometimes—in Octavia, he has been transporting heavy trucks from here to there since last September.

Now he's got the go-ahead from the Nicaraguan government to set up a fast-service transport line across the country.

Although a new road was completed last year covering about 175 miles from the Pacific coast capitol of Managua to La Esperanza and there is good river transportation for the remaining 70 miles to the Atlantic port at Bluefields, the trip now takes about 22 hours, Costello explained.

Nine Hours

"I'll be able to bring them across in nine hours."

Most of the time he plans to cater to merchants who want to move themselves and cargo from one side of the country to the other.

But during the tourist season, travelers will also ride across.

65-Foot Boat

The tall, slim Nebraskan plans to have a 65-foot boat decked out with reclining seats for 50 passengers and room for five tons of cargo to make the river run twice daily from the Atlantic shipping point to the highway's end at La Esperanza.

There passengers will transfer to one of two buses for the overland trip to the nation's capitol.

With 150 inches of rain a year, Costello said, it is hard to get the road work done, but it should be completely paved in three or four years.

First Permit

There's quite a bit of shipping done by truck, he notes, but little attention has been paid to human transportation until now. He has the first permit for such a service.

Nicaragua, expounded the enthusiastic Irishman, has great opportunities and plenty of untapped resources.

"There's a lot of undeveloped land on the Atlantic side. It's great for cattle because there's no dry season."

Separated

A low mountain range distinctly separates the two sections, Costello explained, and the Pacific side has become more highly developed, although "there's more opportunity on the Atlantic side."

The government is currently starting to send people into the untouched hills with "a sort of homestead program."

Costello, a former University of Nebraska music, geology and philosophy student, first took a trip to the center of Central America several years ago with an interest in the prospects for gold there.

Planted Tobacco

Giving that up, he started planting tobacco and later married his wife, an attractive widow.

Poor tobacco crops brought them back to Nebraska, but now the door has been opened for a return to business in the Latin country.

Planning to leave this month, the Costellos will make the eight-day drive down the Pan Ameiican Highway with their own two youngsters, Jimmy, 3, and Elizabeth, 2, Mrs. Costello's daughter, Salina Rourk, 13, and Octavia schoolgirl, and a niece, Norma Montenegro, who's "like one of the family."

After Schooling

A son of Mrs. Costello, Allen Rourk, plans to return to his native country after he finishes another year at the Nebraska Vocational-Technical School and some training at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture to fit him for operating the family's ranch ("there are no cows on it now") near Sebaco.

Subsidy Of Rents Changed

. . . VOTE 245-169

Washington (AP)—The House passed Wednesday a four-year, $5.3-billion housing bill containing a drastically modified version of President Johnson's proposal to subsidize rents of some lower-income families. The vote was 245 to 169.

The President promptly hailed the approval as "an historic step" and said in a statement the bill's "path-breaking provision for rent supplements . . . will provide new homes for hundreds of thousands . . . condemned to slums . . ."

Democratic handlers of the bill, apparently unsure of a safe margin after two days of debate and intensive work among party members, gave ground by writing in tighter income limitations on eligibility for the supplements. They also cut the funds proposed for them.

Hold Enough Demos

These concessions did not win much Republican support, but held enough Democrats to avert outright amputation of the rent subsidy plan. The House defeated such a move, 208 to 202. On this, Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., voted with the majority, and Reps. Glenn Cunningham and David Martin, R-Neb., voted with the minority.

The bill as passed contains a number of innovations in addition to the rent subsidy scheme which, as modified, would be an alternate to public housing for some families.

Other new features are no-down-payment FHA home loans for peace-time veterans, mortgage insurance for land development and grants for neighborhood facilities, parks and playgrounds, as well as for rehabilitation of depressed-area homes.

Programs Continued

The bill also would continue the established programs such as FHA, urban redevelopment and financing of college dormitories.

It now goes to the Senate where its chances of approval are good.

As it was finally approved, the rent subsidy plan was shifted substantially from the original administration concept, which was an effort to meet housing needs of families not so poor as to qualify for low-rent publicly owned housing, and yet unable to pay for adequate housing on the open market.

The program was rewritten so as to be available only to the same group of families that could qualify for public housing.

The income level for such eligibility is locally determined in each community, and much of the debate on the bill raged over the limits that would apply.

$5,760 In New York

Rep. Abraham J. Multer, D-N.Y., told the House the maximum family incomes for admission to public housing ranged from $2,720 annually in Houston to $5,760 in New York.

But Rep. W. E. Brock, R-Tenn., said that under some interpretations, families with an income as high as $11,300 might qualify in New York.

Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan called the retooled rent subsidy plan a camouflage and subterfuge adopted because the original proposition would have been defeated.

But Speker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., termed the proposal "a subsidy for human beings who have been forgotten," and urged approval.

State Senators To Wait For Action By Citizens

. . . IN OPPOSING INCOME TAX

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A group of 13 state senators who opposed the state income tax bill decided Wednesday to await formation of a statewide citizens committee before they will take an active role in pushing a referendum drive to kill the tax law.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff told the lawmakers in a hotel room meeting that he has been informed that such an organization is now being formed.

Carpenter said he has arranged with the Omaha National Bank for it to serve as depository for campaign drive.

Carpenter said the campaign will require at least $25,000, but Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion suggested that the figure may be nearer to $50,000.

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, who is president of the United States Check Book Company, offered to print petition forms without cost.

Batchelder said that he understands that the anonymous organization which is forming a citizens committee is composed of "substantial people who know what the hell they're doing."

Seek 100,000

Carpenter said the committee should include chairmen in all 93 counties and should aim for 100,000 signatures on petitions to place the income tax issue to a vote in 1966. Less than 29,000 signatures will be required.

However, Carpenter said, the campaign should not get underway until the Legislature takes final action on LB328, a bill which changes requirements for signatures on initiative and referendum petitions.

Carpenter warned that opponents of the tax "better defeat it soundly so as to discourage others from doing the same thing in two years."

If the tax were to be defeated only by a small margin, "then we would merely assure that there will be an income tax again in two years," he declared.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha nominated Carpenter to serve as chairman of the legislative organization, but the Scottsbluff lawmaker suggested that senators not move "too fast," but wait formation of the citizens group.

"This should come from the general public, not the people who hold office," Sen. George Syas of Omaha agreed.

Carpenter noted that the task will "not be as simple as it sounds," pointing to the fact that signatures must be distributed so as to include 5% of the electorate in each of at least 38 counties.

The citizens organizaion will probably have to hire petition circulators, he said.

Carpenter pledged to withhold any personal political efforts, which might be tied in with the income tax issue, until the petition drive is successful.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, who called the meeting, said its participants represent "friends of the people."

Others who attended: Sens. Richard Proud, Pat Moulton and Harold Moylan, all of Omaha; Sens. William Wylie of Elgin. Ira Paine of Grand Island. S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk and Richard Lysinger of Ravenna.

$11,855 Bought $17,372 In Food Stamps During June

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

A total of $17,372 worth of fodo stamps was sold to qualified recipients for $11,855 during the program's first month's operation in Lancaster County.

A total of 340 families or 1,030 individuals participated in the program during June, of which 54 families and 201 individuals were in the low-income category.

Persons receiving welfare assistance, direct relief as well as low-income families may qualify under the program, designed to aid low-income and welfare families to have better food and at the same time utilize the nation's agricultural products.

According to figures released by Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert, the average Lancaster County recipient during the first month paid $11.51 and received $16.86 worth of food stamps, the difference of which the federal government pays.

The average family under the program paid $31.93 for stamps, received $15.64 free, for a total of $47.57 worth of food for the month of June.

Trabert said he expects the number of participants to increase next month since the county's relief and welfare recipients receive their assistance checks on the 23rd of the month and many had already spent the greater proportion of their food allotment for the month of June before the program went into effect June 1.

He said there has been a noticeable increase since the June 23 payday last week.

Baker Accused Of Abusing Post To 'Feather Own Nest'

Washington (AP)—Bobby Baker, often called a "child of the Senate," was accused by the Senate Rules Committee Wednesday of flagrant abuse of his high patronage post to "feather his own nest," giving as one example his part in the sale of life insurance on Lyndon B. Johnson's life.

The committee suggested consideration be given to indictment of the one-time page boy from Pickens, S.C., for violation of conflict-of-interest statutes.

But the report of the committee's Democratic majority rejected as a figment of the imagination a tale of an alleged political payoff by Matthew McCloskey, a former Democratic Party fund raiser and amabssador to Ireland, on the District of Columbia Stadium project to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

GOP's: Law Violated

Dissenting views filed by the committee's Republican minority declared all the evidence about the stadium transaction indicates that it contained "wrongful, irregular and fraudulent aspects which were in violation of law."

The committee's stormy, politically explosive investigation was launched just after Baker resigned under fire Oct. 7, 1963, as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority.

Baker amassed a claimed fortune of over $2 million before resigning his $19,600-a-year Senate post. When called by the committee as a witness, he invoked his 5th Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions.

$5,000 Fee Cited

In referring to possible indictment of Baker, whose activities are under investigation by a federal grand jury here, the committee cited a $5,000 fee he received from Myron Weiner, a New Jersey lawyer representing an ocean freight forwarder group, two days after legislation it wanted became law.

The charge of a political payoff by McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor and former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, was made by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent with whom Baker was associated.

Reynolds testified that McCloskey's firm made an overpayment of $35,000 on the performance bond for the stadium project and that he gave $25,000 of this to Baker for the 1960 Democratic campaign fund and kept $10,000 for acting as the "bag man."

McCloskey made a sworn denial of the charge and said the overpayment represented a "goof" by his big construction firm.

Impropriety

The Democrats said Baker's solicitation of the bond and insurance business from McCloskey for himself and Reynolds, "and receipt of any part of the profit, constitutes at least an impropriety on his part as a public servant."

The three GOP committee members contended the testimony provided "convincing proof that the overpayment on the bond was not an innocent mistake or goof . . . it was highly irregular."

Although the Democrats and Republicans divided on this and other aspects of the investigation, they joined in urging legislation to tighten the enforcement of lobbying laws and to safeguard against conflicts of interest among senators and Senate employes.

'Activate Standards Unit'

They called for immediate activation of a bipartisan committee on standards and conduct that the Senate voted to create last July to investigate any improper or illegal conduct by senators or Senate employes. Creation of the committee was voted after issuance of the first report on the Baker case, but no senators have yet been appointed to it.

Also proposed was a new Senate rule to require senators and Senate employes to report their outside financial interests in a manner similar to that required of executive officials under a presidential order issued last May 8.

The Republicans made two additional recommendations, including a law to prohibit all congressional officers and employes from soliciting, distributing, or otherwise handling political funds.

The other GOP proposal would bar members of Congress and all congressional employes from seeking or receiving any compensation from persons having an interest in legislation or any matter pending before an executive agency.

No Proof Provided

The committee's majority report said evidence obtained from the sale of two $100,000 insurance policies on Johnson's life before he became President did not provide "any proof of impropriety."

The policies were sold by Reynolds, a key witness in the Baker investigation. He tetstified that after the sale of the first one in 1957, while Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader, he was pressured into buying $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Johnson family's television station in Austin, Tex.

Reynolds said he bought the TV time, although he had no use for it, at the request of Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides who resigned during last fall's presidential election campaign after disclosure he had been arrested twice on morals charges.

Jenkins was excused from testifying, on the advice of psychiatrists, but he answered written questions under oath and denied putting any pressure on Reynolds He said Reynolds had offered to buy the time to meet the competition of a Texas insurance agent.

A total of $17,372 worth of fodo stamps was sold to qualified recipients for $11,855 during the program's first month's operation in Lancaster County.

A total of 340 families or 1,030 individuals participated in the program during June, of which 54 families and 201 individuals were in the low-income category.

Persons receiving welfare assistance, direct relief as well as low-income families may qualify under the program, designed to aid low-income and welfare families to have better food and at the same time utilize the nation's agricultural products.

According to figures released by Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert, the average Lancaster County recipient during the first month paid $11.51 and received $16.86 worth of food stamps, the difference of which the federal government pays.

The average family under the program paid $31.93 for stamps, received $15.64 free, for a total of $47.57 worth of food for the month of June.

Trabert said he expects the number of participants to increase next month since the county's relief and welfare recipients receive their assistance checks on the 23rd of the month and many had already spent the greater proportion of their food allotment for the month of June before the program went into effect June 1.

He said there has been a noticeable increase since the June 23 payday last week.

Baker Accused Of Abusing Post To 'Feather Own Nest'

Washington (AP)—Bobby Baker, often called a "child of the Senate," was accused by the Senate Rules Committee Wednesday of flagrant abuse of his high patronage post to "feather his own nest," giving as one example his part in the sale of life insurance on Lyndon B. Johnson's life.

The committee suggested consideration be given to indictment of the one-time page boy from Pickens, S.C., for violation of conflict-of-interest statutes.

But the report of the committee's Democratic majority rejected as a figment of the imagination a tale of an alleged political payoff by Matthew McCloskey, a former Democratic Party fund raiser and amabssador to Ireland, on the District of Columbia Stadium project to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

GOP's: Law Violated

Dissenting views filed by the committee's Republican minority declared all the evidence about the stadium transaction indicates that it contained "wrongful, irregular and fraudulent aspects which were in violation of law."

The committee's stormy, politically explosive investigation was launched just after Baker resigned under fire Oct. 7, 1963, as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority.

Baker amassed a claimed fortune of over $2 million before resigning his $19,600-a-year Senate post. When called by the committee as a witness, he invoked his 5th Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions.

$5,000 Fee Cited

In referring to possible indictment of Baker, whose activities are under investigation by a federal grand jury here, the committee cited a $5,000 fee he received from Myron Weiner, a New Jersey lawyer representing an ocean freight forwarder group, two days after legislation it wanted became law.

The charge of a political payoff by McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor and former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, was made by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent with whom Baker was associated.

Reynolds testified that McCloskey's firm made an overpayment of $35,000 on the performance bond for the stadium project and that he gave $25,000 of this to Baker for the 1960 Democratic campaign fund and kept $10,000 for acting as the "bag man."

McCloskey made a sworn denial of the charge and said the overpayment represented a "goof" by his big construction firm.

Impropriety

The Democrats said Baker's solicitation of the bond and insurance business from McCloskey for himself and Reynolds, "and receipt of any part of the profit, constitutes at least an impropriety on his part as a public servant."

The three GOP committee members contended the testimony provided "convincing proof that the overpayment on the bond was not an innocent mistake or goof . . . it was highly irregular."

Although the Democrats and Republicans divided on this and other aspects of the investigation, they joined in urging legislation to tighten the enforcement of lobbying laws and to safeguard against conflicts of interest among senators and Senate employees.

'Activate Standards Unit'

They called for immediate activation of a bipartisan committee on standards and conduct that the Senate voted to create last July to investigate any improper or illegal conduct by senators or Senate employes. Creation of the committee was voted after issuance of the first report on the Baker case, but no senators have yet been appointed to it.

Also proposed was a new Senate rule to require senators and Senate employes to report their outside financial interests in a manner similar to that required of executive officials under a presidential order issued last May 8.

The Republicans made two additional recommendations, including a law to prohibit all congressional officers and employes from soliciting, distributing, or otherwise handling political funds.

The other GOP proposal would bar members of Congress and all congressional employes from seeking or receiving any compensation from persons having an interest in legislation or any matter pending before an executive agency.

No Proof Provided

The committee's majority report said evidence obtained from the sale of two $100,000 insurance policies on Johnson's life before he became President did not provide "any proof of impropriety."

The policies were sold by Reynolds, a key witness in the Baker investigation. He tetstified that after the sale of the first one in 1957, while Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader, he was pressured into buying $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Johnson family's television station in Austin, Tex.

Reynolds said he bought the TV time, although he had no use for it, at the request of Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides who resigned during last fall's presidential election campaign after disclosure he had been arrested twice on morals charges.

Jenkins was excused from testifying, on the advice of psychiatrists, but he answer-ded written questions under oath and denied putting any pressure on Reynolds. He said Reynolds had offered to buy the time to meet the competition of a Texas insurance agent.

Reds Hit Da Nang Base; McCook Major There

Da Nang, Viet Nam — Communist guerrillas made a surprise penetration attack on strategic Da Nang Air Base in darkness early Thursday, killing one American and destroying or damaging six planes.

Several other Americans were wounded in the sudden strike on this springboard for U.S. air raids on the Viet Cong and Communist North Viet Nam. Damage was estimated at $5 million.

Accounts of how the attack was carried out still were unclear at midday.

First reports said Viet Cong mortars poured about 30 shells on the southern edge of the airstrip and that one brief flurry of small arms action occurred.

Data From Saigon

A few hours later, however, U.S. military authorities in Saigon said their latest information indicated a small group of Viet Cong guerrillas infiltrated the base with explosives and 57mm recoilless rifles and inflicted the damage. These reports said only about 10 rounds of mortars hit an outer extremity of the base and apparently did no damage.

Barbed wire circling the base was found cut, a spokesman said, apparently by the guerrillas who made their way into the base.

They listed two C130 transports destroyed and a third damaged severely and said one F102 Delta Dagger jet interceptor was destroyed and two were damaged.

Moore From McCook

The commander of the F102 Delta Dagger detachment, Maj. George V. Moore of McCook, Neb., said 25 pilots and crewmen were sleeping in tents at the mortar impact area on the southern end of the airstrip. Moore went on:

"I was asleep. Suddenly there were explosions going off all around me. There was mortar and small arms fire and I was knocked out of my bed and against the side of the tent. The mortar shells must have come within 50 feet of me. When you can see them out of the corner of your eye you know they are damn close."

The destruction and damage to the aircraft resulted from 57mm recoilless rifle fire, spokesmen said.

Officials said the American killed, an air policeman, was hit with small arms fire. Some 25 pilots and crewmen from the 509th Fighter Interceptor Squadron were sleeping in trailers and tents near the planes at the tip of the bases 10,000-foot-long runway. Two of the pilots were reported injured by flying glass.

Three U.S. Marines were also reported injured, but it was not immediately known whether they were wounded in action.

It was the first mortar attack against the base, guarded by some 9,500 U.S. Marines who landed in the Da Nang area last March. U.S. Air Force and Army personnel have been at the base since early 1962.

Prime Target

Only 90 miles from the North Vietnamese border, the base has been considered a prime target of the Viet Cong since the United States began air strikes against North Viet Nam in February. The base is located about two miles from Da Nang city, South Viet Nam's second largest with a population of 160,000.

Brig. Gen. Frederick Karch, assistant commander of the 3rd Marine Division, called the attack a "one in 10 shot."

"You can never get enough Marines here to give this base 100% security from a mortar attack," Karch said.

Rights Law Harms Negro Educators

. . . SAYS NEA'S DR. DARLAND

New York (AP)— "There is bitter irony in the plight of the Negro teachers in the South — they are falling victim to the civil rights law which was designed for their benefit," Dr. Dave Darland of the National Education Association said Wednesday.

"Hundreds of Negro teachers are losing their jobs as the Southern schools desegregate. They desperately need help."

Darland is staff coordinator of "Operation Backstop," a proposed association program to deal with the educational problems growing out of desegregation in the South.

In an interview during the association convention here, Darland said the federal government should step in with a massive program of financial aid to help the Negro teachers.

"The first step should be to try to fit these teachers into their local, desegregated systems," he said. "When that doesn't work, they should be helped to relocate in other states."

Even where white and Negro teaching staffs are integrated, Darland said, the teachers are going to be faced with horrendous problems.

Darland said racial discrimination is not the only problem:

"Many Negro teachers are going to lose out in the South, not just because they are Negro but because they just don't measure up.

"Their education has been traditionally bad. They are the victims of inferior elementary schools, inferior secondary schools, and inferior colleges.

"They started behind, they stayed behind, and it would take a superman to catch up."

Although many Negro teachers have had poor educational preparation, Darland said, many more are fully qualified to teach in any state of the union.

"But the first emphasis should be on keeping the Negro teachers at work in the desegregated schools. No one knows the problems of a Negro child better than a Negro teacher, and this knowledge will be invaluable as the schools integrate.

"Furthermore, Negro teachers are usually the community leaders — because teaching is the only professional, genteel, professional open to a Negro in the South.

"We need these people right in their own communities, as teachers and as leaders."

The association announced Sunday it is launching a $1 million fund drive among its 945,000 members, to help the Negro teachers.

"This will be a start, but only a start," Darland said. "The federal government will have to step into this thing to make it really work."

Chief Black Cloud Invokes Great Spirit

. . . NEW YORK GETS RAIN

New York (UPI) — Black Cloud, a 75-year-old Tuscarora Indian chief, aided by a comely tribal princess invoked the Great Spirit for rain Wednesday and within a half hour drought-parched New York City got its first rain since June 19.

Black Cloud, who goes by the name of Elton Green back home in Niagara Falls, N.Y., performed the ancient ceremony of the "mating of the waters" at the World's Fair at 10:25 a.m. as a promotion for his home town's Maid of the Mist Festival next month.

Shortly before 11 a.m. rain began falling on the fairgrounds and at 12:01 the skies opened over midtown Manhattan. Black Cloud, in full Indian regalia, said he wasn't surprised.

"The Great Spirit always has answered our requests," he said. "Sometimes more than we ask for, sometimes less."

The chief stretched out his arms to the lowering sky and intoned, "Ta-Rah-Yeh-Wa-Key —Great, Spirit, leader who supplies our necessities, give us rain in this part of the country."

Then he and 19-year-old Claudia Miller, Princess Maid of the Mist, poured a gallon of water from Niagara Falls into the Fountain of the Continents at the Unisphere, center of the fairgrounds.

The Weather Bureau described the fall as a "good rainshower." In the first two hours .02 inches of precipitation had been measured. The June 19 rainfall dropped .05 inches on the city which is in the fourth year of the worst drought since weather records were begun in 1826.

DROUGHT:

Problems Caused By Lack Of Rain Worsened By Modern World Needs

By FRANK H. FISHER

London (UPI)—In Madrid, all water is shut off for nine hours every night, including supplies to hospitals and hotels.

In Australia, some sheepmen are forced to sell their herds for 14 cents a head.

In Basutoland, some 10-year-old children weigh only 35 pounds—less than half their normal weight.

The cause is drought. The skies are clear and cloudless; the fields are parched and bare, and the rivers and reservoirs are half empty.

Some parts of South Africa report the worst drought in memory. The worst for 60 years, says South Korea. In areas of Australia, there has been no rain for a year.

Modern Needs

Droughts have plagued man since prehistoric times. But industrialization and other needs of the modern world have made the problem worse.

Crop and livestock losses are only one effect of drought. For want of rain, hydroelectric installations slow down or stop. For want of power the wheels in the factories cease turning.

Already the situation is so acute in some parts of the world that giant desalting plants are being built to make use of sea water. One such plant already is operating in Britain. But it is an expensive process.

Rivers Shackled

At the same time, more and more rivers are being shackled by giant barriers of concrete to provide for irrigation and other needs, so that water will not be spilled into the seas.

All of this, however, manages only to keep up with population increases. More and more plants must be built and more and more reservoirs dug.

Here is the current world drought situation, reported by correspondents of United Press International:

North America: The drought in the Northeast United States is the longest and worst ever recorded in this area. It started in 1961 and shows no sign of letup. New York City has shut down all its public fountains and has urged businesses to save 15 million gallons of water a day by limiting use of their air conditioning.

Europe: A British lawyer, appealing for permission for industrial Manchester to draw water from the scenic lake district, warned that the city was living on a "meteorological razor's edge."

In Spain, the lack of spring rains has cost millions in crop losses, and northern Italy and parts of France have been similarly hit. Portugal has had to buy electric power from Spain and France for the first time.

Italy's Lomellina area reported 98% of its rice crop went unsown until this month. France has warned of forest fire danger in the dry woodlands of the south.

South America: Most of the continent has escaped drought this year. Only Uruguay has been seriously hit, with cattle dying in the fields and high milk and meat prices.

Asia: Another poor harvest is feared in Communist China because of droughts in many areas last winter. Peking's newspapers said most of north and northwest China, important wheat areas, got only about one-fifth inch of rain and snowfall. The Communists bought a large quantity of wheat from Argentina this spring.

In South Korea, wells and reservoirs outside Seoul are drying up and communities are being supplied by fire engines. Rice planting has been delayed.

Australia: Most areas in three states have had no rain for seven months, and many have had none for a year. In some, farmers are selling their sheep at a shilling (14 cents) a head. Others are shearing ahead of time. Millions of dollars have been lost.

Africa: Much of southern Africa, from the Limpopo bushveld to the usually lush green hills of the eastern Cape province, is in the grip of the worst drought in memory. Things will worsen because the winter dry season is just beginning.

Hundreds of white farmers face bankruptcy, and thousands of Africans face a hungry and miserable winter. On the broad plains of the Orange Free State, many farmers have not bothered to harvest their withered crops. Some areas of the Transvaal normally have up to 20 inches of rain a year. There has been no rain at all there for three years.

In Basutoland, malnutrition caused by the drought has stunted the growth of native children. Powdered milk and biscuits contributed by the United States are helping keep them alive.

Big Blue Crest Highest Since '60 At Beatrice

. . . 7 Square Blocks Inundated

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Anxious lowland residents were keeping one eye on river readings upstream and the other on the water at their own thresholds Wednesday night.

The Big Blue River, an increasing threat ever since Monday's cloudbursts, was believed to have leveled off with the highest crest in several years. Fortunately, an earlier prediction of 28 feet—12 over flood stage—was missed by approximately a yardstick.

This level would have been less than an inch from the river's record high of 28.30, recorded in 1951. The spring flood of 1960 also was considerably higher than the present one.

As it was, several dozen houses along the river's vulnerable west side were isolated. At least seven square blocks were inundated.

Few Evacuated

"A few families evacuated but many are sticking it out," said Fire Chief Dale Workman.

All were cheered by word that the Blue, along with Turkey and Swan creeks, had receded considerably in the Crete-Wilber-De Witt stretch further up the basin. There was also good news in a downstream report that the river had dropped two feet at Barneston, eliminating a possible bottleneck in that narrow section.

By 8 p.m. Wednesday water was at 23.08 feet and appeared to be continuing slowly upward. It was still not over Court Street (US 136) however. Scaling down an earlier prediction, the Topeka Weather Bureau predicted a crest at from 22.5 to 23 feet.

Representatives of the U.S. Corps of Engineers were keeping a continual check on the flooding. Regular readings also were taken by the Gage County sheriff's office.

Both Riverside and Chautauqua Parks were barricaded, their usual activities at a standstill. The new swimming pool was not flooded, but was closed for safety.

Upstream at De Witt the water was just deep enough Wednesday to give the town a bad time and the kids a good time.

The latter was much more apparent as Turkey and Swan Creeks began seeping back into their banks. Basements were still dry, only a little furniture had been moved, and only the Harold Kennedys had been forced to evacuate.

Except for splashing and boating kids, the Saline County community was as calm as the water which covered fully one-fourth its area. There had been too many worse floods in the past for panic this time.

Costly Hail Hits Kearney

Kearney (UPI)—Rain and baseball-sized hail did damage estimated in the thousands of dollars Tuesday night to crops, buildings and automobiles in the area.

The storm lasted about 45 minutes.

At a mobile home court five miles north of here, windows and screens on the north side of several trailers were knocked out. Damage to furniture was extensive.

Farmers 8½ miles northwest and five miles northeast of here reported damage to their crops was 100%.

Mrs. Lee Welty of Kearney, who was driving on U.S. 30 during the storm, said it stopped traffic on the route for 30 minutes. Baseball-sized hail did considerable damage to cars parked along the road, she said. Mrs. Welty also said the wind seemed strong enough to blow cars off the road, though no such incidents were actually reported.

Paul Fritz, manager of the W. T. Grant store here, said a large plate glass window was blown out of his store. Damage was also reported to several cars in Kearney itself.

Buttner Files $1 Million Suit

Omaha (AP)—A $1 million suit was filed in District Court Wednesday on behalf of C. R. (Barney) Buttner against the World Publishing Co., the Blackstone Corp., Edward T. Schimmel and John B. Coleman.

The suit alleges that Buttner's reputation as a businessman and his plumbing business and investment developments have been damaged by actions of the defendants.

The suit grew out of an indictment returned by a grand jury against Buttner in connection with Coleman's allegations of payments and arrangements for payments on the proposed rezoning of his property for a building project. Buttner was formerly a member of the Omaha Housing Board.

Four others, three of them city officials, were indicted along with Buttner.

Senate Approves Boxcar Measure

Washingeton (AP) — The Senate passed Wednesday and sent to the House a bill designed to help ease the shortage of boxcars.

The measure, which received voice vote approval, would give the Interstate Commerce Commission broader authority in fixing rentals paid by railroads for the use of freight cars owned by other railroads.

In fixing compensation for the use of freight cars, the commission would be required to give consideration to the level of freight car ownership and other factors affecting the adequacy of supply.

Mitchell Chides Martin For His 'Credit-Taking'

Kearney (AP)—State Democratic Chairman John C. Mitchell chided Rep. David Martin, R-Neb., Wednesday for a "credit-taking" announcement of a $669,893 federal grant to Kearney State College.

Mitchell said an investigation of Martin's voting record "would find that the congressman actually opposed the program which enabled Kearney State to obtain the grant."

The Democratic chairman said Martin described the grant as having no strings attached but in the past has said "there is no such thing as a no-strings-attached federal grant."

Mitchell said Martin also has made announcement of grants under job corps, the library act and operation head start. "All were programs which he opposed but for which he attempted to take credit when Nebraska was awarded grants under the programs," said the Democrat.

Referendum Vote On Income Tax 'Could Be Fine'

Papillion (AP)—Gov. Frank B. Morrison said that a referendum vote on the income tax bill passed by the Legislature could "be a fine thing."

It could "become one of the finest things that ever happened in Nebraska if people will discuss taxes and what happens to their tax dollar," Morrison told a reporter.

Morrison spoke at an awards dinner of the Papillion Chamber of Commerce.

Colorado Is Battling Back From Floods

Denver (AP)—Colorado was dealt a $200 million blow by June floods, yet the state is as ready as ever to take care of its annual flood of summer visitors.

The state is battling back rapidly from the damage left by rampaging waters in two big river basins, the Arkansas and the South Platte.

All of the flood damage was east of the mountains. None of the tourist attractions in the mountain areas was touched by high waters. Hotel, motel and guest ranch operators said they have ample accommodations for visitors.

All main highways across the state have been reopened, although some have detours around wrecked bridges and washed-out sections.

Train travel is returning to normal although Union Pacific railroad trains into Denver were still being rerouted Wednesday by way of Wyoming.

Flood damage to Denver, and other cities in the state was confined to the areas along the rivers, with warehouses, manufacturing plants and other industrial buildings bearing the brunt.

John Dillon, an official of Rocky Mountain Motorists, affiliated with the American Automobile Association, said damage left by the floods "will not interfere in any significant way with vacationists who come to Colorado."

The Colorado Visitors Bureau estimated that tourists, summer visitors and skiers alike, spent more than $500 million in the state last year.

Injunction Sought By Store Kraft Is Denied By Judge

Beatrice (AP)—District Judge Ernest Hubka Wednesday denied a petition for an injunction sought by Store Kraft Manufacturing Company against Millmen Local 832 of the Carpenters and Joiners Union.

The union has been on strike against the company since May 3, idling 144 employes. The dispute concerns a contract reclassification clause.

The company on June 14th filed a petition for an injunction and a restraining order to keep pickets from being within 50 feet of the entrance to the plant and to stop scattering tacks on a roadway.

In his ruling, Judge Hubka said that there was no evidence that two or more pickets had been within 50 feet of the entrance and there was no evidence that any violence was involved. He denied the injunction and dissolved the restraining order.

Foote Sparks Inquiry Into Enforcing Gun Law

Washington (AP)—A Nebraska conservation official sparked Wednesday a move for a Justice Department inquiry into the adequacy of federal enforcement of existing gun laws.

Frank Foote, section chief of the Nebraska Game Commission, complained of what he called a lack of action by federal authorities on violations turned up by his department. He did so in criticizing many points in the administration's bill to curb the mail order traffic in firearms.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., presiding at his Senate Juvenile Delinquency Investigating Committee's hearings on that bill, promptly announced "we will report this to the attorney general."

Dodd said he would request a report on reasons why, as Foote contended, a number of cases involving the carrying of forbidden sawed off shotguns and the illegal transportations of pistols across the Nebraska state line had not led to prosecutions.

Foote promised to send Dodd a list of the cases he had in mind but asked and received permission to "supply that material privately instead of publicly."

He said sawed off shotgun violations had been reported to the Treasury Department's alcohol tax unit, and some cases involving pistols had been reported to other federal authorities whom he did not identify.

Dodd asked Foote "what U.S. attorneys refused to prosecute" and other details. Foote then gave his promise to supply the details privately.

Foote said law abiding citizens' ownership of weapons is a deterrent to crime, because "criminals do not usually want to pick as a victim a person to whom firearms are readily available."

"We submit," he said, "that undue firearms controls, if carried to their logical conclusion, will inhibit the ability of the law abiding citizen to defend himself, and thus not be an aid in crime prevention."

Crash Survivors Listed As 'Good'

Seward — Pamela Rissel, 6, and her 3-year-old brother, Roland, lone survivors of a tragic crash near here Tuesday claiming five lives, were both reported in good condition Wednesday in a Seward hospital.

The youngsters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Rissel of Williams, Pa., and their sister, Deborah, 5, were among the dead. The Rissels were reportedly en route home from a vacation trip.

The other victims were Mrs. Alice Peterson, 57, principal of Roosevelt School in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Mrs. Marian Carter, 46, also of Council Bluffs. They were on their way to a convention at Denver.

An investigation of the crash revealed the wheel of a trailer being towed by the Rissel station wagon caught in a "lip" of the concrete pavement. The trailer began to sway then jacknifed and threw the station wagon into the path of the car driven by Mrs. Peterson.

Air Force Seeks To Bring Offutt Total To 13,052

Washington (AP) — The Air Force has submitted to a House appropriations committee a program to increase the personnel at Offutt AFB, Omaha, by 969, including 321 officers and 685 enlisted men.

Such an increase would bring Offutt strength to 2,936 officers and 8,586 enlisted men, a total of 13,052. Offutt on Dec. 31 of last year had 2,615 officers and 7,928 enlisted men, 1,360 civilians and 180 students, the Air Force said.

The Air Force also is asking $725,000 for construction at Offutt, the work to include a high-altitude training facility. The base has no high-altitude training facility now and there will be none close by when the physiological training unit at Lincoln, Neb., AFB is deactivated.

The Lincoln base is to close in 1966.

Big Blue Crest Highest Since '60 At Beatrice

. . . 7 Square Blocks Inundated

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Anxious lowland residents were keeping one eye on river readings upstream and the other on the water at their own thresholds Wednesday night.

The Big Blue River, an increasing threat ever since Monday's cloudbursts, was believed to have leveled off with the highest crest in several years. Fortunately, an earlier prediction of 28 feet—12 over flood stage—was missed by approximately a yardstick.

This level would have been less than an inch from the river's record high of 28.30, recorded in 1951. The spring flood of 1960 also was considerably higher than the present one.

As it was, several dozen houses along the river's vulnerable west side were isolated. At least seven square blocks were inundated.

Few Evacuated

"A few families evacuated but many are sticking it out," said Fire Chief Dale Workman.

All were cheered by word that the Blue, along with Turkey and Swan creeks, had receded considerably in the Crete-Wilber-De Witt stretch further up the basin. There was also good news in a downstream report that the river had dropped two feet at Barneston, eliminating a possible bottleneck in that narrow section.

The union has been on strike against the company since May 3, idling 144 employes. The dispute concerns a contract reclassification clause.

The company on June 14th filed a petition for an injunction and a restraining order to keep pickets from being within 50 feet of the entrance to the plant and to stop scattering tacks on a roadway.

In his ruling, Judge Hubka said that there was no evidence that two or more pickets had been within 50 feet of the entrance and there was no evidence that any violence was involved. He denied the injunction and dissolved the restraining order.

Foote Sparks Inquiry Into Enforcing Gun Law

Washington (AP)—A Nebraska conservation official sparked Wednesday a move for a Justice Department inquiry into the adequacy of federal enforcement of existing gun laws.

Frank Foote, section chief of the Nebraska Game Commission, complained of what he called a lack of action by federal authorities on violations turned up by his department. He did so in criticizing many points in the administration's bill to curb the mail order traffic in firearms.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., presiding at his Senate Juvenile Delinquency Investigating Committee's hearings on that bill, promptly announced "we will report this to the attorney general."

Dodd said he would request a report on reasons why, as Foote contended, a number of cases involving the carrying of forbidden sawed off shotguns and the illegal transportations of pistols across the Nebraska state line had not led to prosecutions.

Foote promised to send Dodd a list of the cases he had in mind but asked and received permission to "supply that material privately instead of publicly."

He said sawed off shotgun violations had been reported to the Treasury Department's alcohol tax unit, and some cases involving pistols had been reported to other federal authorities whom he did not identify.

Dodd asked Foote "what U.S. attorneys refused to prosecute" and other details. Foote then gave his promise to supply the details privately.

Foote said law abiding citizens' ownership of weapons is a deterrent to crime, because "criminals do not usually want to pick as a victim a person to whom firearms are readily available."

"We submit," he said, "that undue firearms controls, if carried to their logical conclusion, will inhibit the ability of the law abiding citizen to defend himself, and thus not be an aid in crime prevention."

Air Force Seeks To Bring Offutt Total To 13,052

Washington (AP) — The Air Force has submitted to a House appropriations committee a program to increase the personnel at Offutt AFB, Omaha, by 969, including 321 officers and 685 enlisted men.

Such an increase would bring Offutt strength to 2,936 officers and 8,586 enlisted men, a total of 13,052. Offutt on Dec. 31 of last year had 2,615 officers and 7,928 enlisted men, 1,360 civilians and 180 students, the Air Force said.

The Air Force also is asking $725,000 for construction at Offutt, the work to include a high-altitude training facility. The base has no high-altitude training facility now and there will be none close by when the physiological training unit at Lincoln, Neb., AFB is deactivated.

The Lincoln base is to close in 1966.

Crash Survivors Listed As 'Good'

Seward — Pamela Rissel, 6, and her 3-year-old brother, Roland, lone survivors of a tragic crash near here Tuesday claiming five lives, were both reported in good condition Wednesday in a Seward hospital.

The youngsters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Rissel of Williams, Pa., and their sister, Deborah, 5, were among the dead. The Rissels were reportedly en route home from a vacation trip.

The other victims were Mrs. Alice Peterson, 57, principal of Roosevelt School in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Mrs. Marian Carter, 46, also of Council Bluffs. They were on their way to a convention at Denver.

An investigation of the crash revealed the wheel of a trailer being towed by the Rissel station wagon caught in a "lip" of the concrete pavement. The trailer began to sway then jacknifed and threw the station wagon into the path of the car driven by Mrs. Peterson.

In The Aftermath

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff for governor is one of the possibilities emerging in the wake of actions this week paving the way for an income tax for Nebraska. When you shake it all down, it doesn't make much sense but that is the way with men and politics. Senator Carpenter is no particular hero in the income tax matter but he has ridden the issue for all it's worth.

He was against the measure but so were 24 other state senators. Senator Carpenter emerges from that pack simply because he wants to. He has political ambitions and the ability to pursue them. Others in the opposition group lack one or the other. What the senator reportedly would like to do is run as a candidate opposed to the income tax and get all the anti-income-tax vote. Some thing that if he did, he would be elected governor. Certainly, the overwhelming opinion seems to be that the income tax, if submitted to a vote, would be defeated by the people.

Spotlight On Terry

Whether this is true or not and whether the Scottsbluff senator could get all that vote, only time can tell. Carpenter has not been a strong candidate in the past on a statewide basis. That he is politically astute, that he is intelligent and that he is hard working are attributes which few would deny him.

But he is also the most unpredictable man in public life today. He is the introducer himself of a proposed income tax bill, different some from the one that has now been passed, but would still run as an anti-income-tax candidate. He has so confused most people on the subject of taxation that no one feels certain exactly where he stands.

Even the party label under which he would run appears as a matter of speculation these days. No one seems to know whether he would run as a Democrat, which he was at one time, or a Republican, which he is today. This would seem to open the door to him as an independent candidate but such candidacies have fared poorly in Nebraska in the past. Carpenter would probably be a good governor if he were elected but such a statement always carries with it a gnawing uncertainty. The question is whether the voting public would want this uncertainty as an opening fact. In the end, they generally get it anyway because no governor ever does exactly what all the voters thinks he will but a four-year term for Senator Carpenter in the governor's chair could be a real batch of surprises.

The other part of the issue is equally uncertain. Opponents of an income tax are counting their chickens before they are hatched when they maintain that a vote will send the broadened tax base scheme down to humiliating and devastating defeat. They could be right but they could also, be making the mistake of their lives. If the voters fully understand the income tax, their approval is by no means a foregone conclusion. Labor, for instance, has been opposed as an organized group to the income tax. But will that position remain unchanged? Maybe yes and maybe no. When the laboring man takes a good look at the income tax, he might not think it is so bad.

For all practical purposes, it is exactly like the federal income tax. You pay tax on your income after taking off $600 for every exemption, self, wife, children, etc., and after taking off all the standard federal deductions. Thus, the tax becomes fairly progressive, hitting the higher income groups harder than the lower income groups.

The tax rate will probably be about 2 percent. Some say, including some of labor, that a sales tax would be preferable. But what about that working man? Would he rather pay a 2 percent income tax on income after exemptions and deductions or a 2 percent sales tax? In the case of the income tax, he pays on only a part of his total income while in the case of a sales tax, he pays on just about all his income because he spends it all just living from day to day.

Maybe he would prefer merely to stick with the property tax but maybe he wouldn't, either, when he considers the rising rate of that tax and the fact that property ownership is a poor measure of ability to pay. And what about education? It wants state aid to education but doesn't have it under the new income tax. So will education oppose the income tax? Maybe so and maybe not. Is the best chance for state aid under the choking cloak of a property tax or the flexibility and greater productivity of the income tax? Under the latter, by far, and it shouldn't take long for educators to see that.

Education's View

And then you have agriculture which is already heavily stacked in favor of the income tax and not likely to change. It would not seem to be out of line to wait until the vote is counted in 1966 to see which way the state will go on any issues or candidates that might be presented to the people.

Art Form Dying

If you have been secretly saving up your money to get tattooed, forget it. Spend the money on air-conditioning or golf balls. Tattooing is a declining art.

We learned this from the words of Jack Dracula, one of the leaders in the business, and Philadelphia's best tattoo man. He says that "Making a buck in this business nowadays is like squeezing blood from a stone." He doesn't even advise the government to create any courses to train new artists.

Mr. Dracula blames both the American people and the modern trends in art for the decline of his ancient profession.

No one, he reasons, wants his chest decorated with checkerboards or circles or just swashes of color. They may want pop art to hang on the wall, but they don't want any of it under the skin.

But neither do they feel for specific things like U.S.A. or an anchor, or Mabel or a dragon, which is mainly what tattooing does in color.

Even men in the Army or Navy pass up the tattooing shops nowadays. A generation ago such were reliable customers. Mechanization and improved designs did not help the business. Nor did low prices.

Mr. Dracula reasons that Americans have become conformists. They want no marks upon themselves that would set them apart from anyone else. And that is the main thing tattoos do.

Mr. Dracula has always been an ethical tattoo man. He has principles against tattooing a girl's name on a man's forearm. He reasons that a tattoo is far more permanent than romance. He says that a man who orders "Effie" on his arm and the next day meets a new love in Agnes is in a hard position to explain it all away. Said he, "When a customer suggests a girl's name, I always ask him if he is sure this girl is forever." That generally stops him.

Bliss Takes Hard Look

National GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss must be given credit for a sense of reality that should prove to be of great benefit to his party. The chairman has received national committee approval of plans to win back the big city, Negro and young people's vote lost to the Democrats in 1964.

Bliss reported that he rejects the idea that there will be an "automatic bounce-back" from the disastrous defeat the party suffered last year. The party's governing body, he said, is not cocky about Republican prospects in congressional and state elections next year, "but we honestly believe we can make gains."

With that kind of attitude, the GOP will make gains. Those tired politicians in both parties who always think the other guy is hanging himself usually end up wondering after elections how things happened as they did. The GOP cannot progress if it sits back and waits for the Democrats to walk into some kind of trap or to make a disastrous mistake.

The GOP can make gains and will do so if it develops an aggressive approach to the affairs of the nation. It is essential that it concentrate on selling itself to the American people rather than waiting for the people to become disenchanted with the Democrats. The approach by Bliss is not easy and will take a lot of hard work but it holds real promise of success.

To date, Bliss has justified the confidence placed in him by many of his party colleagues. He has not shied away from any of the problems that have come his way and has concentrated on building the image of his own party rather than worrying about the decline of the opposition. If he can only gain sufficient party support, his hopes for 1966 will not go unfulfilled.

Right To Work Nebulous

The greatest question in regard to the right-to-work issue is really where there is any such thing as the right to work. Commonly, the expression is meant to cover a situation in which a worker is free to join or not to join a union.

Naturally, labor is against the right-to-work idea and management supports it. With right to work, you have people who can enjoy the fruits of organized labor but who contribute nothing to its support. With it, you can have a closed shop wherein no one can escape either the benefits or encumbrances of organized labor.

One's natural inclination is to say that a man should have the right to join a union or not to and, thereby, freedom to seek employment as he sees fit. That is a strong argument and one you have a tough time finding fault with.

However, while the right to work has overtones of human freedom, it is anti-labor legislation and generally intended as such whether admitted or not. While it might give a certain freedom to the working man, it is also a means by which management can all but destroy labor unions.

For the nature and kind of freedom it gives, one wonders if it is worth the price it exacts—that being the substantial weakening of the labor movement. If carried out to the fullest, freedom of the working man to work, freedom from labor unions, could ultimately mean freedom to return to many of the exploitive ways that once marked our economic system.

Nebraska's Legislature is considering a resolution against federal repeal of all state right-to-work laws. One can only wonder if the resolution, despite a surface appeal, is in the best interests of the working man or another of the seemingly traditional bouquets with which we grace the table of management.

Colombian Ex-Ruler Anticipating Return

WASHINGTON — Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, another former dictator who governed Colombia with an iron fist for four years and usurped most of the republic's best cattle ranches while he was at it, may be sitting in Bogota's presidential palace again within a year.

Congressional elections are to be held in March and May of 1966. If Rojas and his new allies—dissident factions of both the liberal and conservative parties—can substantially increase their present strength in the Chamber of Deputies, they will call for President Guillermo Valencia's immediate resignation.

(Valencia, a conservative, was elected in 1962 by both major parties, acting under a "reconciliation pact" signed four years earlier.

(Alberto Lleras Camargo, a liberal, served the first four-year term under the pact, and Valencia is supposed to be followed next year by another liberal.

(However, the National Front's handpicked candidate for the succession, Carlos Lleras Restrepo, had to withdraw last month as both parties split and the coalition began falling apart.)

Together, the three-pronged opposition holds 126 of the chamber's 282 seats. With just 16 more, they would have an absolute majority and could vote Valencia out of office if he refused to quit.

Some Colombian diplomats appointed by Valencia and loyal to the front admit privately that Rojas & Co. are likely to pick up as many as 30 seats—unless the president maintains the state of siege he declared late in May, in which case there will be no elections.

But such action would almost surely bring an uprising by the ex-dictator's followers, and no one is certain what the military would do in that case.

This possibility of total chaos is what Valencia meant when he said, on imposing the stage of siege, that the chances of a communist takeover in Colombia are strong.

☆ ☆ ☆

He knows that Colombia's Reds, closely allied with the so-called National Liberation Front in Venezuela, are preparing to attempt a coup if the country's present political confusion gets worse.

And Valencia, like many of his fellow countrymen, fears that Rojas would be quite capable of helping the communists gain their ends, if he saw his own ambitions temporarily frustrated.

BOB CONSIDINE

Press Has Been Unduly Chastised

NEW YORK—I'm certainly glad that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants to calm down future national political conventions. One way, I'd respectfully suggest, would be to have some sort of committee within the GOP check on speeches that contain passages calculated to arouse bloody cries against the assembled press.

There was a moment during Sen. Barry Goldwater's acceptance speech at San Francisco last year when, it seemed to some of us working stiffs in the press rows, his more rabid devotees among the delegates would have charged us as vigorously as the Marines hit Tarawa, if he had pulled out a bugle and blown it.

Cooler heads prevailed, to coin a phrase. But a day or two later, Ike himself, reading from his script, sang out a few lines that re-ignited the shouts for the scalps of "the press." He seemed a bit surprised by the reaction, as if he may not have heard or read that passage before plunging into it. Few men in U.S. history had a better "press" than Ike.

In his off-the-cuff remarks the other day to a meeting of Republican state chairmen in Washington, the general made some valuable points. Conventions, he said, give the rest of the world a picture of confusion and indifference which, if duplicated at any business or industrial gathering, would be considered appalling. He would clear the floor of alternate delegates, unless needed in a vote, and of the reporters and "publicity" people as a whole.

It's true, the conventions of both political parties need a slum clearance program. But those who have drawn attention to this need, "the press," should not be penalized. Reporters win prizes for exposing bad conditions. They don't win banishment.

Apparently, nobody ever briefed the general on the difference between the working press on a convention floor and "publicity" people. "Publicity" people are fine and dandy, and a firm part of the American way of doing things. "Publicity" people have no ready recourse to convention floors. They are not involved in the gathering of straight news from a convention floor, never were, probably never will be or want to be.

I'm not at all sure that the American public, the last more or less fully informed body politic on earth, would care to relinquish the scrutiny of its political leaders that good convention coverage affords.

People . . . places . . . plagues . . .

"We have at least 100 lepers living in New York," Dr. Howard Rusk told us the other day in his casual way. "Probably many more. New York has the most liberal leper law in the world. Our sufferers can hold any position except nurse the sick, look after children, and handle food. We hope to set up a leprosarium here at New York-Bellevue soon."

Leprosy, or Hansen's Disease, has had a bad press as far as recorded history reaches. Its victims have been shunned, segregated, pilloried and sometimes put to death. The cry of "unclean!" sounds through the Bible.

"Actually, it's one of the least communicable diseases," Dr. Rusk said. "Through the centuries just about every skin irritation was classed as leprosy. Sulfones have long since replaced chaulmoogra oil as the prime treatment. We've been on the verge of many exciting breakthroughs. Mycobacterium leprae are first cousins to the tubercle bacillus, and we've licked that."

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued for several years with chronic pharyngitis. It seems to be the consensus of doctors that nothing can be done unless the inflamation reaches the point of infection, and then penicillin is indicated, I understand that fairly intensive research has been done of late on antiviral vaccine. Do you have any recent information on this?—MISS R.S.

Molner

I suspect that your thinking has gone astray, and if we straighten it out, you'll see that a good deal can be done to remedy chronic pharyngitis.

But that doesn't necessarily mean a pill or an antibiotic.

Pharyngitis isn't a specific disease, caused by a definite germ, like chickenpox or a particular form of influenza, or such.

Rather it is irritation and inflammation of the pharynx, the cavity which connects the nasal passages with the upper throat.

If bacterial infection happened to be the cause, yes, penicillin or some other antibiotic would make sense. If a virus happened to be the cause, then an antiviral agent would be in order—if we had any. But unfortunately we don't as yet have drugs which will fight viruses in the sense that antibiotics combat bacteria.

There are still other causes of pharyngitis — other sources of irritation. One of the first places to look is the nose. Chronic catarrh, sinus trouble, infected or swollen adenoids, or some other obstruction (including polyps) may be interfering with normal drainage of the nasal passages, and resulting in an irritating post-nasal drip, which keeps the pharynx inflamed. Deviated septum (the partition between the nostrils) is a not uncommon factor.

Or focal infections (tonsils, teeth, mouth or gums) can result in a toxic situation which inflames the pharynx.

Another common irritant is smoking. Some people are more sensitive to smoke than others. Sometimes you can investigate every possibility, without results, until the patient stops smoking—and the pharyngitis clears up. So—do you smoke?

Some obstruction which causes mouth breathing is another likely possibility. This dries the passages unduly, and the mucous membrane of the pharynx isn't supposed to be too dry, so it becomes irritated. A rarer possibility is Sjogren's disease, a general dryness of mucous surfaces. With this, however, there would be a paucity of tears as well as dryness of mouth and nose, too.

From the foregoing, you can readily see that just giving some sort of medication isn't a sure cure for pharyngitis. What is needed is very thorough diagnosis, to ascertain the true cause.

Your letter indicates that you hope some sort of antivirus vaccine might be the answer. Forget it. Yes, there is much research on viral vaccines (polio, measles, flu, varieties of the common cold, and others) but these are aimed at inducing the body to create its own protection against specific organisms. They do not protect, in shotgun fashion, against viruses in general.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will injection of 10 units of regular insulin once or twice a week impair the action of Lente insulin, which I take every day? Or would it harm my condition?—N.P.

No, the use of regular insulin along with Lente will not impair action of the latter, or harm you in any way.

☆ ☆ ☆

Note to N.H.P.: These stubborn cracks at the corner of the mouth can be due to lack of enough Vitamin B. Taking the whole B complex type of vitamin may help. Irritation from toothpaste or dentures could be involved. Or, do you smoke a pipe? That could irritate the skin, too.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Our grandson, born last fall, seems unable to handle any form of sugar. Do babies that young have diabetes? Can it be detected at such an early age? Sugar seems to cause a rash. Diabetes is very prevalent on my side of the family, and my dad was among the first to take insulin. (He lived to be 83.) I am worried for fear our grandson might wind up in a diabetic coma before they can find out if he has the disease.—MRS. W.D.

Yes, infants can have diabetes, especially those with a strong family history of that disease.

I doubt, however, that his rash is a result of diabetes, or even of sugar. That isn't one of the classical symptoms.

When babies this young develop diabetes, it is usually abrupt and severe in onset. Their symptoms progress swiftly to acidosis and diabetic coma. The younger the child, the more one must be alert to act quickly in case diabetes signs appear.

In this case, I doubt that the little fellow is in trouble, but with his family history one must be aware of the possibility.

It is a simple process, with a baby as with anyone else, to test the urine for sugar, or to use the precise blood sugar tests.

For the benefit of others who are worried about diabetes, may I call attention to the enlightening remark in today's letter: The grandfather who, with insulin, lived to the age of 83 in spite of a disease which, before insulin was discovered in the 1920's, would have been tragic.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

The Young Ones

Lincoln, Neb.

As an ex-GI, I have a few questions and a few points for those criticizing our Viet Nam policy.

What are the students afraid of? Are they afraid that if we get more involved in Viet Nam, the student draft exemption will run out and they will be drafted? Are they afraid to fight for their country and protect our precious freedoms, which, by the way, includes the freedom of speech allowing them to demonstrate? Are they afraid to die for their country?

I'm not afraid to fight for this country, nor afraid to die for it. My father so gave his life and I have served in the armed forces. If the call to arms ever comes again, I will re-enlist. I would rather fight Red China now in Viet Nam, on our terms, than to wait 10 years and fight on their terms. For their terms will be total, all-out war, with no holds barred. Red China will have the A-bomb in five or six years and would not hesitate to use it.

If we don't stop them now in Southeast Asia, our sons or grandsons may have to fight them on our soil and alone, without any allies to help us as we have helped others in the past.

Herbert Philbrick in his book, "I Led Three Lives," clearly tells how the Reds are taking us over from within. They get into student groups, the unions, and the peace movements of the world. He was in one of these peace movements.

Let's not forget Korea. Thousands of our boys lost their lives there. Ike sold us up the river and signed a truce. Now, although it is rarely disclosed, our patrols are constantly running into North Korean army infiltrators. The only time we hear anything about it stateside is when one of our patrols is ambushed or gets into a fire fight with the Reds.

I think that some of the students would grow up if they had to go into the service and fight for their lives. They run around in Bermuda shorts, with their shirttails hanging out and acting like a bunch of grade-school kids. And they give all of us young people a bad name. People see their actions in public, hear about their panty raids, their beer parties, their riots. They think that because some act like that, we all do.

We don't. Most of us are responsible young citizens. We stay out of trouble and obey the laws.

Illegal Elections

Lincoln, Neb.

With the recent appointment of J. P. Coleman, ex-governor of Mississippi and ardent supporter of segregationist movements, it becomes evident that injustice is amply able to perpetuate itself. J. P. Coleman owes his appointment to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to his position in the Mississippi political power structure.

The Congress of the United States has made very commendable efforts toward correcting injustice and bringing about real representative government in the United States. Yet, this appointment thrusts in our faces the need for something more. Something must be done to render illegal power structures helpless before they can exercise their power. The recognition of illicit voting procedures in many areas of the United States and attempts to deal with them in the future does little to face the problem that exists right now. This is the problem of power that public officials have even though their elections were invalid. J. P. Coleman's appointment is witness to how easily and legitimately false power structures can weaken and possibly render as useless attempts to bring about justice in conflict with that power structure.

From evidence put forth by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party, the five congressmen from Mississippi are members of a false power structure. This country is now faced with MFDP's challenge of these five seats in Congress. If we as individuals are really interested in democracy for this state, for this nation, or for the world, we must write our congressmen for the evidence presented by MFDP and urge our congressmen to truly deal with this challenge. If these five men were truly illegally elected, only harm can come from their being allowed to exercise their illegal power.

In The Aftermath

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff for governor is one of the possibilities emerging in the wake of actions this week paving the way for an income tax for Nebraska. When you shake it all down, it doesn't make much sense but that is the way with men and politics. Senator Carpenter is no particular hero in the income tax matter but he has ridden the issue for all it's worth.

He was against the measure but so were 24 other state senators. Senator Carpenter emerges from that pack simply because he wants to. He has political ambitions and the ability to pursue them. Others in the opposition group lack one or the other. What the senator reportedly would like to do is run as a candidate opposed to the income tax and get all the anti-income-tax vote. Some thing that if he did, he would be elected governor. Certainly, the overwhelming opinion seems to be that the income tax, if submitted to a vote, would be defeated by the people.

Spotlight On Terry

Whether this is true or not and whether the Scottsbluff senator could get all that vote, only time can tell. Carpenter has not been a strong candidate in the past on a statewide basis. That he is politically astute, that he is intelligent and that he is hard working are attributes which few would deny him.

But he is also the most unpredictable man in public life today. He is the introducer himself of a proposed income tax bill, different some from the one that has now been passed, but would still run as an anti-income-tax candidate. He has so confused most people on the subject of taxation that no one feels certain exactly where he stands.

Even the party label under which he would run appears as a matter of speculation these days. No one seems to know whether he would run as a Democrat, which he was at one time, or a Republican, which he is today. This would seem to open the door to him as an independent candidate but such candidacies have fared poorly in Nebraska in the past. Carpenter would probably be a good governor if he were elected but such a statement always carries with it a gnawing uncertainty. The question is whether the voting public would want this uncertainty as an opening fact. In the end, they generally get it anyway because no governor ever does exactly what all the voters thinks he will but a four-year term for Senator Carpenter in the governor's chair could be a real batch of surprises.

The other part of the issue is equally uncertain. Opponents of an income tax are counting their chickens before they are hatched when they maintain that a vote will send the broadened tax base scheme down to humiliating and devastating defeat. They could be right but they could also, be making the mistake of their lives. If the voters fully understand the income tax, their approval is by no means a foregone conclusion. Labor, for instance, has been opposed as an organized group to the income tax. But will that position remain unchanged? Maybe yes and maybe no. When the laboring man takes a good look at the income tax, he might not think it is so bad.

For all practical purposes, it is exactly like the federal income tax. You pay tax on your income after taking off $600 for every exemption, self, wife, children, etc., and after taking off all the standard federal deductions. Thus, the tax becomes fairly progressive, hitting the higher income groups harder than the lower income groups.

The tax rate will probably be about 2 percent. Some say, including some of labor, that a sales tax would be preferable. But what about that working man? Would he rather pay a 2 percent income tax on income after exemptions and deductions or a 2 percent sales tax? In the case of the income tax, he pays on only a part of his total income while in the case of a sales tax, he pays on just about all his income because he spends it all just living from day to day.

Maybe he would prefer merely to stick with the property tax but maybe he wouldn't, either, when he considers the rising rate of that tax and the fact that property ownership is a poor measure of ability to pay. And what about education? It wants state aid to education but doesn't have it under the new income tax. So will education oppose the income tax? Maybe so and maybe not. Is the best chance for state aid under the choking cloak of a property tax or the flexibility and greater productivity of the income tax? Under the latter, by far, and it shouldn't take long for educators to see that.

Education's View

And then you have agriculture which is already heavily stacked in favor of the income tax and not likely to change. It would not seem to be out of line to wait until the vote is counted in 1966 to see which way the state will go on any issues or candidates that might be presented to the people.

DREW PEARSON

Colombian Ex-Ruler Anticipating Return

WASHINGTON — Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, another former dictator who governed Colombia with an iron fist for four years and usurped most of the republic's best cattle ranches while he was at it, may be sitting in Bogota's presidential palace again within a year.

Congressional elections are to be held in March and May of 1966. If Rojas and his new allies—dissident factions of both the liberal and conservative parties—can substantially increase their present strength in the Chamber of Deputies, they will call for President Guillermo Valencia's immediate resignation.

(Valencia, a conservative, was elected in 1962 by both major parties, acting under a "reconciliation pact" signed four years earlier.

(Alberto Lleras Camargo, a liberal, served the first four-year term under the pact, and Valencia is supposed to be followed next year by another liberal.

(However, the National Front's handpicked candidate for the succession, Carlos Lleras Restrepo, had to withdraw last month as both parties split and the coalition began falling apart.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Together, the three-pronged opposition holds 126 of the chamber's 282 seats. With just 16 more, they would have an absolute majority and could vote Valencia out of office if he refused to quit.

Some Colombian diplomats appointed by Valencia and loyal to the front admit privately that Rojas & Co. are likely to pick up as many as 30 seats—unless the president maintains the state of siege he declared late in May, in which case there will be no elections.

But such action would almost surely bring an uprising by the ex-dictator's followers, and no one is certain what the military would do in that case.

This possibility of total chaos is what Valencia meant when he said, on imposing the stage of siege, that the chances of a communist takeover in Colombia are strong.

☆ ☆ ☆

He knows that Colombia's Reds, closely allied with the so-called National Liberation Front in Venezuela, are preparing to attempt a coup if the country's present political confusion gets worse.

And Valencia, like many of his fellow countrymen, fears that Rojas would be quite capable of helping the communists gain their ends, if he saw his own ambitions temporarily frustrated.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been plagued for several years with chronic pharyngitis. It seems to be the consensus of doctors that nothing can be done unless the inflamation reaches the point of infection, and then penicillin is indicated, I understand that fairly intensive research has been done of late on antiviral vaccine. Do you have any recent information on this?—MISS R.S.

Molner

I suspect that your thinking has gone astray, and if we straighten it out, you'll see that a good deal can be done to remedy chronic pharyngitis.

But that doesn't necessarily mean a pill or an antibiotic.

Pharyngitis isn't a specific disease, caused by a definite germ, like chickenpox or a particular form of influenza, or such.

Rather it is irritation and inflammation of the pharynx, the cavity which connects the nasal passages with the upper throat.

If bacterial infection happened to be the cause, yes, penicillin or some other antibiotic would make sense. If a virus happened to be the cause, then an antiviral agent would be in order—if we had any. But unfortunately we don't as yet have drugs which will fight viruses in the sense that antibiotics combat bacteria.

There are still other causes of pharyngitis — other sources of irritation. One of the first places to look is the nose. Chronic catarrh, sinus trouble, infected or swollen adenoids, or some other obstruction (including polyps) may be interfering with normal drainage of the nasal passages, and resulting in an irritating post-nasal drip, which keeps the pharynx inflamed. Deviated septum (the partition between the nostrils) is a not uncommon factor.

Or focal infections (tonsils, teeth, mouth or gums) can result in a toxic situation which inflames the pharynx.

Another common irritant is smoking. Some people are more sensitive to smoke than others. Sometimes you can investigate every possibility, without results, until the patient stops smoking—and the pharyngitis clears up. So—do you smoke?

Some obstruction which causes mouth breathing is another likely possibility. This dries the passages unduly, and the mucous membrane of the pharynx isn't supposed to be too dry, so it becomes irritated. A rarer possibility is Sjogren's disease, a general dryness of mucous surfaces. With this, however, there would be a paucity of tears as well as dryness of mouth and nose, too.

From the foregoing, you can readily see that just giving some sort of medication isn't a sure cure for pharyngitis. What is needed is very thorough diagnosis, to ascertain the true cause.

Your letter indicates that you hope some sort of antivirus vaccine might be the answer. Forget it. Yes, there is much research on viral vaccines (polio, measles, flu, varieties of the common cold, and others) but these are aimed at inducing the body to create its own protection against specific organisms. They do not protect, in shotgun fashion, against viruses in general.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will injection of 10 units of regular insulin once or twice a week impair the action of Lente insulin, which I take every day? Or would it harm my condition?—N.P.

No, the use of regular insulin along with Lente will not impair action of the latter, or harm you in any way.

☆ ☆ ☆

Note to N.H.P.: These stubborn cracks at the corner of the mouth can be due to lack of enough Vitamin B. Taking the whole B complex type of vitamin may help. Irritation from toothpaste or dentures could be involved. Or, do you smoke a pipe? That could irritate the skin, too.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Our grandson, born last fall, seems unable to handle any form of sugar. Do babies that young have diabetes? Can it be detected at such an early age? Sugar seems to cause a rash. Diabetes is very prevalent on my side of the family and my dad was among the first to take insulin. (He lived to be 83.) I am worried for fear our grandson might wind up in a diabetic coma before they can find out if he has the disease.—MRS. W.D.

Yes, infants can have diabetes, especially those with a strong family history of that disease.

I doubt, however, that his rash is a result of diabetes, or even of sugar. That isn't one of the classical symptoms.

When babies this young develop diabetes, it is usually abrupt and severe in onset. Their symptoms progress swiftly to acidosis and diabetic coma. The younger the child, the more one must be alert to act quickly in case diabetes signs appear.

In this case, I doubt that the little fellow is in trouble, but with his family history one must be aware of the possibility.

It is a simple process, with a baby as with anyone else, to test the urine for sugar, or to use the precise blood sugar tests.

For the benefit of others who are worried about diabetes, may I call attention to the enlightening remark in today's letter: The grandfather who, with insulin, lived to the age of 83 in spite of a disease which, before insulin was discovered in the 1920's, would have been tragic.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Art Form Dying

If you have been secretly saving up your money to get tattooed, forget it. Spend the money on air-conditioning or golf balls. Tattooing is a declining art.

We learned this from the words of Jack Dracula, one of the leaders in the business, and Philadelphia's best tattoo man. He says that "Making a buck in this business nowadays is like squeezing blood from a stone." He doesn't even advise the government to create any courses to train new artists.

Mr. Dracula blames both the American people and the modern trends in art for the decline of his ancient profession.

No one, he reasons, wants his chest decorated with checkerboards or circles or just swashes of color. They may want pop art to hang on the wall, but they don't want any of it under the skin.

But neither do they feel for specific things like U.S.A. or an anchor, or Mabel or a dragon, which is mainly what tattooing does in color.

Even men in the Army or Navy pass up the tattooing shops nowadays. A generation ago such were reliable customers. Mechanization and improved designs did not help the business. Nor did low prices.

Mr. Dracula reasons that Americans have become conformists. They want no marks upon themselves that would set them apart from anyone else. And that is the main thing tattoos do.

Mr. Dracula has always been an ethical tattoo man. He has principles against tattooing a girl's name on a man's forearm. He reasons that a tattoo is far more permanent than romance. He says that a man who orders "Effie" on his arm and the next day meets a new love in Agnes is in a hard position to explain it all away. Said he, "When a customer suggests a girl's name, I always ask him if he is sure this girl is forever." That generally stops him.

Bliss Takes Hard Look

National GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss must be given credit for a sense of reality that should prove to be of great benefit to his party. The chairman has received national committee approval of plans to win back the big city, Negro and young people's vote lost to the Democrats in 1964.

Bliss reported that he rejects the idea that there will be an "automatic bounce-back" from the disastrous defeat the party suffered last year. The party's governing body, he said, is not cocky about Republican prospects in congressional and state elections next year, "but we honestly believe we can make gains."

With that kind of attitude, the GOP will make gains. Those tired politicians in both parties who always think the other guy is hanging himself usually end up wondering after elections how things happened as they did. The GOP cannot progress if it sits back and waits for the Democrats to walk into some kind of trap or to make a disastrous mistake.

The GOP can make gains and will do so if it develops an aggressive approach to the affairs of the nation. It is essential that it concentrate on selling itself to the American people rather than waiting for the people to become disenchanted with the Democrats. The approach by Bliss is not easy and will take a lot of hard work but it holds real promise of success.

To date, Bliss has justified the confidence placed in him by many of his party colleagues. He has not shied away from any of the problems that have come his way and has concentrated on building the image of his own party rather than worrying about the decline of the opposition. If he can only gain sufficient party support, his hopes for 1966 will not go unfulfilled.

Right To Work Nebulous

The greatest question in regard to the right-to-work issue is really where there is any such thing as the right to work. Commonly, the expression is meant to cover a situation in which a worker is free to join or not to join a union.

Naturally, labor is against the right-to-work idea and management supports it. With right to work, you have people who can enjoy the fruits of organized labor but who contribute nothing to its support. With it, you can have a closed shop wherein no one can escape either the benefits or encumbrances of organized labor.

One's natural inclination is to say that a man should have the right to join a union or not to and, thereby, freedom to seek employment as he sees fit. That is a strong argument and one you have a tough time finding fault with.

However, while the right to work has overtones of human freedom, it is anti-labor legislation and generally intended as such whether admitted or not. While it might give a certain freedom to the working man, it is also a means by which management can all but destroy labor unions.

For the nature and kind of freedom it gives, one wonders if it is worth the price it exacts—that being the substantial weakening of the labor movement. If carried out to the fullest, freedom of the working man to work, freedom from labor unions, could ultimately mean freedom to return to many of the exploitive ways that once marked our economic system.

Nebraska's Legislature is considering a resolution against federal repeal of all state right-to-work laws. One can only wonder if the resolution, despite a surface appeal, is in the best interests of the working man or another of the seemingly traditional bouquets with which we grace the table of management.

BOB CONSIDINE

Press Has Been Unduly Chastised

NEW YORK—I'm certainly glad that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants to calm down future national political conventions. One way, I'd respectfully suggest, would be to have some sort of committee within the GOP check on speeches that contain passages calculated to arouse bloody cries against the assembled press.

There was a moment during Sen. Barry Goldwater's acceptance speech at San Francisco last year when, it seemed to some of us working stiffs in the press rows, his more rabid devotees among the delegates would have charged us as vigorously as the Marines hit Tarawa, if he had pulled out a bugle and blown it.

Cooler heads prevailed, to coin a phrase. But a day or two later, Ike himself, reading from his script, sang out a few lines that re-ignited the shouts for the scalps of "the press." He seemed a bit surprised by the reaction, as if he may not have heard or read that passage before plunging into it. Few men in U.S. history had a better "press" than Ike.

In his off-the-cuff remarks the other day to a meeting of Republican state chairmen in Washington, the general made some valuable points. Conventions, he said, give the rest of the world a picture of confusion and indifference which, if duplicated at any business or industrial gathering, would be considered appalling. He would clear the floor of alternate delegates, unless needed in a vote, and of the reporters and "publicity" people as a whole.

It's true, the conventions of both political parties need a slum clearance program. But those who have drawn attention to this need, "the press," should not be penalized. Reporters win prizes for exposing bad conditions. They don't win banishment.

Apparently, nobody ever briefed the general on the difference between the working press on a convention floor and "publicity" people. "Publicity" people are fine and dandy, and a firm part of the American way of doing things. "Publicity" people have no ready recourse to convention floors. They are not involved in the gathering of straight news from a convention floor, never were, probably never will be or want to be.

I'm not at all sure that the American public, the last more or less fully informed body politic on earth, would care to relinquish the scrutiny of its political leaders that good convention coverage affords.

People . . . places . . . plagues . . .

"We have at least 100 lepers living in New York," Dr. Howard Rusk told us the other day in his casual way. "Probably many more. New York has the most liberal leper law in the world. Our sufferers can hold any position except nurse the sick, look after children, and handle food. We hope to set up a leprosarium here at New York-Bellevue soon."

Leprosy, or Hansen's Disease, has had a bad press as far as recorded history reaches. Its victims have been shunned, segregated, pilloried and sometimes put to death. The cry of "unclean!" sounds through the Bible.

"Actually, it's one of the least communicable diseases," Dr. Rusk said. "Through the centuries just about every skin irritation was classed as leprosy. Sulfones have long since replaced chaulmoogra oil as the prime treatment. We've been on the verge of many exciting breakthroughs. Mycobacterium leprae are first cousins to the tubercle bacillus, and we've licked that."

The Young Ones

Lincoln, Neb.

As an ex-GI, I have a few questions and a few points for those criticizing our Viet Nam policy.

What are the students afraid of? Are they afraid that if we get more involved in Viet Nam, the student draft exemption will run out and they will be drafted? Are they afraid to fight for their country and protect our precious freedoms, which, by the way, includes the freedom of speech allowing them to demonstrate? Are they afraid to die for their country?

I'm not afraid to fight for this country, nor afraid to die for it. My father so gave his life and I have served in the armed forces. If the call to arms ever comes again, I will re-enlist. I would rather fight Red China now in Viet Nam, on our terms, than to wait 10 years and fight on their terms. For their terms will be total, all-out war, with no holds barred. Red China will have the A-bomb in five or six years and would not hesitate to use it.

If we don't stop them now in Southeast Asia, our sons or grandsons may have to fight them on our soil and alone, without any allies to help us as we have helped others in the past.

Herbert Philbrick in his book, "I Led Three Lives," clearly tells how the Reds are taking us over from within. They get into student groups, the unions, and the peace movements of the world. He was in one of these peace movements.

Let's not forget Korea. Thousands of our boys lost their lives there. Ike sold us up the river and signed a truce. Now, although it is rarely disclosed, our patrols are constantly running into North Korean army infiltrators. The only time we hear anything about it stateside is when one of our patrols is ambushed or gets into a fire fight with the Reds.

I think that some of the students would grow up if they had to go into the service and fight for their lives. They run around in Bermuda shorts, with their shirttails hanging out and acting like a bunch of grade-school kids. And they give all of us young people a bad name. People see their actions in public, hear about their panty raids, their beer parties, their riots. They think that because some act like that, we all do.

We don't. Most of us are responsible young citizens. We stay out of trouble and obey the laws.

Illegal Elections

Lincoln, Neb.

With the recent appointment of J. P. Coleman, ex-governor of Mississippi and ardent supporter of segregationist movements, it becomes evident that injustice is amply able to perpetuate itself. J. P. Coleman owes his appointment to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to his position in the Mississippi political power structure.

The Congress of the United States has made very commendable efforts toward correcting injustice and bringing about real representative government in the United States. Yet, this appointment thrusts in our faces the need for something more. Something must be done to render illegal power structures helpless before they can exercise their power. The recognition of illicit voting procedures in many areas of the United States and attempts to deal with them in the future does little to face the problem that exists right now. Warner To Cut State School Aid By A Third

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
The Associated Press

Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner reported Tuesday he is preparing amendments to cut by one third the size of his multi-million dollar state aid to education program.

He said the reductions could make the proposed program more palatable to many lawmakers, but he predicted enactment of a state aid to education bill still may not come for another six years.

Warner is author of LB472, a bill enacting a "school foundation and equalization act" under which the state would annually distribute about $30 million to school districts, with a corresponding reduction in local school taxes if financial needs of education remained the same.

$20 Million

Warner's amendments would make it a $20 million program, reducing the average per-pupil aid from $100 each year as called for in the original bill to about $60 each year.

"I think the smaller program is more practicable, closer to what the majority of legislators will accept and still provides some relief from the heavy burden of local school taxes," he said.

He said the concept of state aid to education has more support now than at any other time in recent years, with adoption of a bill such as his coming "at least within three sessions."

"I'm still in the process of educating the people," Warner said. "It's not going to pass in the Legislature until the people are ready to accept it. There's no hope at all this session, but the support is building."

Only 8 Votes

The bill, already approved by the Education Committee, will come up for first round floor debate July 14. An identical bill generated only eight favorable votes on the legislative floor during the 1963 session.

"Many of those who were opposed to state aid then now are neutral," Sen. Warner said, "and many of those who were neutral then now support it. Senators and the public are taking a new look at the state's responsibility to provide equal education opportunities for all its citizens and at the same time reduce school property taxes."

LB472 as originally drafted provided that every school district would receive some state financial assistance—the "foundation"—with the rest of the state money distributed on the basis of need—the "equalization."

Warner said his amended bill would probably eliminate the "foundation" portion of the program, with distribution of all the funds pro-rated on the basis of student population.

He will offer the amendments when the bill comes up for general file debate.

Average: 40%

Nebraska now pays 4.77% of the costs of education through distribution of funds gained from leasing state school lands. No other state government pays less than nine per cent of the costs, and the average state contribution nationally is 40%.

Nebraska's state government used to pay about 25% of the costs of education through at two mill statewide property tax levy with the funds distribution based on student population. The program was repealed in 1907 and Nebraskans have solidly rejected attempts to bring back any broad state aid to education program since.

School Land Transfer Condition Told

The State Justice Department Wednesday fielded a question from Knox County Atty. Henry F. Reimer involving the transfer of land from one school district to another under the freeholder's petition method.

The department held that a condition of the freeholder's petition is satisfied by proof that the petitioner has paid tuition for one or more of his children to attend school in the other district for two or more consecutive years.

The opinion said this condition could be satisfied regardless of whether the petitioner resided in a Class I or Class II district and owned or leased not less than 80 acres of land in the adjoining district to which he wanted to transfer additional land.

Interstate Route Adjustments Eyed

. . . AFTER STUDY OF FLOOD CREST PHOTOS

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Several minor adjustments in the proposed Interstate 80 route west of Sutherland may be made as a result of aerial photographs made this week of the Platte River flood crest, Deputy State Engineer Gerald Strobel said Wednesday.

"There may be a couple of places where a shift of a couple of hundred feet might help both us and the adjoining landowners," Strobel said. "No major adjustments are indicated."

He said the points are in the Korty and Bruel areas.

No adjustment is planned in the Ogallala area.

"It would be nice if the highway could be a little further away from the river, but the Ogallala segment proposed is the best from the combined standpoints of economics and engineering."

Strobel said the Interstate is being designed "with four feet of freeboard above a 100-year flood."

He said the Platte River crest as it entered Nebraska was equivalent to the 50-year frequency, but diminished downstream.

Various stages and segments of the Platte between the Colorado border downstream to Lexington were photographed on successive days by Nebraska Air Guard and State Highway Department planes.

Strobel said the photographs will enable the department and the U.S. Geological Survey to review flood frequency data compiled for the Platte.

Strobel said the federal agency made a comprehensive study of the Platte in relation to the Interstate route for the department as well as special studies at critical points.

In addition to the photographs, Strobel Tuesday flew over various points along the Platte for a first-hahnd look.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

It's Never Too Late To Acquire More Education

By ROBERT PETERSON

Thousands of men and women with high school educations are trapped in unrewarding jobs. They wish they had gone to college, but because they've got families now and are past 40 they figure it's much too late.

But it isn't, as shown by Walter Skinner of Winchester, Ind. Following graduation from high school he went to work in a local factory and spent the next quarter-century as a foundry moulder.

Five years ago when he was 43 years old he decided to enroll for night classes at Ball State College in Muncie, Ind. In just a few years he had earned his bachelor's degree, and today is enjoying a brand new career as a high school teacher.

What prompted him to go to college? "I felt vaguely dissatisfied with the way my life was going," said Skinner when I talked with him last night. He's a tall, slender man with bristling, crew-cut red hair. "I felt something was missing and that I wasn't using my talents to the best advantage.

"The plant where I worked was always encouraging employes to take evening classes at local schools. I took two or three courses and liked them, and decided to enroll as a freshman for night classes at Ball State.

"I'd get off work at five, drive 20 miles to the campus and attend night classes until 10. Then I'd be home by 11 and ready to tackle my homework. Some nights I got only three or four hours sleep, but I found the work so stimulating that I enjoyed the grind.

"I took night classes for two years, and then when there were some day classes I wanted to take the plant obligingly transferred me to the night shift.

"By carrying a maximum course load, and attending winter and summer, I was able to earn my degree in just four years time.

"My family was very cooperative. At the time I started college my two sons were in high school and my wife worked as a secretary. I saw a little less of my family those four years, but they were all pulling for me and in a way it brought us even closer together.

"After getting my degree I was offered a job as Industrial Arts Teacher in the laboratory high school on the Ball State campus. And I got an immediate indication of the rewards of education, for the job offered a slightly better salary to start than I was earning after 25 years as a moulder—and I got my summers off in the bargain!"

What about the future? "The more you learn, the more you realize how little you know. So I'm working nights now on a master's degree. What I like about my new life is my sense of personal fulfillment. I feel life is truly better and more satisfying now that I'm using my potentials."

Does he encourage others past 40 to go back to school? "Certainly—if they have a real interest in further education. Men who are married and have a family tend to think it's impossible. But a fellow can just as well spend his evenings taking courses as watching television. Being past 40 should be no deterrent—I'm proof of that."

This story should inspire those middle-agers interested in acquiring more education. By setting a goal and buckling down to the mechanics of classes and homework, they may find a brand new life awaiting them.

Water Resources Interim Study Is Asked

A resolution calling for an interim study on which to base a coordinated program of water resources development in Nebraska was introduced in the legislature Wednesday.

Consideration of the resolution, which carries the sponsorship of 16 senators, was deferred for one day.

The resolution, No. 67, said the findings of the interim study could be used "to promote the fullest possible control, conservation, development and utilization of Nebraska's water resources."

The resolution suggests that an interim committee study:

—Ground water recharge, conservation, proper use and pump irrigation.

—Stream flow and gravity irrigation and irrigation and reclamation districts and projects.

—Competition and conflicts between water users for available supplies and between agricultural, municipal, domestic and industrial users of water.

The resolution said, "The tremendous expansion of water use for gravity irrigation pump irrigation, industrial purposes, domestic and municipal needs and for recreation is constantly creating new legal and economic problems."

The resolution said irrigation and water use laws have not been recodified since original enactment and only piece-meal amendments have not been made over the years.

Water Resources Interim Study Is Asked

A resolution calling for an interim study on which to base a coordinated program of water resources development in Nebraska was introduced in the legislature Wednesday.

Consideration of the resolution which carries the sponsorship of 16 senators was deferred for one day.

The resolution, No. 67, said the findings of the interim study could be used "to promote the fullest possible control, conservation, development and utilization of Nebraska's water resources."

The resolution suggests that an interim committee study:

—Ground water recharge, conservation, proper use and pump irrigation.

—Stream flow and gravity irrigation and irrigation and reclamation districts and projects.

—Competition and conflicts between water users for available supplies and between agricultural, municipal, domestic and industrial users of water.

The resolution said, "The tremendous expansion of water use for gravity irrigation, pump irrigation, industrial purposes, domestic and municipal needs and for recreation is constantly creating new legal and economic problems."

The resolution said irrigation and water use laws have not been recodified since original enactment and only piece-meal amendments have not been made over the years.

Bill Consolidating Power Generating, Transmission Activities Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday handed second round voice vote approval to a bill consolidating wholesale electric generation and transmission operations outside the Omaha area.

In the process, lawmakers decided to continue to permit the newly formed grid system to serve municipalities at retail after Jan. 1, 1973, if so requested.

The bill, LB764, provides that the grid divest itself of retail activities as of Jan. 1, 1973, with conditions.

Withdrawn

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln proposed that the conditions be removed and the cut-off date be final, but he later withdrew his amendment when it bumped into opposition.

However, Knight said he is prepared to offer such an amendment to another pending power measure, LB789.

Fears were expressed that the amendment might jeopardize bond contracts, and thus endanger LB764 when it reaches an almost certain court test.

The bill would consolidate the wholesale operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

An amendment clarifying language permitting a municipality to be served at retail by the grid after 1973 was adopted on a 31-8 vote.

Adopted

Also adopted, on a 29-14 count, was an amendment proposed by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln to further restrict political activities by employes of the grid system.

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln won approval of an amendment specifically providing that LB764 will not interfere with Lincoln's current efforts to consolidate its city utility operations with CPPD's Lincoln distribution system.

Knight said the Legislature must provide now for the grid system to leave the retail field upon a deadline date, or "we may never be able to get them out in the future."

Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt opposed the Knight proposal, arguing that municipalities should be allowed "to make the best possible deal" in acquiring electric energy, including the option of buying at retail from the grid.

Clause Added

At one point, Sen. Pat Moulton of Omaha suggested that the issue be referred to the Public Works Committee for a recommendation, but he later withdrew his proposal.

Senators added the emergency clause to the bill so that it will become law upon the governor's signature, thus clearing the path for an immediate court test.

Order Halts Arrests In Jackson

New Orleans (AP) — A federal appeals court Wednesday ordered Jackson, Miss., officials to stop arresting peaceful civil rights demonstrations.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals acted at the request of a group of civil rights workers who said U.S. Dist. Judge Harold W. Cox of Jackson refused to grant a temporary restraining order and failed to rule on a request for a preliminary injunction.

The preliminary injunction will stand pending an appeal hearing.

Over 900 persons have been arrested in the Mississippi capital over the past three weeks in a series of protests against a special legislative session called by Gov. Paul Johnson to rewrite state laws on voter requirements.

Civil rights forces maintain the laws are being revised solely to ward off federal registrars in the state. Gov. Johnson denied any such intentions.

Chief of Detectives M. B. Pierce of Jackson said the city will abide by the ruling of the appeals court.

Attorneys for the rights workers claimed that the city ordinances which permitted "instant arrest" of demonstrtaors were unconstitutional.

Arrest Of 18 Just Beats Court Order

Jackson, Miss. (UPI) — Jackson police arrested 18 additional civil rights demonstrators Wednesday just shortly before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals issued an injunction barring such arrests.

More than 1,000 demonstrators have been taken into custody in Jackson in the last three weeks, most of them on charges of parading without a permit.

The injunction issued by the appeals court at New Orleans forbids Jackson authorities from enforcing ordinances requiring permits for parades and for circulating handbills.

Wednesdays arrests came when two groups tried to march on the state capitol without a permit. Negroes have been protesting a legislative session at the capitol on grounds the lawmakers were selected in elections in which Negroes were not permitted to vote.

One group sat down on the capitol steps and sang, "O, Johnson (Gov. Paul B. Johnson), you can't arrest us all."

NANCE COUNTY TOTAL ABSTRACT UP 42%

The total abstract, including both real and personal property, for Nance County is up 42.66%, State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said Wednesday.

Nance county is the first county to submit an abstract based upon a reappraisal conducted under the mandatory reappraisal law.

The Nancy County total abstract shows a valuation of $50,582,443 for 1965, compared with $35,454,877 in 1964.

Dworak said the abstract will be submitted to the State Board of Equalization for approval.

He said it would be about 10 days before the reappraisal is approved.

The reappraisal, which covered only real property, placed the county's 1965 valuation at $39,011,125, compared with $24,287,950 in 1964.

The reappraisal raised rural land valuation from $18,397,395 to $33,194,020. Urban property valuation dropped from $5,890,555 to $5,817,105.

Dworak said some suburban property is included with the rural valuation, and about $200,000 of rural land and improvements were found that had not been on the tax roles.

Equal Treatment

The tax commissioner said that Nance County has been assured it will be treated equally with the other counties, and will not be penalized for having had its reappraisal completed before the other counties.

According to Nebraska law, the State Board of Equalization will meet Monday to begin consideration of the counties' abstracts.

Ex-State Senator, 85, Says Legislative Sessions Too Long

An 85-year-old former state legislator told senators Wednesday that legislative sessions are too long.

He congratulated present lawmakers for their endurance.

C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, who served in the old two-house Legislature for three terms beginning in 1915 and in the Unicameral for four terms, said sessions are so lengthy because of a legislative rule requiring a public hearing for each bill.

Another factor in prolonging sessions, he said, is the large number of bills introduced, "a sizeable number of which do not originate in the Legislature but are handed to senators to be introduced on request."

He also commented on the actions of some governors which he declined to identify.

"At times during the 50-year period since I first served in the Legislature certain members of the executive branch have straddled a high fence until it became necessary for them to climb down," he said. "Sometimes they tear their pants in the process."

NANCE COUNTY TOTAL ABSTRACT UP 42%

The total abstract, including both real and personal property, for Nance County is up 42.66%, State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said Wednesday.

Nance county is the first county to submit an abstract based upon a reappraisal conducted under the mandatory reappraisal law.

The Nancy County total abstract shows a valuation of $50,582,443 for 1965, compared with $35,454,877 in 1964.

Dworak said the abstract will be submitted to the State Board of Equalization for approval.

He said it would be about 10 days before the reappraisal is approved.

The reappraisal, which covered only real property, placed the county's 1965 valuation at $39,011,125, compared with $24,287,950 in 1964.

The reappraisal raised rural land valuation from $18,397,395 to $33,194,020. Urban property valuation dropped from $5,890,555 to $5,817,105.

Dworak said some suburban property is included with the rural valuation, and about $200,000 of rural land and improvements were found that had not been on the tax roles.

Equal Treatment

The tax commissioner said that Nance County has been assured it will be treated equally with the other counties, and will not be penalized for having had its reappraisal completed before the other counties.

According to Nebraska law, the State Board of Equalization will meet Monday to begin consideration of the counties' abstracts.

Ex-State Senator, 85, Says Legislative Sessions Too Long

An 85-year-old former state legislator told senators Wednesday that legislative sessions are too long.

He congratulated present lawmakers for their endurance.

C. Petrus Peterson of Lincoln, who served in the old two-house Legislature for three terms beginning in 1915 and in the Unicameral for four terms, said sessions are so lengthy because of a legislative rule requiring a public hearing for each bill.

Another factor in prolonging sessions, he said, is the large number of bills introduced, "a sizeable number of which do not originate in the Legislature but are handed to senators to be introduced on request."

He also commented on the actions of some governors which he declined to identify.

"At times during the 50-year period since I first served in the Legislature certain members of the executive branch have straddled a high fence until it became necessary for them to climb down," he said. "Sometimes they tear their pants in the process."

Boycott Failure —King Spokesman

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)— A spokesman for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. confirmed Wednesday what Alabama business and financial leaders have been saying—King's proposed economic boycott of the state never got off the ground.

A survey by the Associated Press shows that business in Alabam apparently was not affected by the threatened boycott.

The announcement itself, made by King in late March, produced hopeful signs of racial progress in Alabama, said the Rev. Andrew J. Young, executive director of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Young, contacted at his Atlanta office, confirmed that the boycott died after dispatch of telegrams to 80 businesses asking them to suspend any expansions in Alabama.

But Young said if mass opposition or resistance develops to implementation of the new voting rights bill, the boycott would be pushed. The emphasis now, he said, is on voting.

John M. Ward, executive vice president of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce said there had been no discernible effect from the proposed boycott. Business continues good, he said.

King proposed the boycott soon after the night-rider slaying in Lowndes County of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit in a violent climax to the lengthy Selma civil rights campaign.

Baker's West German Girl Friend Was Call Girl

Washington (AP) — The mysterious West German beauty whose name figured in the Bobby Baker case was described in a Justice Department document Wednesday as an admitted call girl.

It said Mrs. Ellen Rometsch admitted knowing Baker but denied any intimacies with him.

A summary of the department's file concerning Mrs. Rometsch concluded: Rometsch admitted her call girl activities.

'Had No Relations'

"She had been out with Baker socially but never had intimate relations with him or with any government officials including Congressmen, cabinet members or persons connected with the White House."

The summary, released by the Senate Rules Committee as an appendix to its report on the Baker case, said, "West German authorities are satisfied that (Mrs.) Rometsch has no intelligence connections and have closed their file in this regard. However, because of Rometsch's conduct they withdrew her husband's security clearance."

Mrs. Rometsch's husband, a West German army sergeant, for a time was stationed at the German embassy in Washington.

The summary was submitted to the Rules Committee by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach last Dec. 7.

It told of some admitted prostitutes who claimed associations with men high on the Washington scene.

"Mrs. A," the summary said, "admitted to having sexual intercourse with persons in the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government but declined to identify the individuals involved. She said she did not want her husband to know of her past prostitution activities.

"She named four other women, including Mrs. Rometsch, whom she said had engaged in prostitution," the summary continued. "Mrs. A said that she and three of the other women knew Robert G. Baker but has no knowledge indicating he had any relationship with them."

Katzenbach's letter suggested publication of the entire file on Mrs. Rometsch "would serve to destroy the reputation of several individuals on the basis of allegations which may be false or which are wholly unrelated to the subject matter of the committee's inquiry."

A minority report by Republican Rules Committee members complained that the Democratic majortiy had refused to investigate deeply enough allegations about party girls.

PRAIRIE MAID MEATS, LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"Punches and juleps, cobblers and smashes,
"To make the tongue waggle with wit's merry flashes.

This was inscribed on a sign over a New York bar. About the year 1867.

These are strange names in these days of the three-martini lunch. The Scotch-rocks evening.

However, I put in a little mint. Under the hose faucet where it gets a regular drip. It is coming along fine. I got my Kentucky Colonel commission out of the storeroom and hung it prominently.

One of these July days, I shall frost up a mint julep.

☆ ☆ ☆

The long hot summer is upon us. Plenty of parties. Up the social ladder, lad. Like a fireman rescuing the family parrot.

I wonder if we could start some kind of national movement to sit at parties.

The way you know you are going to get fallen arches is when the invitation comes in a white envelope. A stiff white card - RSVP.

This is the tipoff that guests should arrive a fashionable half hour late.

Park the car — two blocks from the house. (A bunch of sneaks arrived on time and grabbed the parking places.)

The last minute instructions: "Remember! Start on long gin fizzes, not martinis."

The couple then enter: "What a lovely dress! Where did you ever find it?"

The gent is pecked on the cheek by the hostess. There seems to be some new kind of rule that everybody kisses these days. Serve them right if they get mononucleosis.

☆ ☆ ☆

The ladies retire to the bedroom to look over the new drapes. The gents ride down that old martini trail.

And everybody stands and stands and stands.

Oh, we do have a sit-down party. (Bless your heart for asking that.) The invitation shows a small dog. His teeth are sunk in a small boy's pants.

The invitation is on soft paper. A soft envelope. Below the dog it says: "Nip!"

You open the double spread and it continues.". . . over to our house on the umpty of umpty at umpty o'clock. Come as you are. We are not 'putting on the dog.'"

This is the party where you sit down.

You sit on the floor. The hostess wears dirndl skirts and a pony tail. She has recently taken up painting with something made of egg whites.

"My teacher said, 'Where in the world did you learn that technique! The sunlight reminds me of Renoir."

If there is anything that is harder on the spine than sitting on the floor. I don't know what it is. Maybe a flogging through the fleet.

☆ ☆ ☆

One interesting thing about standup or sit-on-the-floor parties is the hors d'oeuvre.

You have got a firm grip on the squareface in one hand. A cigarette in the other. And you are lighting a lady's fag at the same time.

The hostess comes by with a tray of Mexican corn chips. A bowl of something that looks like wallpaper paste.

"A recipe we found in a delightful little native village in Fiji," she says. "It's a combination of coconut and—I really shouldn't spoil the surprise—but raw fish!

"Here," says the hostess. "You've got your hands full. I'll just pop one in your mouth. There!"

☆ ☆ ☆

It is very bad manners to eject coconut and raw fish back in the lady's hand. No matter what it tastes like.

"As much valor is to be found in feasting as in fighting." This remark was made by Burton. He said it in "The Anatomy of Melancholy." A nobel and thoughtful work.

POSTCARD by Dale Lane

"Punches and juleps, cobblers and smashes,
"To make the tongue waggle with wit's merry flashes.

This was inscribed on a sign over a New York bar. About the year 1867.

These are strange names in these days of the three-martini lunch.

The Scotch-rocks evening.

However, I put in a little mint. Under the hose faucet where it gets a regular drip. It is coming along fine. I got my Kentucky Colonel commission out of the storeroom and hung it prominently.

One of these July days, I shall frost up a mint julep.

☆ ☆ ☆

The long hot summer is upon us. Plenty of parties. Up the social ladder, lad. Like a fireman rescuing the family parrot.

I wonder if we could start some kind of national movement to sit at parties.

The way you know you are going to get fallen arches is when the invitation comes in a white envelope A stiff white card - RSVP.

This is the tipoff that guests should arrive a fashionable half hour late.

Park the car — two blocks from the house. (A bunch of sneaks arrived on time and grabbed the parking places.)

The last minute instructions. "Remember! Start on long gin fizzes, not martinis."

The couple then enter: "What a lovely dress! Where did you ever find it?"

The gent is pecked on the cheek by the hostess. There seems to be some new kind of rule that everybody kisses these days. Serve them right if they get mononucleosis.

☆ ☆ ☆

The ladies retire to the bedroom to look over the new drapes. The gents ride down that old martini trail.

And everybody stands and stands and stands.

Oh, we do have a sit-down party. (Bless your heart for asking that.) The invitation shows a small dog. His teeth are sunk in a small boy's pants

The invitation is on soft paper. A soft envelope. Below the dog it says: "Nip!"

You open the double spread and it continues.". . . over to our house on the umpty of umpty at umpty o'clock. Come as you are. We are not 'putting on the dog.'"

This is the party where you sit down.

You sit on the floor. The hostess wears dirndl skirts and a pony tail. She has recently taken up painting with something made of egg whites.

"My teacher said, 'Where in the world did you learn that technique! The sunlight reminds me of Renoir."

If there is anything that is harder on the spine than sitting on the floor. I don't know what it is. Maybe a flogging through the fleet.

☆ ☆ ☆

One interesting thing about standup or sit-on-the-floor parties is the hors d'oeuvre.

You have got a firm grip on the squareface in one hand. A cigarette in the other. And you are lighting a lady's fag at the same time.

The hostess comes by with a tray of Mexican corn chips. A bowl of something that looks like wallpaper paste.

"A recipe we found in a delightful little native village in Fiji," she says. "It's a combination of coconut and— I really shouldn't spoil the surprise—but raw fish!

"Here," says the hostess. "You've got your hands full. I'll just pop one in your mouth. There!"

☆ ☆ ☆

It is very bad manners to eject coconut and raw fish back in the lady's hand. No matter what it tastes like.

"As much valor is to be found in feasting as in fighting." This remark was made by Burton. He said it in "The Anatomy of Melancholy." A nobel and thoughtful work.

Bill Creating New Office Moves

A bill creating a new state department of administrative services received second round floor approval in the Legislature Wednesday after it was amended to give the department veto power over any contract that might be entered into by other departments and agencies.

The amendment to LB173, offered by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, was approved on a 41-0 vote.

The proposed department is designed to centralize presently scattered financial operations of state government.

The amendment provides that the administrative services department shall approve all contracts before they are sent to the governor for his signature.

The amendment was one of several approved as the bill rested on select file, its second of three floor stops.

The new department would centralize budgeting, accounting, purchasing and capital buildings supervision under the ultimate control of the governor. The bill grew out of interim studies by a budget study committee headed by Hastings Sen. Richard Marvel.

Meyer Receives National Award

San Antonio, Tex. (AP)—Nebraska Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer Wednesday received the annual Louis E. Wyman Award from the National Association of Attorneys General.

The award is given to the attorney general who "has done the most to advance the objectives of the national association to help make the United States of America a better place in which to live for all." It is in memory of Louis E. Wyman of Manchester, N.H., former governor of the American Bar Association.

The award was presented during the final business luncheon of the 59th annual convention of the attorneys general.

Knight Moves To Revive Teacher Retirement Bill

Sen. John E. Knight moved in the Legislature Wednesday to revive a committee-killed bill to increase teacher retirement benefits in Nebraska.

Action on the motion was deferred.

Sen. Knight said the intent of the bill, LB229, is to increase maximum teacher retirement payments from $52.50 to $70 per month.

Present law provides for payment at the rate of $1.50 per month for each year of service up to 35 years. LB229 as written would increase the $1.50 to $2 and remove the 35-year limitation, but Knight said he will offer an amendment to retain the 35-year limit.

The bill had been referred to the Budget Committee where its demise occurred.

Congress Sets New Limit On Duty-Free Purchases

Washington (AP) — Congress passed Wednesday compromise legislation fixing a new limit—$100 retail value—on the amount of duty-free purchases a U.S. tourist can bring back from overseas.

President Johnson signed the bill into law Wednesday night and hailed it as a small, but significant step forward.

"Significant," the President said, "because it reflects a strong determination by our government and this nation to eliminate our balance of payments deficit."

The Senate and House passed the compromised version with little debate and by voice vote after a conference committee adjusted differences between versions the two chambers had passed earlier.

Under the compromise between Senate and House versions, the new $100 retail value limit will take effect Oct. 1. This gave a break to tourists already abroad and those planning summer trips.

Without the legislation, the old law allowing $500 wholesale value would have gone into effect Thursday.

Both the House and Senate rejected President Johnson's request for a $50 retail value limit.

The idea behind the duty-free reductions is one facet of the administration's campaign to reduce spending abroad and eliminate the chronic deficit in the international financial transactions.

Other steps to this end include voluntary programs to reduce spending abroad by U.S. corporations and overseas lending by banks.

GOVERNOR GETS FLAG

Gov. Frank Morrison and Mayor Dean Petersen, left, visit with children at the Child Development Laboratory at the University of Nebraska East Campus, site of Operation Head Start. The governor was later presented the Head Start flag in the background. Wednesday was National Head Start Day. (Star Photo.)

'Head Start' Offers Hopes —Lady Bird

Washington (UPI) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson said she hopes the new Head Start program will provide needed insurance against school dropouts and eventually lead to smaller welfare rolls.

The First Lady took part in a White House ceremony marking National "Head Start Day," in honor of the program to give preschoolers from underprivileged families a jump on their formal education.

"I have great hopes that this program will be the big breakthrough we have been seeking in education," Mrs. Johnson told a White House audience.

"Focus" is the big entertainment section in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

Will Present Colors

London (AP)— Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, will visit Bermuda Nov. 24, and the princess will present new colors to the Bermuda Regiment on behalf of Queen Elizabeth II. The couple will be returning from a three-week tour of the United States including visits to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Washington and New York.

2 Die As Auto Misses Interstate Exit Turn-Off

Grand Island (UPI) — Two young men who apparently had hitchhiked a ride were killed shortly after 5 a.m. Wednesday in a one-car accident about seven miles south of here.

Killed in the accident were Kenneth W. Means, of Sioux City, Iowa, driver of the car, and Thomas Dean Nelson of Elk Point, S.D., who was riding in the front seat.

The owner of the car, who reportedly had picked up Means and Nelson at Las Vegas, Nev., David E. Doyle, 26, of Columbus, Ohio, was asleep in the back seat when the crash occurred. He was listed in good condition at a hospital here.

Officers said the car missed the exit turn-off on Interstate Highway 80, struck one of the barrels marking the end of the Interstate pavement, then careened into a steel post supporting the exit sign.

Means had to be extricated from the wreckage of the car by a wrecker service tuck.

A couple from Denton, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Casteel, witnessed the accident as they entered Interstate 80. They told officers it appeared the driver of the car had fallen asleep.

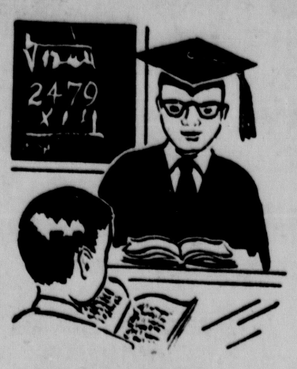
Language Skills Need Use Through Summer

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON



Even though you be on vacation, don't give your French German or Spanish a holiday this summer.

Foreign language skills have a way of disappearing if not kept constantly in use.

If you finish in June with a C, then forget the subject for the summer, you'll start the fall term with a D. Instead, why not improve your language skills this summer? Practice can be fun and help you raise that C to a B or even an A.

Conversation is a key factor. To succeed in a foreign language class, you must understand what the teacher says and try to come up with the right answers.

Summer is an ideal time to improve this necessary skill. It will make the rest of the course easier, since you will be getting a head start on the class.

Conversations in a foreign language can be fun if they are repeated often enough so that you think in the language; that is, when you hear the words you know what they mean without translating.

Plays Can Help

If two or three persons practice together, plays can be fun —and profitable, too. First, someone has to write the script. This usually is made up mostly of conversation. Then the practicing beings. Scenes are rehearsed time after time, until everyone is talking in the foreign language at conversational speed. Proper inflections and emphasis now become possible.

You get to know what the words mean the instant you hear them, which trains your ear to hear the language.

This summer practice has advantages over the classroom, where you have to wait your turn to take part and where words can not be repeated often enough.

If playmates are not readily available, try substituting puppets. On the one hand, a puppet represents a native of a foreign country; on the other, a tourist. You can easily think up interesting conversation between these two puppets. Practice each scene until you can run through it with gusto All this time you are getting practice in thinking in the language.

While persons of all ages can profit from seemingly childish games with puppets, some language students may wish to do a little more serious study during the summer.

Read Aloud

Here are some practical steps you can take to get the quick pick up you want in order to begin the new school year with the better students in the class.

Re-read the material from last year's text. Choose one or two paragraphs from each chapter. Read through the first time for understanding, translating English and a dictionary if necessary to get a clear picture in your mind of the meaning of the

Then, read through again and again. Discard the English. Think in the language. Read and re-read aloud. Train your mind to bring up pictures as you hear the spoken words. Get some simple books in the language from the library. Read them rapidly for enjoyment and understandingly.

If possible, find someone skilled in the language with whom to converse.

Practice writing letters in the language to an imaginary person. You might even try answering your own letters. This will help you learn to think in the language. You will be amazed to find that careless errors on examinations disappear as your skill in writing the language improves.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Language Skills Need Use Through Summer

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Even though you be on vacation, don't give your French German or Spanish a holiday this summer.

Foreign language skills have a way of disappearing if not kept constantly in use.

If you finish in June with a C, then forget the subject for the summer, you'll start the fall term with a D. Instead, why not improve your language skills this summer? Practice can be fun and help you raise that C to a B or even an A.

Conversation is a key factor. To succeed in a foreign language class, you must understand what the teacher says and try to come up with the right answers.

Summer is an ideal time to improve this necessary skill. It will make the rest of the course easier, since you will be getting a head start on the class.

Conversations in a foreign language can be fun if they are repeated often enough so that you think in the language; that is, when you hear the words you know what they mean without translating.

Plays Can Help

If two or three persons practice together, plays can be fun —and profitable, too. First, someone has to write the script. This usually is made up mostly of conversation. Then, the practicing beings. Scenes are rehearsed time after time, until everyone is talking in the foreign language at conversational speed. Proper inflections and emphasis now become possible.

You get to know what the words mean the instant you hear them, which trains your ear to hear the language.

This summer practice has advantages over the classroom, where you have to wait your turn to take part and where words can not be repeated often enough.

If playmates are not readily available, try substituting puppets. On the one hand, a puppet represents a native of a foreign country; on the other, a tourist. You can easily think up interesting conversation between these two puppets. Practice each scene until you can run through it with gusto All this time you are getting practice in thinking in the language.

While persons of all ages can profit from seemingly childish games with puppets, some language students may wish to do a little more serious study during the summer.

Read Aloud

Here are some practical steps you can take to get the quick pick up you want in order to begin the new school year with the better students in the class.

Re-read the material from last year's text. Choose one or two paragraphs from each chapter. Read through the first time for understanding, translating English and a dictionary if necessary to get a clear picture in your mind of the meaning of the

Then, read through again and again. Discard the English. Think in the language. Read and re-read aloud. Train your mind to bring up pictures as you hear the spoken words. Get some simple books in the language from the library. Read them rapidly for enjoyment and understandingly.

If possible, find someone skilled in the language with whom to converse.

Practice writing letters in the language to an imaginary person. You might even try answering your own letters. This will help you learn to think in the language. You will be amazed to find that careless errors on examinations disappear as your skill in writing the language improves.

Quigley predicted that if the bill is not passed and signed by the governor by the end of June, a number of state departments and agencies would be in serious financial trouble.

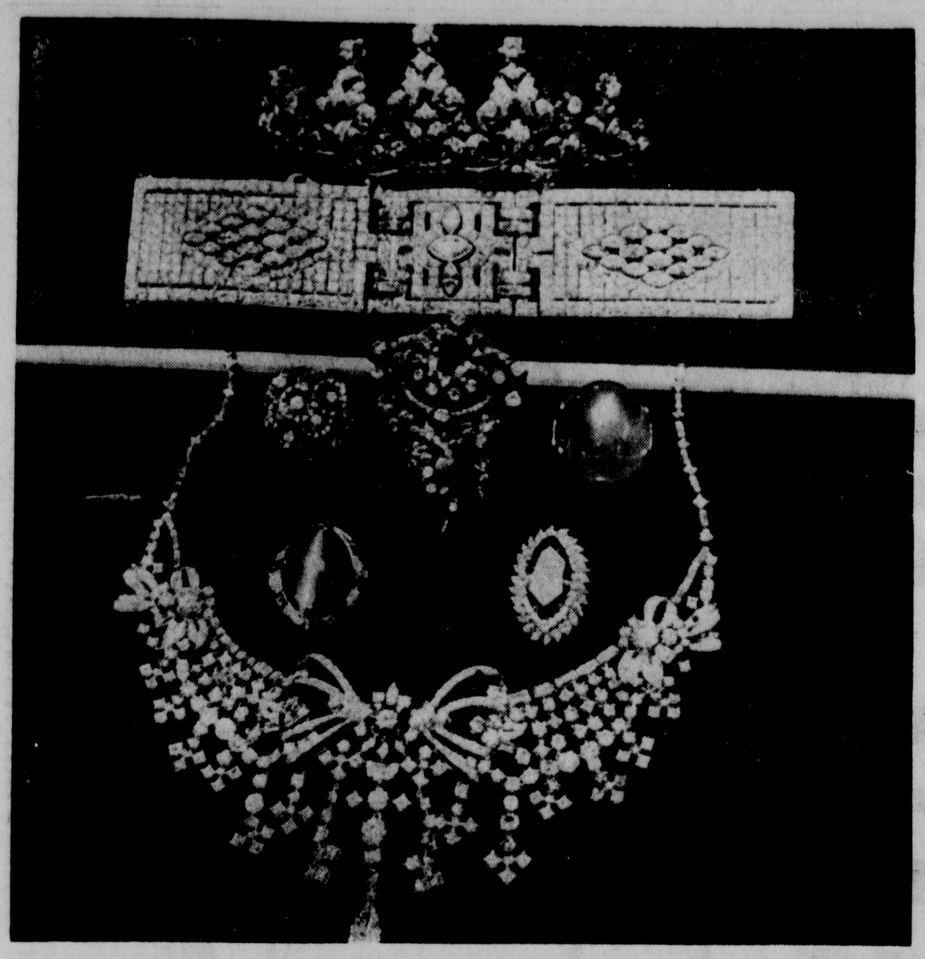
THE fabulous world of jewels



In the picture above you will see eight pieces of beautiful jewelry—valued at $129,500—which rested for an hour or so on our desk the other day—we put on and took off diamonds, Star Sapphires, and feasted our eyes on a $50,000 bracelet, a $25,000 necklace, and a $20,000 Star Sapphire—just to name a few of the items.

All of these, and more, had been the possessions of some exceedingly famous people, and had been sold by the administrators of their estates.

For instance—the tiara at the top of the picture had belonged to the wife of the late Charles Wilson who served as Secretary of Defense in the cabinet of Dwight D Eisenhower. The diamonds all told, weigh seven carats and the piece is valued at $5,000. Next comes a fabulous bracelet that had been worn proudly by Marion Davies. The bracelet, set solidly with diamonds has a 75 carat weight and, as we mentioned before has a value of $50,000.

Centered just below the bracelet is a Russian drop—antique and beautiful. An eight carat emerald is surrounded by rose-cut diamonds which also form the delicate pendants.

On either side of the Russian drop are rings—the one at the upper left is a flower bouquet ring set with numerous diamonds and its worth is $1,500. We wore the Star Sapphire (at right of the Russian piece) for a moment or two, and wondered how its original owner, the first Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, could have it on her finger for long at a time. It weighs 150 carats, and is exceedingly heavy—its value is $20,000.

The two rings just above the necklace have a combined weight of .43 carats—and a combined value of 18,000 dollars. The one at the left is a Cat's Eye—it is the 37 carat one, and is worth a bit more than our favorite—the brown diamond framed with the more familiar white diamond. The ring with its six carat Marquise—cut brown and beautiful stone is valued at $8,000.

The necklace at the bottom is from the Farrington estate in Los Angeles. The multicolored—there are Canary diamonds, plus a pattern of other diamonds in unique shades and cuts.

We might add that it was a pleasant way to pass a short period of time—and it came about becaue Joel Laykin of Los Angeles, was just giving Lincoln a glimpse. Mr. Laykin, by the way, was en route to other places in the interest of the American Gem Society.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

It tapes the imagination to realize that South must lose two trump tricks in this deal and therefore go down one, but this is bound to happen if the defense functions reasonably.

The process by which this comes about is generally known as trump promotion. West scores not only his ace of hearts but also the nine, and there is nothing that South can do to stop this from happening.

West leads the three of diamonds, East winning the trick with the jack and continuing with the king. It is not really difficult for South to realize that West's three is a singleton, so he ruffs with the king, let's say, instead of a low trump.

Of course, if West is foolish enough to overruff with the ace, South makes the contract, so let's assume that West discards a club.

Now declarer leads the queen of hearts and West should let South win this trick also. The chief reason for refusing this trick is that West cannot be 100% sure of what to play next if he takes the queen with the ace.

When South now continues with the ten of hearts, West finally takes the ace, on which East discards the eight of clubs. It is now easy for West to play a club in response to the signal, and East wins the club with the ace.

East then returns a diamond and South, who has the J-8-7-6 of trumps left at this point, finds that regardless of what he does, he cannot prevent West from scoring the setting trick in the form of the nine of hearts.

West, by biding his time, in effect raises the power of the A-9-3 to the equivalent of the A-J-3. His patience is rewarded when the repeated diamond plays finally weaken South's trump holding to the breaking point.

CHOSE
afternoon wedding

The chancel of Christ Church, Episcopal, in Ridgewood, N.J., was lighted by clusters of white candles for the wedding of Miss Barbara Joan Bosse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Klair Bosse of Ridgewood, and Roger Dwight Lytle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dwight Lytle, on Wednesday afternoon, June 30. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Alfred J. Miller.

Long-skirted frocks of embroidered pink linen with matching pillbox caps were worn by Miss Jennifer Bosse of Ridgewood, who was her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaid, Miss Gillian Wallace of Riverside, Calif.

Serving as best man was Robert Milligan of Hooper, and the groomsman was John Stasiowski of Baltimore, Md.

The bride appeared in a gown fashioned of white cotton pique. The Empire lines of the snug basque were emphasized by a banding of white velvet ribbon, above the slim, floor-length skirt, and her pouf veil of illusion was held to the head by a bow of the pique. She carried an arrangement of white orchids and valley-lilies interspersed with camelia foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will make their home at Bloomington, Minn., near Minneapolis. A member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the bride will teach in the Bloomington Schools. Mr. Lytle is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

IN suburbia

It's the first day of July and already suburban dwellers have things pop, bang and bombin'.

Maybe we should view all the activity as pre-fourth of July observances, but then we find that some traveling and entertaining will take place this weekend.

Other than a warning for all firecracker enthusiasts to be careful when handling the works, may we encourage a fun time for all over the Fourth of July weekend.

PARK MANOR

With the five small grandchildren who will be present Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Tullis, you can be sure of some activity and plenty of noise. Whether the noise will be raised by voices or by firecrackers we do not know, but we do know that there is going to be quite a family reunion for the Tullis clan.

Presently, Mr. and Mrs. Tullis are entertaining two of their grandchildren from Temple, Tex. Jeffrey and Matthew Tullis arrived a week ago Sunday and will be joined at their grandparents home Thursday by their mother. Following the arrival of Mrs. David Tullis, will be the Friday trip to Lincoln for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hansen and their son, Casey, who will motor to the city from Marshalltown, Iowa for a four-day visit with Mrs. Hansen's parents. To make the reunion complete on Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Byron Tullis, Jr. with their sons Michael and Jeff will arrive to the scene of action.

There are more weekend arrivals to mention this morning—Mr. and Mrs. S. Clark Martin and their daughter Gretta, for instance. The threesome is coming to Lincoln and the Park Manor area, for a visit with Mrs. Martin's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Curran. The Martin family, who reside in Tucson, Ariz., plan an indefinite stay.

Holiday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Read already have arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Read's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Weaver, plan a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Read before returning to their home in Cleveland, Ohio. The guest couple might sound a bit more familiar if we mentioned that Mrs. Weaver is the former Ruth Ann Reed and a Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska where Mr. Weaver is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

We choose to change the pace for a minute or so as we mention former Park Manor travelers. For this news we will travel up the street to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Grady. Mr. and Mrs. Grady tell us that last Wednesday a trip to Denver, Colo., was made and that they were accompanied on the trip by their two children, Christy and Timothy. The four did some sightseeing through the Denver area but claimed Aurora, Colo. as their headquarters. Further investigation brought out the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Grady have relatives in Aurora—Mr. Grady's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Enterline.

Blue Birds Civic Project

Members of the Jolly Blue Bird group will visit a local nursing home Thursday afternoon to present Independence Day place mats and favors which they have made as a service project.

The twelve girls, whose leader is Mrs. Don Kennedy, will be accompanied by Mrs. Richard Bender.

We Hear That

Newcomers to Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harris and their son, Todd, who arrived recently from Gordon. Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their son are residing at 3401 Frost Ct. Mrs. Harris is an interior decorator, and Mr. Harris is a student at the University of Nebraska.

On either side of the Russian drop are rings—the one at the upper left is a flower bouquet ring set with numerous diamonds and its worth is $1,500. We wore the Star Sapphire (at right of the Russian piece) for a moment or two, and wondered how its original owner, the first Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, could have it on her finger for long at a time. It weighs 150 carats, and is exceedingly heavy—its value is $20,000.

The two rings just above the necklace have a combined weight of .43 carats—and a combined value of 18,000 dollars. The one at the left is a Cat's Eye—it is the 37 carat one, and is worth a bit more than our favorite—the brown diamond framed with the more familiar white diamond. The ring with its six carat Marquise—cut brown and beautiful stone is valued at $8,000.

The necklace at the bottom is from the Farrington estate in Los Angeles. The multicolored—there are Canary diamonds, plus a pattern of other diamonds in unique shades and cuts.

We might add that it was a pleasant way to pass a short period of time—and it came about becaue Joel Laykin of Los Angeles, was just giving Lincoln a glimpse. Mr. Laykin, by the way, was en route to other places in the interest of the American Gem Society.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

It tapes the imagination to realize that South must lose two trump tricks in this deal and therefore go down one, but this is bound to happen if the defense functions reasonably.

The process by which this comes about is generally known as trump promotion. West scores not only his ace of hearts but also the nine, and there is nothing that South can do to stop this from happening.

West leads the three of diamonds, East winning the trick with the jack and continuing with the king. It is not really difficult for South to realize that West's three is a singleton, so he ruffs with the king, let's say, instead of a low trump.

Of course, if West is foolish enough to overruff with the ace. South makes the contract, so let's assume that West discards a club.

Now declarer leads the queen of hearts and West should let South win this trick also. The chief reason for refusing this trick is that West cannot be 100% sure of what to play next if he takes the queen with the ace.

When South now continues with the ten of hearts, West finally takes the ace, on which East discards the eight of clubs. It is now easy for West to play a club in response to the signal, and East wins the club with the ace.

East then returns a diamond and South, who has the J-8-7-6 of trumps left at this point, finds that regardless of what he does, he cannot prevent West from scoring the setting trick in the form of the nine of hearts.

West, by biding his time, in effect raises the power of the A-9-3 to the equivalent of the A-J-3. His patience is rewarded when the repeated diamond plays finally weaken South's trump holding to the breaking point.

Mr. and Mrs. Leese and their family who are the guest of Mr. Leese's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Leese, arrived in time for the 15th reunion of the class of '50, Lincoln High School, of which Mr. Leese was a member.

ABBY a letter is best way

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am not a professional business woman, but I have to telephone a lot of businessmen as I do volunteer work for several worthy causes. I am fed up to the teeth with the secretary who must know not only your name, but what you want to speak to her precious boss about. I don't blame her for asking who is calling, but I don't think what I want to talk to her boss about is any of her business. Invariably I am told that the boss is "in conference," and please to write him a letter. If I had time to write letters I wouldn't be making telephone calls! What do you think of my telephoning the man at his home after office hours? I can't think of any other way to get to these men who are so well-guarded by their secretaries.

VOLUNTEER

DEAR VOLUNTEER: I don't advise you to telephone a man at his home. It's presumptuous and an invasion of his privacy. In addition to which, it's poor psychology, and your "good cause" might suffer if he resents the intrusion. Don't blame the secretary who says her boss is "in conference." She's only following his instructions. Your best bet is a letter.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good friend who sews very well. It's her hobby, but it has also become my problem. She admires my "taste" in clothes, so every time I get a new dress or suit, she copies it. We go to a lot of the same places, and it looks ridiculous for us to be dressed like "twins"—especially since I am a size 10 and she is a size 18! It's partly my fault because when she asks me if I mind letting her have something of mine for a few days so she can match the material and then copy it, I don't have the nerve to say no. How can I get her to quit copying my clothes with out hurting her feelings and losing her friendship? My husband says that "imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," but I can't see it that way. I am sick of being a "twin" to this copycat.

COPIED

DEAR COPIED: Tell your unimaginative friend that since she apparently likes your taste in clothes, you'd be happy to go shopping with her for either clothes or patterns. Then tell her in a gentle and friendly way that you think each of you should maintain your own individuality.

afternoon wedding

The chancel of Christ Church, Episcopal, in Ridgewood, N.J., was lighted by clusters of white candles for the wedding of Miss Barbara Joan Bosse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Klair Bosse of Ridgewood, and Roger Dwight Lytle, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dwight Lytle, on Wednesday afternoon, June 30. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev Alfred J. Miller.

Long-skirted frocks of embroidered pink linen with matching pillbox caps were worn by Miss Jennifer Bosse of Ridgewood, who was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Gillian Wallace of Riverside, Calif.

Serving as best man was Robert Milligan of Hooper, and the groomsman was John Stasiowski of Baltimore, Md.

The bride appeared in a gown fashioned of white cotton pique. The Empire lines of the snug basque were emphasized by a banding of white velvet ribbon, above the slim, floor-length skirt, and her pouf veil of illusion was held to the head by a bow of the pique. She carried an arrangement of white orchids and valley-lilies interspersed with camelia foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lytle, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will make their home at Bloomington, Minn., near Minneapolis. A member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the bride will teach in the Bloomington Schools. Mr. Lytle is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

IN suburbia

It's the first day of July and already suburban dwellers have things pop, bang and bombin'.

Maybe we should view all the activity as pre-fourth of July observances, but then we find that some traveling and entertaining will take place this weekend.

Other than a warning for all firecracker enthusiasts to be careful when handling the works, may we encourage a fun time for all over the Fourth of July weekend.

PARK MANOR

With the five small grandchildren who will be present Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Tullis, you can be sure of some activity and plenty of noise. Whether the noise will be raised by voices or by firecrackers we do not know, but we do know that there is going to be quite a family reunion for the Tullis clan.

Presently, Mr. and Mrs. Tullis are entertaining two of their grandchildren from Temple, Tex. Jeffrey and Matthew Tullis arrived a week ago Sunday and will be joined at their grandparents home Thursday by their mother. Following the arrival of Mrs. David Tullis, will be the Friday trip to Lincoln for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hansen and their son, Casey, who will motor to the city from Marshalltown, Iowa for a four-day visit with Mrs. Hansen's parents. To make the reunion complete on Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Byron Tullis, Jr. with their sons Michael and Jeff will arrive to the scene of action.

There are more weekend arrivals to mention this morning—Mr. and Mrs. S. Clark Martin and their daughter Gretta, for instance. The threesome is coming to Lincoln and the Park Manor area, for a visit with Mrs. Martin's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Curran. The Martin family, who reside in Tucson, Ariz., plan an indefinite stay.

Holiday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Read already have arrived. Mr. and Mrs. Read's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs John Weaver, plan a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Read before returning to their home in Cleveland, Ohio. The guest couple might sound a bit more familiar if we mentioned that Mrs. Weaver is the former Ruth Ann Reed and a Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska where Mr. Weaver is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

We choose to change the pace for a minute or so as we mention former Park Manor travelers. For this news we will travel up the street to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Grady. Mr. and Mrs. Grady tell us that last Wednesday a trip to Denver, Colo., was made and that they were accompanied on the trip by their two children, Christy and Timothy. The four did some sightseeing through the Denver area but claimed Aurora, Colo. as their headquarters. Further investigation brought out the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Grady have relatives in Aurora—Mr. Grady's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Enterline.

Blue Birds Civic Project

Members of the Jolly Blue Bird group will visit a local nursing home Thursday afternoon to present Independence Day place mats and favors which they have made as a service project.

The twelve girls, whose leader is Mrs. Don Kennedy, will be accompanied by Mrs. Richard Bender.

We Hear That

Newcomers to Lincoln are Mr and Mrs. Gordon Harris and their son, Todd, who arrived recently from Gordon. Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their son are residing at 3401 Frost Ct. Mrs. Harris is an interior decorator, and Mr. Harris is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Chamber Of Commerce Reports Increase In Convention Delegates

The convention committee of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce informed the Chamber's board of directors Wednesday that almost 52,000 registered convention delegates have visited the city in the first half of 1965.

The figure is 11,000 over the total of delegates recorded for the first six months of 1964, and Chamber officials estimate that the delegates have brought in new income to the city of over $4 million.

Convention chairman William Gold's report said that the city can expect at least an additional 50,000 delegates to visit here by the end of the year.

The directors also heard A. James Ebel, chairman of the business expansion committee, announce that 15-20 Lincoln businessmen will carry out their planned trip to St. Louis in September.

Their purpose will be to call on prospective industrial firms and present the "Lincoln Story."

Other business in front of the June directors meeting included the appointment by Chamber president Tom Pansing of Myron Weil, Thomas Woods and James Ackerman as a committee to nominate officers for 1966.

Ralph Kosmicke, 23, of 2035 J, was introduced as the newly-appointed director of research for the Chamber.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Kosmicke will receive his masters degree in economics this August, and as director of research will be responsible for the development of economic and social statistics and other specialized studies including market analysis.

Dobson Brothers Construction Co. of Lincoln was revealed Wednesday as the apparent low bidder at $1,630,941 for an addition to the city's sewage treatment plant.

Second low bidder was a Kansas firm, Carrothers Construction Co. of Paola, at $1,769,900.

City officials said that construction of the plant addition at 22nd and Theresa Streets, would probably start in July, after the contract is awarded and a 30% federal grant is approved.

Other bids included Olson Construction Co., $1,829,149; Martin K. Eby Co., Omaha, $1,837,796; Peter Kiewit and Sons, Omaha, $1,842,257 and Interstate Construction Corp., Kansas City, Kansas, $1,882,839.

Dobson was also the apparent low bidder on two water feeder main projects.

On a feeder main in 56th, A to Sumner and Bancroft to Stockwell; and Sumner, 56th to Skyline Drive, Dobson submitted an alternate bid specifying ductile iron piping of $41,626.

Also bidding were H. R. Bookstrom, $47,883 and N. L. Cole, $49,500.

Second low bidder was Cole, at $268,754.62. Also bidding were H. R. Bookstrom, Teis and the Shawnee Construction Co. of Muncy, Kans.

Thoene Files $2,750 Claim Against City

Clifford Thoene, owner of Cliff's Smoke Shop at 1204 O, has filed a $2,750 claim against the city, alleging negligence in maintaining storm sewers in the 12th and O vicinity.

Thoene claims that he told the city "more than a month ago" that the storm sewer was leaking water into his basement and causing damage.

The claim said that on June 28 water damaged carpets, padding, merchandise and decorations and cost Thoene expenses for cleaning up and loss of business.

Thoene charges the city with negligence in failure to maintain, or maintaining the sewers properly.

Of interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens of Peru, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Davil N. Gomon, son of Dr. and Mrs. Neal S. Gomon, also of Peru.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 14, and the ceremony will take place at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Auburn.

Miss Stephens is a graduate of Peru State College and during the past year was a member of the Bellevue Junior High School faculty. Mr. Gomon also was graduated from Peru State College.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am not a professional business woman, but I have to telephone a lot of businessmen as I do volunteer work for several worthy causes. I am fed up to the teeth with the secretary who must know not only your name, but what you want to speak to her precious boss about. I don't blame her for asking who is calling, but I don't think what I want to talk to her boss about is any of her business. Invariably I am told that the boss is "in conference," and please to write him a letter. If I had time to write letters I wouldn't be making telephone calls! What do you think of my telephoning the man at his home after office hours? I can't think of any other way to get to these men who are so well-guarded by their secretaries.

VOLUNTEER

DEAR VOLUNTEER: I don't advise you to telephone a man at his home. It's presumptuous and an invasion of his privacy. In addition to which, it's poor psychology, and your "good cause" might suffer if he resents the intrusion. Don't blame the secretary who says her boss is "in conference." She's only following his instructions. Your best bet is a letter.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good friend who sews very well. It's her hobby, but it has also become my problem. She admires my "taste" in clothes, so every time I get a new dress or suit, she copies it. We go to a lot of the same places, and it looks ridiculous for us to be dressed like "twins"—especially since I am a size 10 and she is a size 18! It's partly my fault because when she asks me if I mind letting her have something of mine for a few days so she can match the material and then copy it, I don't have the nerve to say no. How can I get her to quit copying my clothes with out hurting her feelings and losing her friendship? My husband says that "imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," but I can't see it that way. I am sick of being a "twin" to this copycat.

COPIED

DEAR COPIED: Tell your unimaginative friend that since she apparently likes your taste in clothes, you'd be happy to go shopping with her for either clothes or patterns. Then tell her in a gentle and friendly way that you think each of you should maintain your own individuality.

June Cost Of Living Expected To Go Up Despite Tax Cuts

Washington (UPI)—The cost of living climbed three-tenths of one per cent in May to a record peak and is expected to go up again for June despite the excise tax cuts, the government reported Wednesday.

The May increase followed a similar three-tenths of a per cent rise in April to boost the consumer price index to 109.6% of the 1957-59 base. This means that the average American family paid out $10.96 to buy the same goods and services that cost $10 in the base period.

On the other hand, the Bureau of Labor Statistics report showed that the weekly take-home pay of the average factory worker was $1.40 more in May. Because of the cost of living increase, he wound up about $1 a week better off last month than he was in April. His average paycheck, after deductions, was $96.78 a week last month.

In addition, about 258,000 meat packers and aerospace workers whose wages are tied to the living cost index will receive pay increases of one to two cents an hour.

In issuing the report, Labor Department official Arnold Chase conceded that consumer prices will rise a "little more" in June even though the recently enacted excise taxes should mean lower prices on some items.

Tryouts

Hollywood (UPI) — In a period of 24 hours Electronovision went through three actresses in the role of Jean Harlow's mother—Judy Garland, Eleanor Parker and finally Ginger Rogers who will be seen in the final production.

Chamber Of Commerce Reports Increase In Convention Delegates

The convention committee of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce informed the Chamber's board of directors Wednesday that almost 52,000 registered convention delegates have visited the city in the first half of 1965.

The figure is 11,000 over the total of delegates recorded for the first six months of 1964, and Chamber officials estimate that the delegates have brought in new income to the city of over $4 million.

Convention chairman William Gold's report said that the city can expect at least an additional 50,000 delegates to visit here by the end of the year.

The directors also heard A. James Ebel, chairman of the business expansion committee, announce that 15-20 Lincoln businessmen will carry out their planned trip to St. Louis in September

Their purpose will be to call on prospective industrial firms and present the "Lincoln Story."

Other business in front of the June directors meeting included the appointment by Chamber president Tom Pansing of Myron Weil, Thomas Woods and James Ackerman as a committee to nominate officers for 1966.

Ralph Kosmicke, 23, of 2035 J, was introduced as the newly-appointed director of research for the Chamber.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Kosmicke will receive his masters degree in economics this August, and as director of research will be responsible for the development of economic and social statistics and other specialized studies including market analysis.

Dobson's Bid Apparent Low On Sewage Treatment Plant

Dobson Brothers Construction Co. of Lincoln was revealed Wednesday as the apparent low bidder at $1,630,941 for an addition to the city's sewage treatment plant.

Second low bidder was a Kansas firm, Carrothers Construction Co. of Paola, at $1,769,900.

City officials said that construction of the plant addition at 22nd and Theresa Streets, would probably start in July, after the contract is awarded and a 30% federal grant is approved.

Other bids included Olson Construction Co., $1,829,149; Martin K. Eby Co., Omaha, $1,837,796; Peter Kiewit and Sons, Omaha, $1,842,257 and Interstate Construction Corp., Kansas City, Kansas, $1,882,839.

Dobson was also the apparent low bidder on two water feeder main projects.

On a feeder main in 56th, A to Sumner and Bancroft to Stockwell; and Sumner, 56th to Skyline Drive, Dobson submitted an alternate bid specifying ductile iron piping of $41,626.

Also bidding were H. R. Bookstrom, $47,883 and N. L. Cole, $49,500.

Lawrence K. Teis Construction Co. of Kansas City submitted an alternate bid specifying pre-stressed concrete, at $61,035.

Dobson bid $246,332.30 on a water feeder main project in A, 63rd to 70th; 70th, A to South and South, 70th to DeVoe Ave.

Second low bidder was Cole, at $268,754.62. Also bidding were H. R. Bookstrom, Teis and the Shawnee Construction Co. of Muncy, Kans.

Thoene Files $2,750 Claim Against City

Clifford Thoene, owner of Cliff's Smoke Shop at 1204 O, has filed a $2,750 claim against the city, alleging negligence in maintaining storm sewers in the 12th and O vicinity.

Thoene claims that he told the city "more than a month ago" that the storm sewer was leaking water into his basement and causing damage.

The claim said that on June 28 water damaged carpets, padding, merchandise and decorations and cost Thoene expenses for cleaning up and loss of business.

Thoene charges the city with negligence in failure to maintain, or maintaining the sewers properly.

June Cost Of Living Expected To Go Up Despite Tax Cuts

Washington (UPI)—The cost of living climbed three-tenths of one per cent in May to a record peak and is expected to go up again for June despite the excise tax cuts, the government reported Wednesday.

The May increase followed a similar three-tenths of a per cent rise in April to boost the consumer price index to 109.6% of the 1957-59 base. This means that the average American family paid out $10.96 to buy the same goods and services that cost $10 in the base period.

On the other hand, the Bureau of Labor Statistics report showed that the weekly take-home pay of the average factory worker was $1.40 more in May. Because of the cost of living increase, he wound up about $1 a week better off last month than he was in April. His average paycheck, after deductions, was $96.78 a week last month.

In addition, about 258,000 meat packers and aerospace workers whose wages are tied to the living cost index will receive pay increases of one to two cents an hour.

In issuing the report, Labor Department official Arnold Chase conceded that consumer prices will rise a "little more" in June even though the recently enacted excise taxes should mean lower prices on some items.

Tryouts

Hollywood (UPI) — In a period of 24 hours Electronovision went through three actresses in the role of Jean Harlow's mother—Judy Garland, Eleanor Parker and finally Ginger Rogers who will be seen in the final production.

Pakistan, India In Agreement

. . . SAYS AYUB

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—President Mohammed Ayub Khan Wednesday night declared he and India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri have agreed to withdraw their troops all along their borders.

"The subcontinent has been spared the horrors of war," Ayub said.

His announced agreement on a general pullback came after the two quarreling neighbors signed a cease-fire for the Rann of Kutch, a destolate border region near the Arabian Sea. Late in April and early May, Indian and Pakistani units fought there.

(There was no immediate confirmation from New Delhi of an agreement for a general troop withdrawal beyond the Rann of Kutch cease-fire.)

After fighting broke out in the Rann of Kutch, India and Pakistan moved up tanks and troops to their borders elsewhere, including disputed Kashmir and in East Pakistan.

The Rann of Kutch is on the southern border of West Pakistan and India's western border.

'Act Of Statesmanship'

Ayub said the two agreements reached constitute "an act of high statesmanship." He said the second agreement is in some respects "more important than the pact on the Rann of Kutch dispute."

He declared in a statement issued in Rawalpindi:

Never before have India and Pakistan been closer to war than during recent weeks when the armies of both countires have stood in menacing confrontation along the entire India-Pakistan border. Never therefore has there been a greater need for a cool, calm and realistic approach to India-Pakistan relationships."

"Fortunately wiser counsel have prevailed and the subcontinent has been spared the horrors of war."

Ayub and Shastri met in London at the recent Commonwealth prime ministers conference.

Starts Thursday

A Pakistan foreign office spokesman said the order for a general pullback would be issued without delay. The Rann of Kutch cease-fire goes into effect Thursday.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons he hoped the cease-fire "may prove to be the first step toward a general improvement in relations between India and Pakistan."

In New Delhi, however, the cease-fire agreement was assailed by both rightists and socialists.

Shastri was plainly worried by the attacks. He called in India's leading newspaper owners, editors and chief reporters to explain that it was only with difficulty that he had avoided all-out war over the Kutch.

Details of the peace formula include:

—Both sides will withdraw troops Thursday morning, India from two forward posts, Pakistan from three.

—Both sides will jointly patrol a 20-square-mile area in the Ding-Surai area of extreme western Kutch while attempts are made to demarcate the disputed border.

—If there is no agreement within two months, the issue will be submitted to a three-man tribunal whose members will be named by the two quareling nations.

Governor Uses Veto

Des Moines, Iowa (AP)—Gov. Harold Hughes vetoed a controversial bill that would have repealed most of the restrictions on oversize and overweight trucks operating in the state.

Mail Light On Income Tax Stand

Gov. Frank Morrison's office said Wednesday only 21 letters were received since Morrison announced Monday he would let the state income tax bill become law without his signature.

The mail was comparatively light," said Gene Budig, the governor's administrative assistant.

He said 19 of the 21 letters were critical of Morrison's letting LB797 become law.

Budig released Morrison's reply being sent to these critics.

It points out that Morrison has been opposed to the income tax, but that since his first campaign had vowed not to veto a broadened tax measure unless it was "mechanically or constitutionally unfit."

Morrison's reply notes a veto would have prevented the people from voting on the income tax bill by referendum and asks, "Should people be prevented from voting on such an important matter?"

Since the income tax became a major issue in the Legislature, Budig said about 700 letters and telegrams had been received.

He estimated about 450 were opposed to the income tax.

Although he said he understood some legislators received "hostile mail," the governor's mail was not abusive.

"People mostly just stated their stand," he added.

In reply to a question, Budig said, "Governor Morrison made the statement 10 days ago he thought no newspaper intentionally distorted the news on either side (of the income tax issue)."

"I am sure this is still his feeling," he said, "I'm sure the governor feels he has also been fairly treated in the news columns."

Kiwanis Medal Winner Returns After 34 Years

Chadron (AP) — Paul A. Norton, who 34 years ago this month was given a gold medal by the Chadron Kiwanis Club for ranking first scholastically in his high school class, made a return appearance before the Chadron Club this week.

Now senior vice president in charge of marketing for the New York Life Insurance Co., Norton addressed the club on "Ethics in Business."

"Businessmen are more ethical today than ever before," he declared.

"The hundreds of executives and management men that I know consistently take into account the human and social effects of their actions," he said.

"And in spite of the rugged competition, the pressure of sales charts that sometimes go down as well as up, and the pressure of our fast moving age, there is an abundance of ethics in the executive suite."

Succession Bill Hits Senate Snag

Washington (UPI)—A contitutional amendment to meet the twin dangers of serious presidential disability and a between-election void in the vice presidency was approved by the House Wednesday. But it struck a snag in the Senate.

The House passed the amendment by overwhelming voice vote. The follow-up senate action which would have sent the amendment to the states for ratification was postponed, however, when Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., objected.

Gore said he was dissatisfied with some provisions of the plan and said he favored sending it back to House-Senate conferees for further consideration. The Senate leadership then put off final debate on the proposal until Tuesday, so that Gore could study the matter further.

Establish Method

The purpose of the amendment is to set up a system for a vice president to take over should a president become disabled and to establish a method of naming a vice president should that office become vacant between presidential elections.

The legislatures of three-fourths of the states must approve the amendment before it becomes part of the U.S. Constitution. Because many of the state legislatures have finished their sessions this year, final ratification probably will not come until early 1967.

The necessary two-thirds approval of the Senate was predicted even though Gore and others questioned some of the machinery.

Favored Passage

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Attorney General in his brother's cabinet, said that further study should be made of the entire problem although he favored passing the amendment without further delay.

He raised the question of possible pressures that might be brought upon a cabinet should there be a dispute be a dispute between a president and vice president on disability.

Basically, the amendment would:

—Set procedures for a vice president to take over the reins of government should a president become unable to discharge his duties because of illness or other disability.

—Provide for the president to resume his authority upon recovery.

—Permit the president to name a new vice president, subject to confirmation of Congress, should the second highest office become vacant.

Pakistan, India In Agreement

. . . SAYS AYUB

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—President Mohammed Ayub Khan Wednesday night declared he and India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri have agreed to withdraw their troops all along their borders.

"The subcontinent has been spared the horrors of war," Ayub said.

His announced agreement on a general pullback came after the two quarreling neighbors signed a cease-fire for the Rann of Kutch, a destolate border region near the Arabian Sea. Late in April and early May, Indian and Pakistani units fought there.

(There was no immediate confirmation from New Delhi of an agreement for a general troop withdrawal beyond the Rann of Kutch cease-fire.)

After fighting broke out in the Rann of Kutch, India and Pakistan moved up tanks and troops to their borders elsewhere, including disputed Kashmir and in East Pakistan.

The Rann of Kutch is on the southern border of West Pakistan and India's western border.

'Act Of Statesmanship'

Ayub said the two agreements reached constitute "an act of high statesmanship." He said the second agreement is in some respects "more important than the pact on the Rann of Kutch dispute."

He declared in a statement issued in Rawalpindi:

Never before have India and Pakistan been closer to war than during recent weeks when the armies of both countires have stood in menacing confrontation along the entire India-Pakistan border. Never therefore has there been a greater need for a cool, calm and realistic approach to India-Pakistan relationships."

"Fortunately wiser counsel have prevailed and the subcontinent has been spared the horrors of war."

Ayub and Shastri met in London at the recent Commonwealth prime ministers conference.

Starts Thursday

A Pakistan foreign office spokesman said the order for a general pullback would be issued without delay. The Rann of Kutch cease-fire goes into effect Thursday.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons he hoped the cease-fire "may prove to be the first step toward a general improvement in relations between India and Pakistan."

In New Delhi, however, the cease-fire agreement was assailed by both rightists and socialists.

Shastri was plainly worried by the attacks. He called in India's leading newspaper owners, editors and chief reporters to explain that it was only with diffieulty that he had avoided all-out war over the Kutch.

Details of the peace formula include:

—Both sides will withdraw troops Thursday morning, India from two forward posts, Pakistan from three.

—Both sides will jointly patrol a 20-square-mile area in the Ding-Surai area of extreme western Kutch while attempts are made to demarcate the disputed border.

—If there is no agreement within two months, the issue will be submitted to a three-man tribunal whose members will be named by the two quareling nations.

Governor Uses Veto

Des Moines, Iowa (AP)—Gov. Harold Hughes vetoed a controversial bill that would have repealed most of the restrictions on oversize and overweight trucks operating in the state.

Tax Laws Study Urged

A resolution was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday urging an interim study of Nebraska's laws dealing with taxing intangible property.

The resolution, No. 66, was laid over one day in accordance with unicameral rules.

The Banking Committee agreed to introduce the resolution after killing on a 5-0 vote a resolution directing taxing officials to place on the tax rolls some intangible property which, according to the resolution, is not now being assessed.

The new resolution suggests that the proposed interim study take into consideration the earnings of intangible property in Nebraska, the economic impact of taxation on various classes of intangibles and the need for further classification of intangibles for tax purposes.

The axed resolution, No. 48, sponsored by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, would have directed the tax commissioner to instruct all county assessors to "add to the tax assessments and tax rolls for the current year as omitted property all intangible property taxable in this state . . ."

This property, the resolution said, includes intangible property owned by banks, domestic and domesticated insurance companies and building and loan associations, including their stocks, bonds, notes and accounts receivable.

In other action, the committee killed LB563, providing penalties for charging a rate of interest higher than that authorized by law.

Also killed were LB218 and LB20, now obsolete bills establishing new interest rate systems. The Legislature has already completed its work in the interest rate field.

State Legislature Gets 919th Bill

The 919th bill of the legislative session was introduced into the Unicameral Wednesday.

The bill provides that aliens may be engaged as teachers or research scientists by colleges and universities without limitation as to time.

Now, the law provides only for the right of colleges and universities to exchange teachers or research scientists with educational institutions in other countries.

The bill was introduced by Lincoln Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme and Marvin E. Stromer at the request of the governor.

Mail Light On Income Tax Stand

Gov. Frank Morrison's office said Wednesday only 21 letters were received since Morrison announced Monday he would let the state income tax bill become law without his signature.

"The mail was comparatively light," said Gene Budig, the governor's administrative assistant.

He said 19 of the 21 letters were critical of Morrison's letting LB797 become law.

Budig released Morrison's reply being sent to these critics.

It points out that Morrison has been opposed to the income tax, but that since his first campaign had vowed not to veto a broadened tax measure unless it was "mechanically or constitutionally unfit."

Morrison's reply notes a veto would have prevented the people from voting on the income tax bill by referendum and asks, "Should people be prevented from voting on such an important matter?"

Since the income tax became a major issue in the Legislature, Budig said about 700 letters and telegrams had been received.

He estimated about 450 were opposed to the income tax.

Although he said he understood some legislators received "hostile mail," the governor's mail was not abusive.

"People mostly just stated their stand," he added.

In reply to a question, Budig said, "Governor Morrison made the statement 10 days ago he thought no newspaper intentionally distorted the news on either side (of the income tax issue)."

"I am sure this is still his feeling," he said, "I'm sure the governor feels he has also been fairly treated in the news columns."

Kiwanis Medal Winner Returns After 34 Years

Chadron (AP) — Paul A. Norton, who 34 years ago this month was given a gold medal by the Chadron Kiwanis Club for ranking first scholastically in his high school class, made a return appearance before the Chadron Club this week.

Now senior vice president in charge of marketing for the New York Life Insurance Co., Norton addressed the club on "Ethics in Business."

"Businessmen are more ethical today than ever before," he declared.

"The hundreds of executives and management men that I know consistently take into account the human and social effects of their actions," he said.

"And in spite of the rugged competition, the pressure of sales charts that sometimes go down as well as up, and the pressure of our fast moving age, there is an abundance of ethics in the executive suite."

Wilkins: No Evidence Communists In Control

Denver, Colo. (AP)—The leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Wednesday, "there may be a few Communists within the ranks of some (civil rights) organzations but there is no convincing evidence that any of them is controlled by Communists."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, backed three civil rights groups charged with communist infiltration by a special Alabama legislative committee.

The Alabama committee said the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the Congress Of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) are "actively engaged in promoting the Communist line."

The committee said it obtained its information from staff members, part-time investigators, voluntary witnesses, and police.

Wilkins said the Alabama group "fails to give any substantive proof that any of the civil rights organizations are Communist-dominated." He called the charge "in line with the traditional pattern devised by reactionairies to smear and turn back democratic movements."

SNCC, a student organization which the legislative committee called "extensively Communist-dominated and extremely dangerous" was termed by Wilkins a "burr under the saddle' which we have to have." He said members of the group were "impatient but this is typical of students all over the world."

Wilkins' support of Dr. King and his SCLC represents something of a departure of the chiding he gave the Nobel Prize-winner earlier in the week.

At that time, Wilkins in Denver for the 56th annual convention of the organization, said the NAACP needed King's aid but "we need real help, not just a sermon."

FBI Helps Investigate Beatings

Camden, Ala. (AP)—The FBI joined Wednesday in the investigation of the beatings by a group of white men of two Negro youths at a church.

FBI Agent Dillard W. Howell said the FBI entered the case at the request of the Justice Department to see if there were any violation of civil rights statutes.

Mayor Reg Albritton said three or four Negro youths were in the Antioch Baptist Church when the white men knocked down the door, and that one of them was clubbed by the intruders.

The church serves as headquarters for a Negro voter registration drive by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and an affiliate group, Summer Community Organization and Political Education (SCOPE).

An SCLC spokesman said that two youths were hospitalized at Selma.

Albritton identified the one who was clubbed as Frank Connor, 18. The other hospitalized youth was identified by SCLC as Emanuel Hardley, 16, who was reportedly kicked several times. Both were reported in good condition.

Two or three other teenagers also reported that they were struck. They suffered bruises.

WARNS OF CONSPIRACY

Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson of Mississippi took the floor at the National Attorneys General convention in San Antonio, Tex., Wednesday and warned delegates that "a well-planned, deep-seated conspiracy to undermine public confidence in law enforcement officers" is under way in the United States.

Writer Robert Ruark Succumbs In London

London (AP)—Robert Ruark, American writer, died early Thursday in Lindon's Middlesex Hospital, a hospital spokesman reported.

Ruark, 49, was a columnist for the Scripps-Howard newspapers and the United Feature Service. His best-selling novels included "Uhuru," a novel of African independence, and "Something of Value," dealing with African terrorist activities in Kenya. The latter was sold to the movies for $300,000.

The writer was born in Wilmington, N.C., and later lived in Southport, N.C. He attended the University of North Carolina, was graduated at 19, and soon afterward took a job for the Work Projects Administration (WPA) as an accountant.

Fired from the WPA, he became a seaman in the Merchant Marine, then worked as a newspaperman until World War II. During the war he commanded a Navy gun crew on a freighter.

Returning to his newspaper typewriter after the war, he worked his way up in six months from $125 a week to $50,000 a year as a columnist.

In an interview several years ago he gave this credo:

"Everything I saw that I wanted I chased; everything I chased I caught; everything I caught I enjoyed.

"But my life is a matter of giving too. Everything I got, I gave something of myself first to get."

In recent years Ruark lived abroad and had homes in London and Spain. Spain made him a Knight Commander of the Order of Civil Merit.

Selma's Sheriff Elected To Post

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—Selma, Ala. Sheriff James G. Clark was elected first vice president of the 20,000-member National Sheriffs' Association at the group's 25th annual conference Wednesday.

Under the conference's election procedure he will become president of the organization at next year's convention which will be held in Mobile, Ala.

Sheriff Martin J. Ferber of Hackensack, N.J., is the new president. He succeeded Sheriff Malcolm G. McLeod of Lumberton, N.C.

Succession Bill Hits Senate Snag

Washington (UPI)—A constitutional amendment to meet the twin dangers of serious presidential disability and a between-election void in the vice presidency was approved by the House Wednesday. But it struck a snag in the Senate.

The House passed the amendment by overwhelming voice vote. The follow-up senate action which would have sent the amendment to the states for ratification was postponed, however, when Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., objected.

Gore said he was dissatisfied with some provisions of the plan and said he favored sending it back to House-Senate conferees for further consideration. The Senate leadership then put off final debate on the proposal until Tuesday, so that Gore could study the matter further.

Establish Method

The purpose of the amendment is to set up a system for a vice president to take over should a president become disabled and to establish a method of naming a vice president should that office become vacant between presidential elections.

The legislatures of three-fourths of the states must approve the amendment before it becomes part of the U.S. Constitution. Because many of the state legislatures have finished their sessions this year, final ratification probably will not come until early 1967.

The necessary two-thirds approval of the Senate was predicted even though Gore and others questioned some of the machinery.

Favored Passage

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Attorney General in his brother's cabinet, said that further study should be made of the entire problem although he favored passing the amendment without further delay.

He raised the question of possible pressures that might be brought upon a cabinet should there be a dispute between a president and vice president on disability.

Basically, the amendment would:

—Set procedures for a vice president to take over the reins of government should a president become unable to discharge his duties because of illness or other disability.

—Provide for the president to resume his authority upon recovery.

—Permit the president to name a new vice president, subject to confirmation of Congress, should the second highest office become vacant.

Tax Laws Study Urged

A resolution was introduced in the Legislature Wednesday urging an interim study of Nebraska's laws dealing with taxing intangible property.

The resolution, No. 66, was laid over one day in accordance with unicameral rules.

The Banking Committee agreed to introduce the resolution after killing on a 5-0 vote a resolution directing taxing officials to place on the tax rolls some intangible property which, according to the resolution, is not now being assessed.

The new resolution suggests that the proposed interim study take into consideration the earnings of intangible property in Nebraska, the economic impact of taxation on various classes of intangibles and the need for further classification of intangibles for tax purposes.

The axed resolution, No. 48, sponsored by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, would have directed the tax commissioner to instruct all county assessors to "add to the tax assessments and tax rolls for the current year as omitted property all intangible property taxable in this state . . ."

This property, the resolution said, includes intangible property owned by banks, domestic and domesticated insurance companies and building and loan associations, including their stocks, bonds, notes and accounts receivable.

In other action, the committee killed LB563, providing penalties for charging a rate of interest higher than that authorized by law.

Also killed were LB218 and LB20, now obsolete bills establishing new interest rate systems. The Legislature has already completed its work in the interest rate field.

State Legislature Gets 919th Bill

The 919th bill of the legislative session was introduced into the Unicameral Wednesday.

The bill provides that aliens may be engaged as teachers or research scientists by colleges and universities without limitation as to time.

Now, the law provides only for the right of colleges and universities to exchange teachers or research scientists with educational institutions in other countries.

The bill was introduced by Lincoln Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme and Marvin E. Stromer at the request of the governor.

Wilkins: No Evidence Communists In Control

Denver, Colo. (AP)—The leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Wednesday, "there may be a few Communists within the ranks of some (civil rights) organizations but there is no convincing evidence that any of them is controlled by Communists."

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, backed three civil rights groups charged with communist infiltration by a special Alabama legislative committee.

The Alabama committee said the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the Congress Of Racial Equality (CORE) and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) are "actively engaged in promoting the Communist line."

The committee said it obtained its information from staff members, part-time investigators, voluntary witnesses, and police.

Wilkins said the Alabama group "fails to give any substantive proof that any of the civil rights organizations are Communist-dominated." He called the charge "in line with the traditional pattern devised by reactionairies to smear and turn back democratic movements."

SNCC, a student organization which the legislative committee called "extensively Communist-dominated and extremely dangerous" was termed by Wilkins a "burr under the saddle' which we have to have." He said members of the group were "impatient but this is typical of students all over the world."

Wilkins' support of Dr. King and his SCLC represents something of a departure of the chiding he gave the Nobel Prize-winner earlier in the week.

At that time, Wilkins in Denver for the 56th annual convention of the organization, said the NAACP needed King's aid but "we need real help, not just a sermon."

FBI Helps Investigate Beatings

Camden, Ala. (AP)—The FBI joined Wednesday in the investigation of the beatings by a group of white men of two Negro youths at a church.

FBI Agent Dillard W. Howell said the FBI entered the case at the request of the Justice Department to see if there were any violation of civil rights statutes.

Mayor Reg Albritton said three or four Negro youths were in the Antioch Baptist Church when the white men knocked down the door, and that one of them was clubbed by the intruders.

The church serves as headquarters for a Negro voter registration drive by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and an affiliate group, Summer Community Organization and Political Education (SCOPE).

An SCLC spokesman said that two youths were hospitalized at Selma.

Albritton identified the one who was clubbed as Frank Connor, 18. The other hospitalized youth was identified by SCLC as Emanuel Hardley, 16, who was reportedly kicked several times. Both were reported in good condition.

Two or three other teenagers also reported that they were struck. They suffered bruises.

WARNS OF CONSPIRACY

Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson of Mississippi took the floor at the National Attorneys General convention in San Antonio, Tex., Wednesday and warned delegates that "a well-planned, deep-seated conspiracy to undermine public confidence in law enforcement officers" is under way in the United States.

Writer Robert Ruark Succumbs In London

London (AP)—Robert Ruark, American writer, died early Thursday in Lindon's Middlesex Hospital, a hospital spokesman reported.

Ruark, 49, was a columnist for the Scripps-Howard newspapers and the United Feature Service. His best-selling novels included "Uhuru," a novel of African independence, and "Something of Value," dealing with African terrorist activities in Kenya. The latter was sold to the movies for $300,000.

The writer was born in Wilmington, N.C., and later lived in Southport, N.C. He attended the University of North Carolina, was graduated at 19 and soon afterward took a job for the Work Projects Administration (WPA) as an accountant.

Fired from the WPA, he became a seaman in the Merchant Marine, then worked as a newspaperman until World War II. During the war he commanded a Navy gun crew on a freighter.

Returning to his newspaper typewriter after the war, he worked his way up in six months from $125 a week to $50,000 a year as a columnist.

In an interview several years ago he gave this credo:

"Everything I saw that I wanted I chased; everything I chased I caught, everything I caught I enjoyed.

"But my life is a matter of giving too. Everything I got, I gave something of myself first to get."

In recent years Ruark lived abroad and had homes in London and Spain. Spain made him a Knight Commander of the Order of Civil Merit.

Selma's Sheriff Elected To Post

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—Selma, Ala. Sheriff James G. Clark was elected first vice president of the 20,000-member National Sheriffs' Association at the group's 25th annual conference Wednesday.

Under the conference's election procedure he will become president of the organization at next year's convention which will be held in Mobile, Ala.

Sheriff Martin J. Ferber of Hackensack, N.J., is the new president. He succeeded Sheriff Malcolm G. McLeod of Lumberton, N.C.

BACK IN FINALS . . . Defending champion Roy Emerson of Australia earned a chance for another title by whipping Dennis Ralston.

Ralston Falls At Wimbledon

. . . ALL AUSSIE FINAL

Wimbledon, England (AP)—Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle, Australian power specialists, served and volleyed their way into the Wimbledon Tennis final Thursday for the second straight year.

Emerson, 28-year-old reigning champion, swept aside the challenge of the United States and defeated Dennis Ralston 6-1, 6-2, 7-9, 6-1.

Stolle, defeated finalist for the last two years, crushed South Africa's Cliff Drysdale 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Before a sellout crowd of 16,000 on Wimbledon's center court, the hard-hitting Australian stars crushed their opponents almost without a serious fight.

Friday's final will be a repeat of last year's — a match Emerson won in four sets.

The second-ranking American girl from Long Beach, Calif., faces a monumental task Thursday when she takes on defending queen Maria Bueno of Brazil in a semifinal. Australia's Margaret Smith faces Christine Truman of Britain in a battle of Amazons in the other semifinal.

Ralston's hopes of regaining the title for America ended almost as soon as his match against Emerson began. The Australian got an early grip on the match and the top-ranking American was off target with his service.

AL Chooses Power Over Defense In All-Star Balloting

Battey Skowron Mantilla Robinson McAuliffe Horton Davalillo Colavito

New York (AP)— The American League obviously hopes to club the National League into submission in the annual All-Star baseball game in Minnesota, July 13.

Tired of taking it on the chin in recent mid-summer meetings, the Americans chose to sacrifice speed and defense for power in their selection of a starting line-up, announced Wednesday.

The league players, coaches and managers, who did the voting, selected power hitters Bill Skowron of Chicago for first base, Felix Mantilla of Boston for second, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit for shortstop, Willie Horton of Detroit for left field and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland for right field.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, center fielder Viv Davalillo of Cleveland and catcher Earl Battout the starting team, exclusive of the pitcher.

For the first time in the 33-year history of the All-Star event, not a single member of the New York Yankees was selected. Los Angeles, Washington and Kansas City also were shut out.

Bypassed were such defensive standouts as Bobby Richardson of the Yankees, Luis Aparicio of the Orioles, Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox and Al Kaline of the Tigers.

The biggest surprise was the tremendous margin by which Mantilla defeated Richardson for the starting second base job. A New York Met reject, Mantilla received 180 votes to 56 for runner-up Richardson.

The closest balloting was for first base where Skowron, a former Yankee, edged out Harmon Killebrew of the Twins, 126 to 108.

To Earl Battey went the honor of receiving the most votes. The Twins' catcher, making a fine comeback from his poorest season in 1964, attracted 202 votes to only 38 for New York's Elston Howard. Ellie, the American League's most valuable player in 1963, was sidelined for five weeks following an elbow operation.

McAuliffe topped Zoilo Versalles of the Twins for No. 1 shortstop honors, 133 to 68 while Robinson, the only repeater from last year's starting team, defeated Max Alvis of Cleveland, 170-79.

Horton, only rookie selected, drew the second highest vote total, 198 to Yastrzemski's 44. Davalillo easily won over Minnesota's Jimmie Hall, 185 to 72, and Colavito outscored Kaline, 166 to 99.

The starting line-up gives manager Al Lopez of the White Sox a slugging array which includes six .300 hitters, four of the American Leagues top five home run and runs batted in leaders. As a unit, the eight men have hit 79 home runs and driven in 288 runs through Tuesday's game.

Davalillo leads the league in batting with .345, Mantilla in runs batted in with 58 and Colavito in home runs with 18. Horton ranks second in home runs and runs batted in and fifth in batting.

The American League, which dominated the early All-Star games, has lost six of the last seven, which enabled the National to even the series at 17 victories apiece. One game ended in a tie. The Nationals won last year's game 7-4 on Johnny Callison's three run homer.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

. . . INDIANS KEEP LEAD

By Associated Press

The Washington Senators scored runs on a double-play ball in the first inning and Ken Hamlin's sacrifice fly in the second and beat the Cleveland Indians 2-1 Wednesday night.

Leon Wagner's home run in the second inning off Phil Ortega was the Indians' only run as they lost for only the third time in their last 19 games.

But even though the Indians lost, they lost no ground in the tight American League pennant race as Los Angeles blanked Minnesota. Kansas City took a pair from Chicago and New York stopped Baltimore.

Jim Bouton won his first game since May 8 as the New York Yankees nipped Baltimore 5-4 on Tom Tresh's three-run homer.

Fred Newman pitched a two-hitter Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Angels snapped a five-game losing streak by beating Minnesota 5-0.

Newman, who had lost three straight, breezed to his first victory since June 8 after the Angels pounded starter Bill Pleis and reliever Jim Perry for five runs in the first three innings.

Bob Rodgers and Bobby Knoop each drove in two runs for Los Angeles.

Johnny Buzhardt hit Bert Campaneris with a pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth inning, forcing in Ed Charles with the run that gave Kansas City a 4-3 victory over Chicago and a sweep of their doubleheader.

The Athletics won the opener 2-1 for their first decision over Gary Peters. The Chicago lefthander had defeated Kansas City 10 times.

Buzhardt hit Campaneris after intentionally walking Rene Lachemann. Charles opened the inning with a single, went to second on a walk to Larry Stahl and stole third.

In the National League, front-running Los Angeles got a split with Chicago on rookie Don LeJohn's two key hits. Chicago won the opener, 4-1, and the Dodgers bounced back for a 4-3 win.

The St. Louis Cardinals scored two fifth-inning runs and rallied for five more in the ninth in a 7-1 victory over Pittsburgh, snapping Vern Law's winning streak at eight straight.

A timely batting attack led by Ed Kranepool, Chuck Hiller and Roy McMillan and Gary Kroll's strong relief pitching carried the New York Mets to a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Tony Taylor's seventh-inning single drove in Bobby Wine with the tie-breaking run as Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 3-2.

Omaha Loses Professional Hockey Team

Omaha (AP)—The Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Foundation announced Wednesday that Omaha will not have a hockey team during the coming season.

Omaha has been in the Central Professional Hockey League.

The Foundation, which operates ice activities of the Omaha civic organization, Ak-Sar-Ben, said it had been notified by the Montreal Canadiens that the National Hockey League club would not operate a team here.

General manager Sam Pollock also said the Canadiens were not interested in an affiliation involving local ownership.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Foundation said it had found no other National Hockey League teams interested in an Omaha affiliation.

The Omaha Knights drew 121,524 fans in 1963-64. Last year attendance was 101,700.

Pollock was quoted as saying sites other than Omaha, because of "geographic and other potential, must be given consideration" by the Canadiens.

Globe Withstands Russell's Rally In Elks League

A two-run seventh inning rally by Russell Sports fell short at Elks Field Wednesday night as Globe won a 3-2 Elks League contest.

Down 3-0 entering the lower seventh, Russells knocked out starter Ron Wegener by getting two men on with nobody out. Globe called in Mick Zangari who allowed two runs to score before getting the final out with the bases loaded. Russell Sports' Walt Fras saw a fine pitching performance go for naught as he struck out 15 while throwing a one-hitter.

Anderson Gets Scottsbluff Job

Lansing, Mich. (UPI)—Forest (Forddy) Anderson, former head basketball coach at Michigan State University until he was fired this spring folowing the school's worst season announced Wednesday he will become head coach at newly created Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff, Neb.

Anderson said he would assume the duties of head basketball coach and athletic director this fall. The school is now under construction and is expected to have a first-year enrolment of 500 students which will eventually be built up to 5,000. It will be a four-year liberal arts school.

Anderson has been in coaching 21 years and at MSU 11 years. Prior to coming to State, he coached at Bradley and Drake as well as one year at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

It was at Bradley in Peoria, Ill., that he met Dr. Anthony Marinaccio, former dean of Parsons College, Iowa, who is the new president of Hiram Scott. Marinaccio was connected with the Peoria public school system.

Anderson was fired after MSU registered a poor 1-13 record in Big Ten play last season. His record at MSU is 125-124. He won a Big Ten title in 1958-59 and tied for the title with Indiana in 1956-57.

He was replaced at MSU by John Benington, head coach at St. Louis University and Anderson's former assistant at MSU.

Anderson declined to divulge financial details of his new position, but said, "it is a real good financial setup."

"Any coaching position is a challenge, but there is an additional challenge for me at Hiram Scott College," Anderson said. "I will be charged with stimulating sports in general and basketball in particular and will help build a sports program for the entire student body."

He said he was "deeply honored to help pioneer a brand new educational institution."

And, he added jokingly, "any young athlete who hasn't made up his mind where to go to school should see Forddy Anderson at Hiram Scott. We'll have lots of room."

Jazy Slices Own Mark In Victory

Helsinki, Finland (AP) — France's Michel Jazy bettered his own pending European record for the 5,000 meter run Wednesday night by winning the feature race in 13:27.6 at the World Games in Olympic Stadium.

The 29-year-old French star who recently eclipsed the world records for the mile, two miles and 3,000 meters, beat a crack international field that included Australia's Ron Clarke.

Clarke finished third in 13:29.4 behind Jazy and Kenya's Keine Kipchonge, who was timed in 13:28.2.

The listed world mark at 13:35 set by Russia's Vladimir Kuts in 1957 has been hammered down repeatedly. Clarke has a pending mark of 13:25.8, set in Los Angeles June 5, up for world recognition.

Jazy recently lowered the European standard to 13:29.6 and his time here surpassed that by two full seconds.

Billy Mills, the Olympic 10,000 meter champion from Oceanside, Calif., was eighth in 13:42.2.

Tall Prep QB Casts Lot With Huskers

Frank Patrick, 6-7 quarterback from Derry, Pa., has signed an inter-conference (national) letter of intent to enroll at the University of Nebraska this fall, Coach Bob Devaney announced Wednesday.

"We are exceedingly happy Frank has decided to gain his education and play football at the University of Nebraska," Coach Devaney said. "He was one of the most highly-sought after high school stars in the country, and we are honored he chose Nebraska."

Devaney said Patrick, a 220-pounder who also lettered in track, basketball and golf during his high school career, will pursue a pre-dentistry course at Nebraska with the Dental College his goal.

"Frank is an outstanding student, as well as a fine young man and a fine football player," Devaney said. "He ranked No. 6 in his high school graduating class."

Patrick gained numerous honors at Derry, including honorable mention on the athletic league all star team, and the Chuck Muchoney Award presented annually to the "Most Courageous Athlete in Central Westmoreland County."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Patrick of Derry, the future Cornhusker was the No. 2 ground gainer in his conference last fall with 497 yards and a 4.8 average. He hit 23 of 62 passes for 369 yards for a total offense figure of 866 and a 5.2 average per play.

Sonji Gets Temporary Alimony

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay's pretty, 25-year-old wife was awarded $350 a week temporary alimony Wednesday and $2,500 temporary attorney fees pending outcome of divorce proceedings.

In a 100-minute hearing before Dade County Circuit Court Judge Harold Spaet, stylishly dressed Sonji Clay was denied her petition for $1,000 a week or more.

She said later she still hopes for reconciliation with her husband, the heavyweight boxing champion. Clay was not at the hearing.

Clay filed suit for annulment last June 23 complaining that Sonji had reneged on a promise to convert to Clay's Muslim faith. He also said she did not follow Muslim dictates against the use of whiskey, tobacco and facial makeup and Muslim requirements that "all female adherents cover their bodies with floor length dresses of plain and simple design."

On the stand Wednesday, Sonji testified that she had no income. She said when she and Clay lived together he had paid all the bills.

She said her clothes, which she valued at $25,000, had burned in a fire last February.

Gerry's Decisioned By Optimists, 4-3

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

The Optimists scored four runs in the seventh inning then put down an eighth inning rally to nip Gerry's, 4-3, in Cornhusker Junior League action at Sherman Field Wednesday night.

Trailing 2-0, the Optimists tallied their four runs on five singles.

Scott scored on winning pitcher Tom Ochsner's single and Ziegler crossed the plate on Paul Topliff's shot to left. Doug Kyles pushed the final runs across the plate with a single to center that was bobbled momentarily by centerfielder Mike Lockee.

Gerry's, however, fought back in the eighth by loading the bases with none out on a walk to losing pitcher Jan Hansen and consecutive singles by Jack Galusha and Mike Delaney.

While facing the next batter, Ken Meyer, Ochsner balked allowing Hansen to score, but got Meyer on an infield out.

Del Smith reached first to load the bases again via an error on his infield fly by shortstop Scott. However, the threat ended with no more runs scoring when Lockee was called out for stepping on the plate while attempting a squeeze bunt, and Dennis Barber hit a pop foul to first baseman Gary Thompson.

The game had been a scoreless pitcher's duel until the sixth when Gerry's scored two runs on a single by John Graham with the bases loaded.

Until Graham was hit in the mouth by a relay throw in the sixth inning and taken out of the game, he and Optimist third baseman Topliff had been having a duel of their own.

Both had made spectacular defensive efforts, Graham getting three assists and one put out—Topliff getting five assists. Both got two hits with Graham driving across two runs and Topliff one.

Wright Out Of Tourney

Northfield, N.J. (AP)—Defending champion Mickey Wright withdrew with a sore left hand Wednesday and made a wide open scramble of the 13th Women's National Golf Championship starting Thursday.

Kathy Whitworth, Mary Mills, Betsy Rawls and an astounding 20-year-old French Mademoiselle, Catherine Lacoste, drew most of the attention as a field of 44 lady professionals and 38 amateurs prepared for the first round tee-off over the Atlantic City Country Club.

Miss Wright's abrupt pullout hit the tournament like a bomb.

She reported to the club shortly before noon, took a few practice drives and then told officials:

"I'm sorry, I just can't make it—my hand hurts too much. I can hardly hold the club."

The statuesque, 30-year-old Californian, now a resident of Dallas, said she reactivated an old ailment 11 days ago when she was removing some clothes from her car.

"I felt a sharp pain in my left hand, just back of my thumb," she said. "I have had trouble with the hand for a year but, until this happened, I thought I was okay."

Mickey has dominated women's golf since the death 10 years ago of Babe Didrikson Zaharias. She has won a record 64 tournaments, become the all-time money winning queen with around $180,000 and set numerous other records.

NFL To Enter Atlanta In '66

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—The National Football League sold its Atlanta franchise to insurance executive Rankin M. Smith for about $9 million Wednesday and then won its bitter battle with the American Football League when it was granted the rights to play in the city's new stadium.

"I can only say that this is a great day for Atlanta," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "But, more than for Atlanta, it is a great day for the National Football League."

The new team will begin playing in the fall of 1966.

Smith, who at 39 is executive vice president of Life Insurance Co. of Georgia, and Rozelle said no price for the franchise would be announced for some time, but a source said it was around $9 million.

"We have a basic written agreement with Mr. Smith," Rozelle said. "But, because of the time limit on proposals to the Stadium Authority, there still are too many details to be worked out to put a definite price on the franchise."

While sentiment was solidly behind the NFL in putting a team in Atlanta in 1966, the Stadium Authority had said it would have to consider money proposals from both leagues before deciding on which would occupy the new $18 million, 58,000-seat structure.

Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the Authority, said the basic proposal from Smith gives the authority 10 per cent of the gross from admissions, while the offer from AFL franchise owner Corp., Broadcasting Corp., was for eight per cent. Smith's contract will run for 10 years.

The AFL granted Cox Broadcasting a franchise for a record-breaking $7.5 million on June 8, conditional on getting the rights to the stadium.

Marcus Bartlett, a vice president of Cox, said, "We will have no statement to make." However, J. Leonard Reinsch, president of the company, has indicated he would return the franchise to the AFL, rather than take it to another city.

In New York, Milt Woodard, assistant commissioner of the AFL, said: "We wish Atlanta the best. We win some and we lose some."

Asked if the AFL still would put a franchise in Atlanta, Woodard replied: "I don't think so. Atlanta is not a two-team city. We'll go elsewhere."

Smith and Rozelle and representatives of the broadcasting firm met with the stadium authority Wednesday.

Chamberlain Says Future Is Uncertain

New York (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, pro basketball's 7-foot-1 superstar, said Wednesday he "definitely is contemplating" a prize fighting career but emphasized he has made no decision on his athletic career.

"I haven't made up my mind. It's my decision to make, and I'll make it when I'm ready—that could be anytime," the Philadelphia 76ers record-holding scorer said.

"But I am contemplating a boxing career. And I've had several offers."

Chamberlain, a strong 250-pounder with a varied athletic background, is the National Basketball Association's highest-paid player, with a salary of about $70,000.

Frick's Successor To Be Considered

New York (AP)— Executives of the 20 major league baseball clubs will meet in Dearborn, Mich., July 21 to discuss the selection of a successor to retiring Commissioner Ford Frick.

Frick, in announcing the meeting Wednesday, merely said the business would deal with a couple of amendments proposed by club owners last winter.

It was learned from another source, however, that the principle business would be the discussion of a new commissioner.

John E. Fetzer, president of the Detroit Tigers and John W. Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, comprise the two-man committee elected to screen the candidates for commissioner.

While no final decision was expected to come from this midsummer meeting, it was almost a certainty that the long list of candidates, said to number more than 100 at this time, will be trimmed to a minimum.

There is even an outside chance that the issue will come down on a vote of the owners.

AL Chooses Power Over Defense In All-Star Balloting

Battey Skowron Mantilla Robinson McAuliffe Horton Davalillo Colavito

New York (AP)— The American League obviously hopes to club the National League into submission in the annual All-Star baseball game in Minnesota, July 13.

Tired of taking it on the chin in recent mid-summer meetings, the Americans chose to sacrifice speed and defense for power in their selection of a starting line-up, announced Wednesday.

The league players, coaches and managers, who did the voting, selected power hitters Bill Skowron of Chicago for first base, Felix Mantilla of Boston for second, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit for shortstop, Willie Horton of Detroit for left field and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland for right field.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, center fielder Viv Davalillo of Cleveland and catcher Earl Battout the starting team, exclusive of the pitcher.

For the first time in the 33-year history of the All-Star event, not a single member of the New York Yankees was selected. Los Angeles, Washington and Kansas City also were shut out.

Bypassed were such defensive standouts as Bobby Richardson of the Yankees, Luis Aparicio of the Orioles, Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox and Al Kaline of the Tigers.

The biggest surprise was the tremendous margin by which Mantilla defeated Richardson for the starting second base job. A New York Met reject, Mantilla received 180 votes to 56 for runner-up Richardson.

The closest balloting was for first base where Skowron, a former Yankee, edged out Harmon Killebrew of the Twins, 126 to 108.

To Earl Battey went the honor of receiving the most votes. The Twins' catcher, making a fine comeback from his poorest season in 1964, attracted 202 votes to only 38 for New York's Elston Howard. Ellie, the American League's most valuable player in 1963, was sidelined for five weeks following an elbow operation.

McAuliffe topped Zoilo Versalles of the Twins for No. 1 shortstop honors, 133 to 68 while Robinson, the only repeater from last year's starting team, defeated Max Alvis of Cleveland, 170-79

Horton, only rookie selected, drew the second highest vote total, 198 to Yastrzemski's 44. Davalillo easily won over Minnesota's Jimmie Hall, 185 to 72, and Colavito outscored Kaline, 166 to 99.

The starting line-up gives manager Al Lopez of the White Sox a slugging array which includes six .300 hitters, four of the American Leagues top five home run and runs batted in leaders. As a unit, the eight men have hit 79 home runs and driven in 288 runs through Tuesday's game.

Davalillo leads the league in batting with .345, Mantilla in runs batted in with 58 and Colavito in home runs with 18 Horton ranks second in home runs and runs batted in and fifth in batting.

The American League, which dominated the early All-Star games, has lost six of the last seven, which enabled the National to even the series at 17 victories apiece. One game ended in a tie. The Nationals won last year's game 7-4 on Johnny Callison's three run homer.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

BACK IN FINALS . . . Defending champion Roy Emerson of Australia earned a chance for another title by whipping Dennis Ralston.

Ralston Falls At Wimbledon

. . . ALL AUSSIE FINAL

Wimbledon, England (AP)— Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle, Australian power specialists, served and volleyed their way into the Wimbledon Tennis final Thursday for the second straight year.

Emerson, 28-year-old reigning champion, swept aside the challenge of the United States and defeated Dennis Ralston 6-1, 6-2, 7-9, 6-1.

Stolle, defeated finalist for the last two years, crushed South Africa's Cliff Drysdale 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Before a sellout crowd of 16,000 on Wimbledon's center court, the hard-hitting Australian stars crushed their opponents almost without a serious fight.

Friday's final will be a repeat of last year's — a match Emerson won in four sets.

The second-ranking American girl from Long Beach, Calif., faces a monumental task Thursday when she takes on defending queen Maria Bueno of Brazil in a semifinal. Australia's Margaret Smith faces Christine Truman of Britain in a battle of Amazons in the other semifinal.

Ralston's hopes of regaining the title for America ended almost as soon as his match against Emerson began. The Australian got an early grip on the match and the top-ranking American was off target with his service.

Gerry's Decisioned By Optimists, 4-3

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

The Optimists scored four runs in the seventh inning then put down an eighth inning rally to nip Gerry's, 4-3, in Cornhusker Junior League action at Sherman Field Wednesday night.

Trailing 2-0, the Optimists tallied their four runs on five singles.

Scott scored on winning pitcher Tom Ochsner's single and Ziegler crossed the plate on Paul Topliff's shot to left. Doug Kyles pushed the final runs across the plate with a single to center that was bobbled momentarily by centerfielder Mike Lockee.

Gerry's, however, fought back in the eighth by loading the bases with none out on a walk to losing pitcher Jan Hansen and consecutive singles by Jack Galusha and Mike Delaney.

While facing the next batter, Ken Meyer, Ochsner balked allowing Hansen to score, but got Meyer on an infield out.

Del Smith reached first to load the bases again via an error on his infield fly by shortstop Scott. However, the threat ended with no more runs scoring when Lockee was called out for stepping on the plate while attempting a squeeze bunt, and Dennis Barber hit a pop foul to first baseman Gary Thompson.

The game had been a scoreless pitcher's duel until the sixth when Gerry's scored two runs on a single by John Graham with the bases loaded.

Until Graham was hit in the mouth by a relay throw in the sixth inning and taken out of the game, he and Optimist third baseman Topliff had been having a duel of their own.

Both had made spectacular defensive efforts, Graham getting three assists and one put out—Topliff getting five assists. Both got two hits with Graham driving across two runs and Topliff one.

Omaha Loses Professional Hockey Team

Omaha (AP)—The Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Foundation announced Wednesday that Omaha will not have a hockey team during the coming season.

Omaha has been in the Central Professional Hockey League.

The Foundation, which operates ice activities of the Omaha civic organization, Ak-Sar-Ben, said it had been notified by the Montreal Canadiens that the National Hockey League club would not operate a team here.

General manager Sam Pollock also said the Canadiens were not interested in an affiliation involving local ownership.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Foundation said it had found no other National Hockey League teams interested in an Omaha affiliation.

The Omaha Knights drew 121,524 fans in 1963-64. Last year attendance was 101,700.

Pollock was quoted as saying sites other than Omaha, because of "geographic and other potential, must be given consideration" by the Canadiens.

Globe Withstands Russell's Rally In Elks League

A two-run seventh inning rally by Russell Sports fell short at Elks Field Wednesday night as Globe won a 3-2 Elks League contest.

Down 3-0 entering the lower seventh, Russells knocked out starter Ron Wegener by getting two men on with nobody out. Globe called in Mick Zangari who allowed two runs to score before getting the final out with the bases loaded. Russell Sports' Walt Fras saw a fine pitching performance go for naught as he struck out 15 while throwing a one-hitter.

Anderson Gets Scottsbluff Job

Lansing, Mich. (UPI)—Forest (Forddy) Anderson, former head basketball coach at Michigan State University until he was fired this spring folowing the school's worst season announced Wednesday he will become head coach at newly created Hiram Scott College in Scottsbluff, Neb.

Anderson said he would assume the duties of head basketball coach and athletic director this fall. The school is now under construction and is expected to have a first-year enrolment of 500 students which will eventually be built up to 5,000. It will be a four-year liberal arts school.

Anderson has been in coaching 21 years and at MSU 11 years. Prior to coming to State, he coached at Bradley and Drake as well as one year at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

It was at Bradley in Peoria, Ill., that he met Dr. Anthony Marinaccio, former dean of Parsons College, Iowa, who is the new president of Hiram Scott. Marinaccio was connected with the Peoria public school system.

Anderson was fired after MSU registered a poor 1-13 record in Big Ten play last season. His record at MSU is 125-124. He won a Big Ten title in 1958-59 and tied for the title with Indiana in 1956-57.

He was replaced at MSU by John Benington, head coach at St. Louis University and Anderson's former assistant at MSU.

Anderson declined to divulge financial details of his new position, but said, "it is a real good financial set-up."

"Any coaching position is a challenge, but there is an additional challenge for me at Hiram Scott College," Anderson said. "I will be charged with stimulating sports in general and basketball in particular and will help build a sports program for the entire student body."

He said he was "deeply honored to help pioneer a brand new educational institution."

And, he added jokingly, "any young athlete who hasn't made up his mind where to go to school should see Forddy Anderson at Hiram Scott. We'll have lots of room."

FIRECRACKER POLE POSITION GOES TO PANCH

Daytona Beach, Fla. (AP) — Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach averaged 171.510 miles per hour Wednesday and got the inside pole in qualifying for the July 4 Firecracker 400 stock car race at Daytona International Speedway.

Panch made the best time for two laps over the 2½ miles banked speedway course, driving a 1965 Ford. He got pole position as the fastest first-day qualifier.

The outside pole went to Earl Balmer of Floyd Knobs, Ind., in a 1964 Mercury. His time was 169.404 m.p.h.

Four others who qualified were:

Gale Yarborough, Charlotte, N.C., 1965 Ford, 168.555 m.p.h; Sam McQuagg, Columbus, Ga., 1965 Ford, 166.867; Ned Jarrett, Camden, S.C., 1965 Ford, 166.527; and Dick Hutcherson, Keokuk, Iowa, 1965 Ford, 166.174.

Jazy Slices Own Mark In Victory

Helsinki, Finland (AP) — France's Michel Jazy bettered his own pending European record for the 5,000 meter run Wednesday night by winning the feature race in 13:27.6 at the World Games in Olympic Stadium.

The 29-year-old French star who recently eclipsed the world records for the mile, two miles and 3,000 meters, beat a crack international field that included Australia's Ron Clarke.

Clarke finished third in 13:29.4 behind Jazy and Kenya's Keine Kipchonge, who was timed in 13:28.2.

The listed world mark at 13:35 set by Russia's Vladimir Kuts in 1957 has been hammered down repeatedly. Clarke has a pending mark of 13:25.8, set in Los Angeles June 5, up for world recognition.

Jazy recently lowered the European standard to 13:29.6 and his time here surpassed that by two full seconds.

Billy Mills, the Olympic 10,000 meter champion from Oceanside, Calif., was eighth in 13:42.2.

Tall Prep QB Casts Lot With Huskers

Frank Patrick, 6-7 quarterback from Derry, Pa., has signed an inter-conference (national) letter of intent to enroll at the University of Nebraska this fall, Coach Bob Devaney announced Wednesday.

"We are exceedingly happy Frank has decided to gain his education and play football at the University of Nebraska," Coach Devaney said. "He was one of the most highly-sought after high school stars in the country, and we are honored he chose Nebraska."

Devaney said Patrick, a 220-pounder who also lettered in track, basketball and golf during his high school career, will pursue a pre-dentistry course at Nebraska with the Dental College his goal.

"Frank is an outstanding student, as well as a fine young man and a fine football player," Devaney said. "He ranked No. 6 in his high school graduating class."

Patrick gained numerous honors at Derry, including honorable mention on the athletic league all star team, and the Chuck Muchoney Award presented annually to the "Most Courageous Athlete in Central Westmoreland County."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Patrick of Derry, the future Cornhusker was the No. 2 ground gainer in his conference last fall with 497 yards and a 4.8 average. He hit 23 of 62 passes for 369 yards for a total offense figure of 866 and a 5.2 average per play.

SENATORS HALT CLEVELAND Twins, Chisox Can't Cash In

. . . INDIANS KEEP LEAD

By Associated Press

The Washington Senators scored runs on a double-play ball in the first inning and Ken Hamlin's sacrifice fly in the second and beat the Cleveland Indians 2-1 Wednesday night.

Leon Wagner's home run in the second inning off Phil Ortega was the Indians' only run as they lost for only the third time in their last 19 games.

But even though the Indians lost, they lost no ground in the tight American League pennant race as Los Angeles blanked Minnesota. Kansas City took a pair from Chicago and New York stopped Baltimore.

Jim Bouton won his first game since May 8 as the New York Yankees nipped Baltimore 5-4 on Tom Tresh's three-run homer.

Fred Newman pitched a two-hitter Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Angels snapped a five-game losing streak by beating Minnesota 5-0.

Newman, who had lost three straight, breezed to his first victory since June 8 after the Angels pounded starter Bill Pleis and reliever Jim Perry for five runs in the first three innings.

Bob Rodgers and Bobby Knoop each drove in two runs for Los Angeles.

Johnny Buzhardt hit Bert Campaneris with a pitch with the bases loaded in the ninth inning, forcing in Ed Charles with the run that gave Kansas City a 4-3 victory over Chicago and a sweep of their doubleheader.

The Athletics won the opener 2-1 for their first decision over Gary Peters. The Chicago lefthander had defeated Kansas City 10 times.

Buzhardt hit Campaneris after intentionally walking Rene Lachemann. Charles opened the inning with a single, went to second on a walk to Larry Stahl and stole third.

In the National League, front-running Los Angeles got a split with Chicago on rookie Don LeJohn's two key hits. Chicago won the opener, 4-1, and the Dodgers bounced back for a 4-3 win.

The St. Louis Cardinals scored two fifth-inning runs and rallied for five more in the ninth in a 7-1 victory over Pittsburgh, snapping Vern Law's winning streak at eight straight.

A timely batting attack led by Ed Kranepool, Chuck Hiller and Roy McMillan and Gary Kroll's strong relief pitching carried the New York Mets to a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati.

Tony Taylor's seventh-inning single drove in Bobby Wine with the tie-breaking run as Philadelphia edged Milwaukee 3-2.

Sonji Gets Temporary Alimony

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Cassius Clay's pretty, 25-year-old wife was awarded $350 a week temporary alimony Wednesday and $2,500 temporary attorney fees pending outcome of divorce proceedings.

In a 100-minute hearing before Dade County Circuit Court Judge Harold Spaet, stylishly dressed Sonji Clay was denied her petition for $1,000 a week or more.

She said later she still hopes for reconciliation with her husband, the heavyweight boxing champion. Clay was not at the hearing.

Clay filed suit for annulment last June 23 complaining that Sonji had reneged on a promise to convert to Clay's Muslim faith. He also said she did not follow Muslim dictates against the use of whiskey, tobacco and facial makeup and Muslim requirements that "all female adherents cover their bodies with floor length dresses of plain and simple design."

On the stand Wednesday, Sonji testified that she had no income. She said when she and Clay lived together he had paid all the bills.

She said her clothes, which she valued at $25,000, had burned in a fire last February.

Angel's Latman Sent To Seattle

Los Angeles (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels optioned pitcher Barry Latman to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League Wednesday night, subject to 24-hour recall.

The 29-year-old right-hander had a 1-1 record and a 2.87 earned run average in 17 games this season, all in relief.

Wright Out Of Tourney

Northfield, N.J. (AP)—Defending champion Mickey Wright withdrew with a sore left hand Wednesday and made a wide open scramble of the 13th Women's National Golf Championship starting Thursday.

Kathy Whitworth, Mary Mills, Betsy Rawls and an astounding 20-year-old French Mademoiselle, Catherine Lacoste, drew most of the attention as a field of 44 lady professionals and 38 amateurs prepared for the first round tee-off over the Atlantic City Country Club.

Miss Wright's abrupt pullout hit the tournament like a bomb.

She reported to the club shortly before noon, took a few practice drives and then told officials:

"I'm sorry, I just can't make it—my hand hurts too much. I can hardly hold the club."

The statuesque, 30-year-old Californian, now a resident of Dallas, said she reactivated an old ailment 11 days ago when she was removing some clothes from her car.

"I felt a sharp pain in my left hand, just back of my thumb," she said. "I have had trouble with the hand for a year but, until this happened, I thought I was okay."

Mickey has dominated women's golf since the death 10 years ago of Babe Didrikson Zaharias. She has won a record 64 tournaments, become the all-time money winning queen with around $180,000 and set numerous other records.

Houston Signs Buff Players

Houston (AP) — The Houston Astros announced Wednesday the signing of three players drafted in the new free agent baseball draft.

They are pitcher Robert Grzymala, 17, of East Northport, N.Y.; third baseman Adrian Mohr, 22, of Arrada, Colo., and catcher Don Sessions, 21, of Boulder, Colo. Mohr and Sessions were members of the 1965 Colorado University baseball team.

NFL To Enter Atlanta In '66

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—The National Football League sold its Atlanta franchise to insurance executive Rankin M. Smith for about $9 million Wednesday and then won its bitter battle with the American Football League when it was granted the rights to play in the city's new stadium.

"I can only say that this is a great day for Atlanta," said NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. "But, more than for Atlanta, it is a great day for the National Football League."

The new team will begin playing in the fall of 1966.

Smith, who at 39 is executive vice president of Life Insurance Co. of Georgia, and Rozelle said no price for the franchise would be announced for some time, but a source said it was around $9 million.

"We have a basic written agreement with Mr. Smith," Rozelle said. "But, because of the time limit on proposals to the Stadium Authority, there still are too many details to be worked out to put a definite price on the franchise."

While sentiment was solidly behind the NFL in putting a team in Atlanta in 1966, the Stadium Authority had said it would have to consider money proposals from both leagues before deciding on which would occupy the new $18 million, 58,000-seat structure.

Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the Authority, said the basic proposal from Smith gives the authority 10 per cent of the gross from admissions, while the offer from AFL franchise owner Corp., Broadcasting Corp., was for eight per cent. Smith's contract will run for 10 years.

The AFL granted Cox Broadcasting a franchise for a record-breaking $7.5 million on June 8, conditional on getting the rights to the stadium.

Marcus Bartlett, a vice president of Cox, said, "We will have no statement to make." However, J. Leonard Reinsch, president of the company, has indicated he would return the franchise to the AFL, rather than take it to another city.

In New York, Milt Woodard, assistant commissioner of the AFL, said: "We wish Atlanta the best. We win some and we lose some."

Asked if the AFL still would put a franchise in Atlanta, Woodard replied: "I don't think so. Atlanta is not a two-team city. We'll go elsewhere."

Smith and Rozelle and representatives of the broadcasting firm met with the stadium authority Wednesday.

Chamberlain Says Future Is Uncertain

New York (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain, pro basketball's 7-foot-1 superstar, said Wednesday he "definitely is contemplating" a prize fighting career but emphasized he has made no decision on his athletic career.

"I haven't made up my mind. It's my decision to make, and I'll make it when I'm ready—that could be anytime," the Philadelphia 76ers record-holding scorer said.

"But I am contemplating a boxing career. And I've had several offers."

Chamberlain, a strong 250-pounder with a varied athletic background, is the National Basketball Association's highest-paid player, with a salary of about $70,000.

Frick's Successor To Be Considered

New York (AP)— Executives of the 20 major league baseball clubs will meet in Dearborn, Mich., July 21 to discuss the selection of a successor to retiring Commissioner Ford Frick.

Frick, in announcing the meeting Wednesday, merely said the business would deal with a couple of amendments proposed by club owners last winter.

It was learned from another source, however, that the principle business would be the discussion of a new commissioner.

John E. Fetzer, president of the Detroit Tigers and John W. Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, comprise the two-man committee elected to screen the candidates for commissioner.

While no final decision was expected to come from this midsummer meeting, it was almost a certainty that the long list of candidates, said to number more than 100 at this time, will be trimmed to a minimum.

There is even an outside chance that the issue will come down on a vote of the owners.

Tax Limit, Veto Provision Discussed

. . . HANSEN, OMAHA MAYOR EYE CHARTERS

Limiting the mill levy and over-riding vetoes were among the areas discussed by Richard Hansen and Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen in Omaha Wednesday.

Hansen, chairman of the Lincoln City Charter Revision Committee, said he visited with Sorensen, who was chairman of the Omaha revision committee several years ago, for more than an hour.

Sorensen told Hansen that a provision limiting the mill levy ceiling is a serious mistake that hampers the city's administration. Hansen said Sorensen told him the mill levy should be set by city officials.

5 Votes To Over-ride

Sorensen also told Hansen that it should take at least five out of seven city council member votes to over-ride the mayor's veto. The veto is useless and takes away the mayor's power when four votes can over-ride a veto, Sorensen said.

Areas of cooperation between Lincoln and Omaha were also discussed, according to Hansen.

Hansen said Sorensen was in favor of the two cities using an electronic computer at the University of Nebraska to find provisions of the two city charters that are in conflict with state statutes.

Bail Bond Laws

They also talked about what a city charter can do about minority housing and revision of bail bond laws.

Professor William Utley of Omaha University, who acted as adviser to the Omaha charter revision committee, was also at the meeting.

Hansen said he will suggest to Mayor Dean Petersen, the City Council and the charter committee that Sorensen and Utley pay a similar visit to Lincoln.

35 Ballet Members Die In Bus Crash

Tegucigalpa, Honduras (UPI)—Thirty-five members of Costa Rica's ballet were killed and 19 other passengers injured seriously Wednesday when the bus in which they were touring Central America left the highway and plunged into a 100-foot abyss.

Police said the bus driver, Antonio Mercado Chinchilla, went insane after the wreck. They said the brakes on the bus failed near Choluteca just after it crossed into Hondurus from Nicaragua. Survivors of the accident absolved the driver of any responsibility for the tragedy.

The Honduras government put air force planes at the disposal of rescue teams to transfer bodies of the dead and dying to Costa Rica. Costa Rica flew in a team of 15 doctors to aid in treating the injured.

Authorities said it was the worst traffic accident ever to occur on the Central American stretch of the Pan American Highway.

Douglas Tangible Property Value 3.9% Above 1964

Omaha (AP)—The total value of all tangible property in Douglas County climbed to $1,177,470,901, Douglas County Assessor Joe C. Stolinski reported.

In a report submitted to the state tax commissioner, Stolinski listed the increase as $80,972,88 or 3.9% over last year's valuations.

Most of the boost came from a $52,412,240 hike in real estate value, for a total of $1,638,984,660, some 3.3% above last year. Real estate accounts for 75% of all tangible property assessed for tax purpose. Stolinski noted that this increase was not as high as the $77-million jump last year.

Stolinski said personal property was up 4.5%, motor vehicles up 7% and corporations up 7.4%.

Progress Threat To Falls On Nile

Kampala, Uganda (AP)—Murchison Falls, a spectacular rainbow-crowned catarac 19 feet wide and 400 feet deep on the Lower Victoria Nile, is threatened by industrial progress.

It is one of two alternate sites being studied for hydroelectric development.

Uganda Parks Minister F. X. Katete commented: "It will mean closing the area while construction work is going on. After that it is doubtful if people will want to visit the tamed and diminished falls, with their natural rugged grandeur and wild game driven away."

Christmas Tree A Little Early

Lousville, Ky. (AP) — The Christmas tree looked as out-of-place as an overcoat in a steam bath.

"Hey, what month is it?" pedestrians asked traffic patrolman R. D. Fox. He just grinned.

Others would call out, "Merry Christmas," after spotting the six-foot tree hanging smack over a downtown street.

"Sime out-of-towners wanted to know if we were in our right minds," said Fox.

The tree was put up by the Retail Merchants Association which is shopping for next December's downtown decorations.

Other samples will be displayed in the weeks to come—until the association decides what it likes.

Johnson Visit To De Gaulle Urged By House Republicans

Washington (AP)—House Republicans Wednesday urged greater nuclear sharing with France and called on President Johnson to go to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle.

The recommendations were made by four GOP congressmen who visited France as "fact finders" and endorsed by the House Republican leadership.

They are designed to narrow the breach between Paris and Washington.

"Magnanimity on the part of the strong is very becoming," said Rep. Paul Findley of Illinois, chairman of the GOP quartet.

Findley spoke at a news conference attended also by House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Conference. Ford said the leadership had approved the report of Findley and his traveling companions.

"The United States should immediately re-examine its policy on technological and scientific cooperation," the report said.

"We should take full advantage of any discretionary provisiins of our Atomic Energy Act, and if need be amend it, to the end that the nuclear capabilities of France and the United States may be fully coordinated."

The McMahon Act limits the scientific information the United States can share with other nations.

At the State Department, a spokesman said, "We've noted the report and we'll take it into account along with all the views of other Americans and the views of all members of NATO."

NATO Problem: De Gaulle's European Relations, Not U.S.

Washington (AP)— U.S. officials said Wednesday that the central problem in the future of NATO is not U.S. relations with Charles de Gaulle but De Gaulle's relations with the rest of Europe.

The officials said Washington could have had a honeymoon relationship with the French president by accepting his 1958 proposal for a big power directorate to run the Atlantic alliance.

But if the United States had accepted De Gaulle's design for Europe, Washington would have found the other European countries opposed, the informants indicated.

They said the various problems encountered in shaping NATO keep coming back to one central question: Who is Europe and who is speaking for it?

In the nuclear field, Washington expects an announcement soon as a result of discussions now under way on improving the allies' methods of handling atomic questions.

Support May Lessen

Washington (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine told the Senate support for President Johnson's firm stand in Viet Nam may lessen when "the growing casualty rate affects more and more American families."

Titan ICBM Launch Is 'Success'

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI) — A Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) was successfully fired down the Pacific missile range Wednesday on a 5,000-mile combat condition test.

A Strategic Air Command (SAC) spokesman said the two-stage, 111-foot vehicle was launched, under procedures identical to those to be followed in war, by a crew from McCornell Air Force Base, Kan.

The white Titan II, which weighs a third of a million pounds, developed a thrust of 430,000 pounds during its 150 seconds of firing. The second stage developed 100,000 pounds of thrust and pushed the rocket to a speed of 15,000 miles an hour.

Briton Calls U.S. Economy 'Sound As Liberty Bell'

Washington (AP) — British Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan's smile at a news conference Wednesday had a crack in it.

In heaping praise on the U.S. economy, he said, "It is as sound as the Liberty Bell."

When he was told that the Liberty Bell has a crack in it, he said, "Well, let's say that it's as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar."

Friendship Important

Stock Mart Gain One Of Biggest

New York (AP) — The stock market rocketed to one of its biggest gains ever Wednesday in a continuation of a rally that broke a six-week slide.

The advance got under way Tuesday after a wildly seesawing session. Wednesday it was all on the upgrade.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials soared 16.63 to 868.03, its biggest gain since Nov. 26, 1963 — the first day of trading after President Kennedy's assassination—when it gained 32.03.

The Associated Prses average of 60 industrials spurted 6.5 to 318.4 with industrials up 9.6, rails up 3.9. The gain for this average was its biggest in 19 months.

Based on the climb of the AP average, an estimated $8.7 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The advance spread through almost the entire list. Its breadth was shown by 1,168 advances against 101 losses among 1,385 issues traded.

Brokers said institutions had jumped into the buying circle on the last two days of the 1965 first-half to bolster their portfolios for midyear reports to stockholders.

There were indications, too, according to brokers, that some small investors were coming in off of the sidelines to hunt for bargains.

The buying waves Tuesday and Wednesday succeeded a selling wave on Monday that took the averages to their lowest point since the skid following the May 14 attainment of all time highs.

The Dow Jones industrial average had lost about 100 points since May 14 but gained back more than 25 per cent of that in the last two days.

Trading volume Wednesday totaled 6.93 million shares but far below the 10.49 million that changed hands Tuesday.

Among the 15 most active stocks, 13 advanced and 2 declined.

The Big Three motors were the most active, as they were Tuesday.

Chrysler, up 2 at 46¼ on 106,500 shares, was most active. General Motors, up 1⅝ at 95⅝ on 94,600 shares, was second, and Ford Motor, up 1⅛ at 52⅝ on 78,200 shares, was third.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Volume fell to 1.76 million shares from 2.73 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds advanced and Treasuries were mostly unchanged.

Soybeans Finish With Broad Rally

Chicago (AP) — Gains and losses were about evenly divided at the close of the grain futures marked Wednesday after old crop soybeans finished with their second broad rally.

Wheat also was a broad gainer for the third consecutive day while July and September rye slipped to their lowest prices of the season on setbacks running to nearly 2 cents. Corn and oats were little changed.

July and August soybeans swung over a broad range of about 4 cents on alternate periods of buying and selling.

Soybeans closed ⅛ to 2 cents a bushel higher, July $2.96⅜-95¾; new standard grade wheat ¾-1⅛ higher, July $1.42-42⅛; corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, July $1.32¼; oats ¼-½ lower, July 67⅞-¾ cents; rye ⅛-1⅛ lower, July $1.12¼-12.

Tax Limit, Veto Provision Discussed

. . . HANSEN, OMAHA MAYOR EYE CHARTERS

Limiting the mill levy and over-riding vetoes were among the areas discussed by Richard Hansen and Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen in Omaha Wednesday.

Hansen, chairman of the Lincoln City Charter Revision Committee, said he visited with Sorensen, who was chairman of the Omaha revision committee several years ago, for more than an hour.

Sorensen told Hansen that a provision limiting the mill levy ceiling is a serious mistake that hampers the city's administration. Hansen said Sorensen told him the mill levy should be set by city officials.

5 Votes To Over-ride

Sorensen also told Hansen that it should take at least five out of seven city council member votes to over-ride the mayor's veto. The veto is useless and takes away the mayor's power when four votes can over-ride a veto, Sorensen said.

Areas of cooperation between Lincoln and Omaha were also discussed, according to Hansen.

Hansen said Sorensen was in favor of the two cities using an electronic computer at the University of Nebraska to find provisions of the two city charters that are in conflict with state statutes.

Bail Bond Laws

They also talked about what a city charter can do about minority housing and revision of bail bond laws.

Professor William Utley of Omaha University, who acted as adviser to the Omaha charter revision committee, was also at the meeting.

Hansen said he will suggest to Mayor Dean Petersen, the City Council and the charter committee that Sorensen and Utley pay a similar visit to Lincoln.

35 Ballet Members Die In Bus Crash

Tegucigalpa, Honduras (UPI)—Thirty-five members of Costa Rica's ballet were killed and 19 other passengers injured seriously Wednesday when the bus in which they were touring Central America left the highway and plunged into a 100-foot abyss.

Police said the bus driver, Antonio Mercado Chinchilla, went insane after the wreck. They said the brakes on the bus failed near Choluteca just after it crossed into Hondurus from Nicaragua. Survivors of the accident absolved the driver of any responsibility for the tragedy.

The Honduras government put air force planes at the disposal of rescue teams to transfer bodies of the dead and dying to Costa Rica. Costa Rica flew in a team of 15 doctors to aid in treating the injured.

Authorities said it was the worst traffic accident ever to occur on the Central American stretch of the Pan American Highway.

Douglas Tangible Property Value 3.9% Above 1964

Omaha (AP)—The total value of all tangible property in Douglas County climbed to $1,177,470,901, Douglas County Assessor Joe C. Stolinski reported.

In a report submitted to the state tax commissioner, Stolinski listed the increase as $80,972,88 or 3.9% over last year's valuations.

Most of the boost came from a $52,412,240 hike in real estate value, for a total of $1,638,984,660, some 3.3% above last year. Real estate accounts for 75% of all tangible property assessed for tax purpose. Stolinski noted that this increase was not as high as the $77-million jump last year.

Stolinski said personal property was up 4.5%, motor vehicles up 7% and corporations up 7.4%.

Fast Success

Hollywood (UPI) — "The Sound of Music" soundtrack album achieved "gold record" status in record time, becoming a million-dollar seller within two weeks of its release.

Progress Threat To Falls On Nile

Kampala, Uganda (AP) — Murchison Falls, a spectacular rainbow-crowned cataract 19 feet wide and 400 feet deep on the Lower Victoria Nile, is threatened by industrial progress.

It is one of two alternate sites being studied for hydroelectric development.

Uganda Parks Minister F. X. Katete commented: "It will mean closing the area while construction work is going on. After that it is doubtful if people will want to visit the tamed and diminished falls, with their natural rugged grandeur and wild game driven away."

Christmas Tree A Little Early

Lousville, Ky. (AP) — The Christmas tree looked as out-of-place as an overcoat in a steam bath.

"Hey, what month is it?" pedestrians asked traffic patrolman R. D. Fox. He just grinned.

Others would call out. "Merry Christmas," after spotting the six-foot tree hanging smack over a downtown street.

"Sime out-of-towners wanted to know if we were in our right minds," said Fox.

The tree was put up by the Retail Merchants Association which is shopping for next December's downtown decorations.

Other samples will be displayed in the weeks to come—until the association decides what it likes.

Johnson Visit To De Gaulle Urged By House Republicans

Washington (AP)—House Republicans Wednesday urged greater nuclear sharing with France and called on President Johnson to go to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle.

The recommendations were made by four GOP congressmen who visited France as "fact finders" and endorsed by the House Republican leadership.

They are designed to narrow the breach between Paris and Washington

"Magnanimity on the part of the strong is very becoming," said Rep Paul Findley of Illinois, chairman of the GOP quartet.

Findley spoke at a news conference attended also by House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Conference. Ford said the leadership had approved the report of Findley and his traveling companions.

"The United States should immediately re-examine its policy on technological and scientific cooperation," the report said.

"We should take full advantage of any discretionary provisiins of our Atomic Energy Act, and if need be amend it, to the end that the nuclear capabilities of France and the United States may be fully coordinated."

The McMahon Act limits the scientific information the United States can share with other nations

At the State Department, a spokesman said, "We've noted the report and we'll take it into account along with all the views of other Americans and the views of all members of NATO."

NATO Problem: De Gaulle's European Relations, Not U.S.

Washington (AP)— U.S. officials said Wednesday that the central problem in the future of NATO is not U.S. relations with Charles de Gaulle but De Gaulle's relations with the rest of Europe.

The officials said Washington could have had a honeymoon relationship with the French president by accepting his 1958 proposal for a big power directorate to run the Atlantic alliance.

But if the United States had accepted De Gaulle's design for Europe, Washington would have found the other European countries opposed, the informants indicated.

They said the various problems encountered in shaping NATO keep coming back to one central question: Who is Europe and who is speaking for it?

In the nuclear field, Washington expects an announcement soon as a result of discussions now under way on improving the allies' methods of handling atomic questions.

Support May Lessen

Washington (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine told the Senate support for President Johnson's firm stand in Viet Nam may lessen when "the growing casualty rate affects more and more American families."

Titan ICBM Launch Is 'Success'

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (UPI) — A Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) was successfully fired down the Pacific missile range Wednesday on a 5,000-mile combat condition test

A Strategic Air Command (SAC) spokesman said the two-stage, 111-foot vehicle was launched, under procedures identical to those to be followed in war, by a crew from McConnell Air Force Base, Kan

The white Titan II, which weighs a third of a million pounds, developed a thrust of 430,000 pounds during its 150 seconds of firing. The second stage developed 100,000 pounds of thrust and pushed the rocket to a speed of 15,000 miles an hour.

Briton Calls U.S. Economy 'Sound As Liberty Bell'

Washington (AP) — British Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan's smile at a news conference Wednesday had a crack in it

In heaping praise on the U S economy, he said, "It is as sound as the Liberty Bell."

When he was told that the Liberty Bell has a crack in it, he said, "Well, let's say that it's as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar."

Friendship Important

Stock Mart Gain One Of Biggest

New York (AP) — The stock market rocketed to one of its biggest gains ever Wednesday in a continuation of a rally that broke a six-week slide.

The advance got under way Tuesday after a wildly see-sawing session Wednesday it was all on the upgrade.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials soared 12.61 to 868.03, its biggest gain since Nov. 26, 1963, the first day of trading after President Kennedy's assassination—when it gained 32.03.

The Associated Press average of 60 industrials spurted 6.5 to 318.4 with industrials up 9.6, rails up 3.0. The gain for this average was its biggest in 19 months.

Based on the climb of the AP average, an estimated $8.7 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The advance spread through almost the entire list. Its breadth was shown by 1,168 advances against 301 losses among 1,385 issues traded.

Brokers said institutions had jumped into the buying circle on the last two days of the 1965 first-half to bolster their portfolios for mid-year reports to stockholders.

There were indications, too, according to brokers, that some small investors were coming in off of the sidelines to hunt for bargains.

The buying waves Tuesday and Wednesday succeeded a selling wave on Monday that took the averages to their lowest point since the skid following the May 14 attainment of all time highs.

The Dow Jones industrial average had lost about 100 points since May 14 but gained back more than 25 per cent of that in the last two days.

Trading volume Wednesday totaled 6.93 million shares but far below the 10.49 million that changed hands Tuesday.

Among the 15 most active stocks, 13 advanced and 2 declined.

The Big Three motors were the most active, as they were Tuesday.

Chrysler, up 2 at 46¼ on 106,500 shares, was most active General Motors, up 1⅝ at 95¾ on 94,600 shares, was second, and Ford Motor, up 1⅛ at 52⅝ on 78,200 shares, was third.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Volume fell to 1.76 million shares from 2.73 million Tuesday.

Corporate bonds advanced and Treasuries were mostly unchanged.

Butcher Hog Prices Drop

Omaha (AP) — Light weight butcher hogs were down 25 to 50c Wednesday. Fat cattle prices dropped about the same. Spring lambs were mostly steady.

U.S. House Remap Bill Kill OK'd

The Legislature drove the final fatal stake into the congressional redistricting bill Wednesday clearing the way for a court test on the validity of Nebraska's present congressional districting.

Lincoln Sen. Marvin E. Stromer's motion to kill his own bill LB811 carried ona 38-7 vote. He announced Tuesday he will file a suit in U.S. District Court to challenge the present districting because of population disparities between the three districts.

Stromer received legislative permission to withdraw his name from the bill Tuesday and since he was the bill's only sponsor the action had the effect of killing the measure.

"I understand Sen. Stromer intends to settle this matter in court", Sen. Henry Pedersen said. "I would rather have this settled in the Legislature. This bill gives Nebraska the opportunity to continue to redistrict itself."

He said a suit in federal court would "make us look silly and sick."

LB811 originally revised congressional district lines by removing Otoe, Saunders and Dodge Counties from the First District and adding them to the Second District and transferring Nuckolls County from the Third to the First District.

The Government Committee however amended the bill to provide only for the transfer of Otoe County from the first to the Second District now comprised of Douglas Sarpy Washington and Cass Counties.

Stromer said it will be impossible to pass a proper redistricting bill this session because no counties want to be thrown into the Second District for fear of domination by Omaha.

LB646, 908 Receive Legislature's Approval

Bills passed in the Unicameral Wednesday included (E-emergency clause):

LB668—Regulating the spacing of irrigation or industrial wells but providing for special permits to drill wells without regard to spacing requirements. (Matzke) (49-0).

LB908—Authorizing hospitals and related institutions to establish depreciation funds from patient or other revenue income for the purpose of replacing equipment or providing for future improvements or additions. (Public Health Committee) (E) (48-0).

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Wednesday:

LB919 (Ormo, Stromer, at governor's request)—Providing that aliens may be engaged as teachers or research scientists by colleges and universities without limitation as to time.

Scholarship Fund Established From Mumford Trust

A $2,000 gift from a trust of a long-time Lincoln resident will establish "The Luther and Grace Mumford Scholarship Fund" in the University of Nebraska Foundation, Harry R. Haynie, Foundation president, announced Thursday.

The gift was made by Mrs. Grace Cutter Memford, who died in March, 1965, at the age of 87.

The scholarships may be used in any college of the University as determined by the scholarship committee, Haynie said.

A native of Keene, N.H., Mrs. Haynie came to Lincoln in 1881. She was a kindergarten teacher 12 years and was active in Lincoln's musical circles, serving as organist at Vine Congregational Church and past president of Matinee Musical.

Her husband, Luther Emerson Mumford, died in 1956 and was a native of Gage County.

U.S. House Remap Bill Kill OK'd

The Legislature drove the final fatal stake into the congressional redistricting bill Wednesday clearing the way for a court test on the validity of Nebraska's present congressional districting.

Lincoln Sen. Marvin E. Stromer's motion to kill his own bill LB811 carried on a 38-7 vote. He announced Tuesday he will file a suit in U.S. District Court to challenge the present districting because of population disparities between the three districts.

Stromer received legislative permission to withdraw his name from the bill Tuesday and since he was the bill's only sponsor the action had the effect of killing the measure.

"I understand Sen. Stromer intends to settle this matter in court", Sen. Henry Pedersen said. "I would rather have this settled in the Legislature. This bill gives Nebraska the opportunity to continue to redistrict itself."

He said a suit in federal court would "make us look silly and sick."

LB811 originally revised congressional district lines by removing Otoe, Saunders and Dodge Counties from the First District and adding them to the Second District and transferring Nuckolls County from the Third to the First District.

The Government Committee however amended the bill to provide only for the transfer of Otoe County from the first to the Second District now comprised of Douglas Sarpy Washington and Cass Counties.

Stromer said it will be impossible to pass a proper redistricting bill this session because no counties want to be thrown into the Second District for fear of domination by Omaha.

LB646, 908 Receive Legislature's Approval

Bills passed in the Unicameral Wednesday included (E-emergency clause):

LB646—Regulating the spacing of irrigation or industrial wells but providing for special permits to drill wells without regard to spacing requirements. (Matzke) (49-0).

LB908—Authorizing hospitals and related institutions to establish depreciation funds from patient or other revenue income for the purpose of replacing equipment or providing for future improvements or additions. (Public Health Committee) (E) (48-0).

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Wednesday:

LB919 (Orme, Stromer, at governor's request)—Providing that aliens may be engaged as teachers or research scientists by colleges and universities without limitation as to time.

Scholarship Fund Established From Mumford Trust

A $2,000 gift from a trust of a long-time Lincoln resident will establish "The Luther and Grace Mumford Scholarship Fund" in the University of Nebraska Foundation, Harry R. Haynie, Foundation president, announced Thursday.

The gift was made by Mrs. Grace Cutter Memford, who died in March, 1965, at the age of 87.

The scholarships may be used in any college of the University as determined by the scholarship committee, Haynie said.

A native of Keene, N.H., Mrs. Haynie came to Lincoln in 1881. She was a kindergarten teacher 12 years and was active in Lincoln's musical circles, serving as organist at Vine Congregational Church and past president of Matinee Musical.

Her husband, Luther Emerson Mumford, died in 1956 and was a native of Gage County.
